Complete Robotics Center Accepting Students

A complete robotics center, one of the first in the southeast, is now accepting students for Winter Term at Palm Beach Junior College, according to Dr. Paul Dasher, Chairperson, Division III, Science/Technology.

Winter Term will bring students in contact with the most advanced robots in classes such as, Work Cell Calibration and Control, and Work Cell Trouble Shooting/Problem Solving.

The robots are scheduled to be in the labs in late December or early January. Many new students will first work with the robots in the Introduction to Robotics and Automation class.

Dasher said the students are trained to program the computers which control the robots. "Robots are now commonly used to complete repetitive tasks on a production line." Dasher added.

PBJC has been awarded a grant to teach some robotic techniques to Motorola employees at the Motorola plant. The grant, titled, "Sunshine State Skills Proposal," will allow an Introduction to Computers, and an Introduction to Robotics and Automation course to be taught by PBJC instructors.

Approximately 30 Motorola employees will be taught programming and operation techniques on their own SEIKO robots.

Early registration for currently enrolled students is now in progress at all campuses. Students may early register for Winter Term classes until Friday, Nov. 21.

As of Nov. 13 (Monday Report Deadline), 1,600 students have already registered. Classes will be reserved for currently enrolled students. After this week enrollment will be opened to new registrants and popular courses may begin to close.

Great American Smokeout Thursday

The 10th annual Great American Smokeout is Thursday, Nov. 20, with a goal of persuading at least one out of every five smokers for at least 24 hours.

PBJC Central will take an active role, according to Mary Cannon, nurse, who is coordinating the event with help from the Student Government Association and Ed Pugh of the Social Science faculty.

A major new event will take place in the gym from 10:30 to 12:30 and 1:30 to 3:30. It will be called "push up."

Smokers and non-smokers will be given an exercise program, and afterwards will be tested on a carbon monoxide analyzing machine on loan from the American Lung association to show differences in breathing patterns, smokers versus non-smokers.

While the exercises are going on, slide presentations on smoking and lung disease will be projected on the gym walls.

The SGA will have at least three booths on campus where they will be asking non-smokers and ex-smokers to sign "adoption" papers for a smoker to help him/her through the day without smoking.

A limited number of students will be given the opportunity of getting a health profile from the fitness center.

The cafeteria will again serve cold turkey sandwiches in honor of those who are going to quit "cold turkey."

The college has always cooperated in the Great American Smokeout, according to Cannon, and a number of students have reported that after their one day of not smoking they have gone on to cutting smoking altogether, or at least cutting down.

This year promises to be no exception to this rule.

Suncom Networking

SUNCOM SENSE #3

When dialing a long-distance location, always USE SUNCOM. Do not use SUNCOM to dial local or toll free (800) calls. Your office is billed for these calls just like any other SUNCOM call. SUNCOM charges 'time on line' after .7 seconds. The State of Florida Telephone Directory (SUNCOM DIRECTORY) lists the correct telephone numbers to be dialed "ON-NET" in bold print under the column entitled "SUNCOM".

"ON-NET" SUNCOM locations are State, County, and City governmental offices who have dialing access to the SUNCOM NETWORK. When calling "ON-NET" long distance, dial you access code and the seven digit SUNCOM number. Area codes are NOT used when dialing another "ON-NET" SUNCOM location.

"OFF-NET" locations are non subscribers of the SUNCOM NETWORK either in state or out of state. These locations may be called using the SUNCOM NETWORK by dialing the access code, the area code (even if calling within your own area code), and the seven digit telephone number.

If you have trouble reaching a number "ON-NET" or "OFF-NET" on SUNCOM contact Mary Tingler, ext. 8000, in the Communications Center for assistance.

Mary Tingler is proud of a big "thank you" poster from the children at the Early Learning Center, and we understand some more posters are on the way for Continuing Education and the Library. The Halloween "trick or treat" costumes were much appreciated.

Bill Graham, newly elected school board member and acting Sr. Coordinater for Continuing Education has been elected regional vice president of the Real Estate Educators Association, Florida Chapter.
Graham will be instrumental for encouraging membership and arranging meetings for the group which includes members from Okeechobee, St. Lucie, Martin and Palm Beach County.

It is with regret that we inform some of you that the genial "Dr. Kam," whose real name, Kamthorn Sukumarabandhu, is a bit long for most folks, has been in Bethesda Hospital since Thursday, Nov. 6, when he was admitted to the coronary care unit. His progress was good until Sunday, when a setback occurred. As this is written, on Thursday, Nov. 13, he is in "telemetry" and his condition is listed as fair. Dr. Kam teaches science at central. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

169 Applications

North Dean Of Instruction Field Narrowed To Four

Selection of a new Dean of Instruction for PBJC North is on schedule, and an initial field of 169 applications has been conscientiously evaluated and narrowed to a final selection of four candidates, according to Joan Holcomb, committee chairman.

Three of our own made it through to the final four--Freddie Jefferson, Division I Chairman at North, Glen Marsteller, Division II Chairman at North, and Dr. Dan Terhune, Division II chairman at PBJC South.

Joining these three is Dr. Guy Altieri, currently Vice President and Dean at Salem College in Carney's Point, New Jersey.

An advertisement in the Chronicle of Higher Education brought 124 out-of-state applications and 45 in-state.

Applications came from as far away as Alaska, and were heavy from the cold midwest states, Joan says.

The first meeting of the committee was on Sept. 22. Committee members were John Schmiederer, Stafford Mooney, John Jenkins, Joann Pride, Sandra Collins and Alice Zacherl.

"Every member of the committee evaluated every application," Joan says. "When we added up point totals, we were left with eight outstanding applicants."

The eight were invited here for interviews, and many people were involved in meeting planes, arranging accommodations, conducting tours of North and Central, and in the actual interviews.

"I am proud of the cooperation we received

WELCOME ABOARD

Holly Delmas, who has been writing the Welcome Aboard feature for the Monday Report, is the last person to be welcomed in this particular series.

Holly, the newest member of the News Bureau, is a native Floridian who moved here from Orlando in 1969, when she was nine years old. She is a Jupiter High graduate who has her Bachelor's from the University of South Florida with a double major in Communications/Mass Communications.

Since graduation, she has gained experience in both newspaper writing and advertising. Her educational credentials are of longer duration -- her mother is our own Frankie Davis.

. . . Jonathan Koontz

Due to the Thanksgiving Holiday and the short work week this week, the Monday Report will not publish next Monday, Dec. 1. The deadline for the Dec. 8 issue will be Thursday, noon, Dec. 4.

New Sculptures At PBJC North

R. F. Buckley, Professor of Art at Florida International University in Miami, has recently loaned a suite of eight sculptures to the North Campus.

The aluminum sculptures, available through the auspices of the Palm Beach Committee on the Arts, will be formally dedicated Tuesday, Nov. 25.

Between 10:00 and 10:30 a.m., Buckley will be introduced to attending community leaders and students. Dr. Eissey will then open the ceremony with a few welcoming statements.

Buckley will briefly discuss his works and his motivations for these pieces. On a walking tour, Buckley will talk about the historical context and significance of the various sculptures.

The event is planned to begin in front of the L.L.R.C. Building. For further information, contact Alessandra Gieffers at 622-2440, ext. 304.

Forty-Eight Hour Rule

Dr. Eissey has directed all personnel at the college who are in receipt of a memorandum or an order requiring an answer to make some response within 48 hours.

"This does not mean that a job requiring three weeks preparation must be accomplished in 48 hours," Dr. Eissey says. "It does mean that you need to pick up the telephone and say that you have received the memo and will take action when you can."

Dr. Eissey told members of the President's Staff that he had authenticated reports of some communications going unanswered for weeks, and even for months. "This will not be tolerated," Dr. Eissey said. "Forty-eight hours--two working days--is plenty of time in which to make an initial response."

Holiday At Sea

Sail away for an evening of fun on December 12. Join us on a Gala Friday Night Party Cruise aboard the Viking Princess. Sailing at 6:45 p.m., the cruise includes a full-course dinner, dancing under the stars, entertainment, a casino, and a midnight buffet, and returns to port at 2 a.m.

PBJC employees, families and friends have a group rate of $49 per person. If enough request it, they will supply a bus from the campus to the Port of Palm Beach and return.

The last day to sign up is Dec. 5. If you have any questions, please call 439-8014.

Sabbatical Leave

I would like to encourage all interested eligible PBJC employees to apply for a sabbatical leave on or before the Dec. 1, 1986 deadline. Eligible staff members are those who are in or beyond the seventh continuous full year of full-time employment at the college. Examples of sabbatical leaves that have been approved for funding are on reserve in the Central Campus Library.

Application forms are available at the office of the Dean of Instruction, DP 202, Central Campus.

from so many people," Joan says. "I believe the interviews were a good experience for all who took part."

After interviews, the committee made the selection of the final four candidates, and informed Dr. Ottis Smith, North Provost, and Dr. Eissey of their selection. Dr. Smith is now arranging for a second interview with the committee choices before final selection.

In The News

The Watson B. Duncan III Theatre, the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center, and the PBJC Dental checkups for children of the county's Head Start program have kept the college in the news.

WPEC Channel 12 television news has featured the cities of Lake Worth and Belle Glade in a live report on Fridays. As part of the broadcast, reporter Debbie La Blanc spoke of the WBD III Theatre and the role of the Central campus in the community of Lake Worth.

Last Friday, the camera crew was in Belle Glade and once again, PBJC was in the spotlight. The broadcast originated from the front of the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center. La Blanc talked about the contribution the Center has made to the citizens of western Palm Beach County.

In the Sun Sentinel, Nov. 19, and in the Post Times Nov. 18, a story appeared about the free dental checkups that were given to Head Start children by PBJC's dental hygiene students. A large photo appeared with both stories and Dr. Flatley was quoted in several places.

If you are interested in seeing the articles which appear in the regional newspapers, visit the News Bureau bulletin board located just north of the eastern entrance to the Continuing Education offices.

SUNCOM Sense # 4

On Monday, Dec. 1, 1986 SUNCOM numbers for many offices throughout the state will be changed. Check your new 1987 State of Florida SUNCOM Directory before dialing any SUNCOM number.

Please be patient when dialing long distance on and after Dec. 1 while the changes are being implemented and the network de-bugged. You will no longer hear beeps and clicks when dialing, and neither will you hear as much line noise or static when talking. Remember an absence of noise does not mean your call did not go through. In most cases, it will go through faster than on the old network.

You should have received your 1987 State of Florida SUNCOM Directory and information on your new SUNCOM number. Palm Beach Junior College is one of the locations scheduled to receive a new SUNCOM prefix number beginning Dec. 1, 1986. The new prefix is 258. YOUR NEW SUNCOM NUMBER WILL BE 258 PLUS YOUR EXTENSION NUMBER. Please give your new SUNCOM number to offices who would be calling you after Dec. 1 so that they may reach your office without any problems.

If you have not received your new SUNCOM directory, have problems dialing or questions about the SUNCOM Network, please call Mary Tingler at extension 8000 for assistance.

The tournament will be a four man scramble/shotgun start. There will be three flights with outstanding prizes, flights determined by the total of the team's handicap.

A seafood buffet and complimentary bar after the tournament are included. Starting time is 1 p.m. A new car or golf cart will be won by anyone scoring a hole-in-one.

The tournament coordinators at PBJC are Mary Beall in the office of the President, 439-8080, and Hamid Faquire or John Anderson at the Athletic Director's office, 439-8067. Information may also be obtained from Jim Simon, at Atlantis Country Club, 968-1300, who is tournament director.

Despite the fact that current Winter Term registration is up 4%, Dr. Eissey has urged faculty and all others in contact with students to encourage them to register as soon as possible.

Spring Break In New York

This year, you can experience New York during our spring break.

Utilizing the Saturday and Sunday before the three-day break, you can spend five days and four nights in New York, attend five Broadway plays, get in some general sightseeing, and stay at a hotel in the heart of the theatre district for $475 plus airfare.

The man behind these arrangements for a study tour with the cooperation of the Field Studies Center of New York is Frank Leahy, who recently spent part of a sabbatical doing similar things.

But you have to make up your mind quickly. A $50 deposit is due by Dec. 12, with the check made out to the Field Studies Center, but send it to Frank at 4560 Perth Road, West Palm Beach, Fla. 33415.

Included in the overall price will be an orientation session, roundtrip airport

You are reading the penultimate Monday Report for this year. The final Monday Report for 1986 will be next Monday, Dec. 15, with a deadline of Thursday, noon, Dec. 11. Barring some unforeseen emergency, you will not be hearing from us again after Dec. 15 until Jan. 12, 1987. Please plan ahead and get essential announcements and other information for the rest of this year to us as soon as possible.

Although 5,885 (as of 12/3) have registered, another 6,000 plus must be registered before classes begin Jan. 6 to reach last year's level.

Looming in front of Charles Graham and other campus registrars is the spectacle of a last day scramble on Monday, Jan. 5. The fear is that many students will prolong their holiday and not take advantage of the first day of open registration, Friday, Jan. 2.

This will mean a tremendous surge of students on Monday, Jan. 5.

Current registration figures are encouraging:

Campus	Last Year	This Year	Up	Percent
Central	3,248	3,343	95	2%
North	943	988	45	4%
Glades	43	56	13	30%
South	978	1,097	119	12%

To further promote early registration, Dr. Eissey will be reminding listeners of WRMF radio to avoid the holiday rush. Beginning Dec. 15 through the end of the month, a thirty second commercial spot will air on WRMF, 98 FM that features the unmistakable voice of our president, who is personally reminding students to "Register Today!"

Eleven daily and weekly newspapers will also feature an ad for the Winter Term. Look for the headline, "Don't Be Left Out in the Cold." It is important to remember that our state funds are enrollment driven, and next year's budget depends on how many students we have this year.

Network HMO Plans Merger

On December 1, 1986 I received a letter from NETWORK indicating they have signed letters of intent to merge with Health Insurance Plan of New York (HIP). Their letter states that HIP has nearly one million members, a net worth of over $75 million, and liquid assets in excess of $100 million.

They have further indicated that this merger will make them a part of the second largest non-profit HMO in the country, and it will result in a significant infusion of working capital.

At this point, we have no further information with regard to any processing changes which might occur. Further information will be forthcoming as we receive it. ...J. M. Schneider

Marine Biology Course Is Popular

The Marine Biology course aboard the research vessels Bellows or Suncoaster out of Long Key has proven to be so popular that the first class of 24 persons has been completely filled by our own biology faculty and biology majors, according to Dr. Patricia Dyer, vice president of academic affairs.

The course, coordinated by Dr. Carol Butler, is a lecture lab/course with 64 contact hours and three credits.

It will study habitats, resident organisms, Florida marine topics and marine ecosystems.

Students will be introduced to the advanced scientific instrumentation aboard the Florida Institute of Oceanography's research vessels at the Seaworld Marine Science Conservation Center. They will collect marine organisms and study their interrelationships with Florida's seacost.

The Winter Semester course at Long Key will be Feb. 26 to Mar. 4, and will be limited to 24 students.

A second session is planned, and interest is so strong that most of the spaces for that class have already been spoken for, Dr. Dyer said.

Sculptures At North Campus

A unique collection of eight aluminum sculptures has been loaned to PBJC North by the sculptor, R. F. Buckley, professor of Art at Florida International University in Miami.

The official dedication was held last week in front of the library, next to a piece titled, "Prevailing Wind." Buckley accepted a scroll of appreciation signed by the entire faculty, staff, and administration of the North Campus.

Dr. Eissey also gave his personal thanks to Buckley.

The sculptor described some of his techniques to the crowd and explained that the series of sculptures represent "a unit of ideas that had much to do with the colors and shapes of natural landscaping." He said that the "Prevailing Wind", as an example, was his view of a cloud formation over a mountain range.

Following a brief question and answer period, Buckley led the crowd on a short tour of the remaining works.

Alessandra Gieffers, art instructor at North, said, "We are extremely fortunate to have R. F. Buckley loan these pieces to our campus. The sculptures are one of a kind, and they have been carefully placed in surroundings that enhance the textures and colors of the work."

Industry, Robotics, Science Top November Board

Industry, technology (including robotics) and science dominated several actions taken by the Palm Beach Junior College board of trustees Monday, Nov. 24 at PBJC Central.

The trustees approved an agreement with IBM to accept a loan of an industrial robot, software, and an industrial computer to aid the college in training students in a new program in Automated Manufacturing Technology.

PBJC ties to industry were emphasized in a report on the Faculty-to-Industry program, in which faculty members work on site for varying periods of time in the industrial plants of the area.

Arrangements were completed for a Marine Biology course for science majors and science instructors to be taken at Long Key on a research vessel.

The trustees completed two actions involving leases with Florida Atlantic University at PBJC South and PBJC North and also approved educational specifications for the first permanent PBJC South building at the FAU campus at Boca Raton.

One of the leases was for 15 acres on the FAU campus for that first building.

The other lease action involved approval of leasing 5.5. acres at PBJC North for an FAU classroom building to be constructed there after sale of the FAU site on 45th street has been concluded.

The specifications for the PBJC South building show 17 classrooms with net square footage of 13,106, a computer science lab with 2,163 square feet, student services at 5,444 square feet, and faculty offices, message centers, custodial space and restrooms to bring the net figure to 24,261. Gross square footage was estimated at 31,539.

The board was presented journalism scholarship funds amounting to $2,800 from the proceeds of the Yellow Feather Awards, an evening of dramatic skits by print and electronic media personnel highlighting some of the foibles and fables of the local political and news scene in the past year.

Steve Cohen of the Sun Sentinel and Kerry Deems of Channel 5 presented the scholarship check to Dr. Eissey.

The board noted the pending retirement of three long-time employees:

Dr. Mary Bosworth, Professor, has been a reading and English specialist with the Center for Personalized Instruction at PBJC Central, and has been with the college for 20 years.

Francis Barton has been a Senior Instructor in Division II at PBJC North, and has taught mathematics at the college for 19 years.

transportation to the hotel, attendance at the five performances, hotel accommodations at Milford Plaza including taxes and baggage handling, a lecture by a theatre personality and a visit backstage at one of the theatres.

Another reason to move quickly. Attendance is limited to 25 persons, and Frank already has some people signed up. Dates for this trip are Feb. 28 and Mar. 1 through 4. Information can be obtained from Frank at 8139, or from 683-4208. Please check with him later, or with Reuben Hale, if you are interested in credit for the study tour.

PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE
PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 4 December 15, 1986

Registering Now

New Computers, New Tech Course In Winter Term

A new computer lab with 24 computers and a new state licensing training program await students in the Winter Term at Palm Beach Junior College. Registration for the term is going on now.

At PBJC Central, Ann Steckler, Chairperson of the Business/Math Division, is preparing for a new word processing program. Students will be using a new group of computers which will enable the business/word processing classes to expand.

"We are now prepared to offer a five week series on Lotus and add more word processing classes," Steckler said.

At the North Campus, a new wastewater/water plant licensing training and management course is available for Winter Term. Basic C-level and B-level licensing training courses are available beginning in January, and A-level license training will be taught in the fall.

These courses qualify the student for the Fall Term Commencement Set For Dec. 19

Dr. Helen Popovich, President of Florida Atlantic University, will be the principal speaker at the Palm Beach Junior College Fall Term commencement set for Dec. 19 at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Popovich will speak to approximately 335 graduates and their relatives and friends about the "Information Age Winner" and the cooperative relationship between PBJC and FAU.

Before becoming president of FAU, Popovich was acting president at Winona State University in Minnesota. She received her Ph.D. from the University of Kansas, her M.A. from the University of Texas in El Paso, and her B.A. from University of Texas.

In 1986, she was appointed President of the Florida Collegiate Consortium for International Intercultural Education, is a member of the American Association of Higher Education, American Council on Education, and is involved with many community organizations in Boca Raton.

The PBJC graduates will be awarded Associate in Arts Degrees, signifying satisfactory completion of a program leading to the junior year at a four-year institution, or Associate in Science Degrees, signifying satisfactory completion of two years of training in an occupational area.

Still Looking Good

Registration still looks good compared to a year ago, but we have less than two weeks (actually nine working days counting today) and almost 5,000 students left to register if we are to better last year's mark. It's time to redouble efforts to get students in early.

All college figures are 7,185 compared to 6,525 a year ago, a gain of 9.81 percent. Campus figures follow:

Campus	Last Year	This Year	Up	Percent
Central	3,724	4,042	318	8.54

Jack Daniel's Band At Dolly Hand Arts Center

The Jack Daniel's Original Silver Cornet Band will perform at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center at PBJC Glades Thursday, Dec. 18 at 8 p.m.

The Jack Daniel's Band was founded in 1892 by Jack Daniel in Lynchburg, Tennessee. In 1973 the band was recreated for the purpose of recording an album and presenting a historic return to a rural American hometown concert at the turn-of-the-century for public television.

The band on tour is a faithful reproduction of a concert in the park, complete with authentic instruments and costumes, an entire stage setting featuring a park gazebo, and special sound and lighting effects.

This performance will be dedicated to the holiday season and is titled a "Hometown Christmas." Tickets are $10 for adults and $8 for students and are available at the Arts Center. For more information, call 439-8160 or 305/996-3055.

British Sex

Now that we have your attention, please make your reservations now for the Senior Players production, "No Sex, Please, We're British," opening Jan. 15.

The play has enjoyed success both on Broadway and in London, where it is the longest running play now on stage.

The British play features situation comedic humor and promises to be much fun for the players and audience. The performance will be in the new Watson B. Duncan III Theatre, Jan. 15-18 at 8 p.m. and matinees at 2 p.m. on Jan. 17 and 18.

Tickets are $7 and for groups over 25, $6. Ticket sales on Friday, Jan. 16 will benefit FACC, so mark your calendar and don't miss "No Sex, Please, We're British."

Information may be obtained from Nancy Goodwin at 433-8115. Nancy has made arrangements for tickets to be sold by a Senior Player volunteer at Continuing Education.

People Bringing Joy At Christmas

PBJC's own grass roots charity, People Bringing Joy At Christmas, is poised to do an even better job than last year, if the final fund raising events are as successful as they have been in the past, according to Don Pearsall, the originator of P.B.J.C.

The last big event will culminate on Dec. 19 at the all-college meeting, when everyone will be asked to bring in canned goods for the Christmas baskets, and a drawing will be held for some fantastic prizes, including a 70 watt hi fi component system, a VCR, and a cheer basket.

Tickets for the drawing may be purchased from any member of the 15 member committee--and Marla Tatman at 439-8036 can tell you who is located near you. Tickets may also be purchased Dec. 19.

The Bake Sale and White Elephant Sale on Saturday, Dec. 6 at the cafeteria at Central was far more than that. It was a crafts sale, with 28 individuals or groups having displays despite a really miserable, rainy day.

P.B.J.C. realized almost $600 from the day, and with more advertising and better weather, this could become a real money maker next year.

Two additional gifts have brought cheer to the committee. Don Mullens, a police recruit student who won the turkey trot, donated his prize, and the Student Government Association will use the $130 proceeds from hair cuts to buy dairy products.

Another thing needed from anyone at the college is names and addresses of families in need. The committee likes to give preference to families known to faculty and staff, rather than going to community agencies.

Last year, People Bringing Joy At Christmas helped 29 families with food for the parents and gifts for the children. Don and his committee are determined to increase the number this year, and with your help, will do so.

Glynn-Stone Grant Funds

Scholarship funds based entirely on academic performance will be made available in February through the Glynn-Stone Grant, according to Dean Paul J. Glynn, former vice president of student affairs at the college.

Students need to be recommended by a faculty member, and applications are submitted to a three-member teaching committee consisting of chairman Howard Evans, Don Busselle, and Ed Pugh.

This year, 17 students have received $700 each which enabled them to complete their sophomore year. Glynn, who has administered the program for the past 22 years, said that a total of $71,800 has been given so far to 117 students.

Funds are still available, and anyone knowing of a deserving student should contact the Development Office, 439-8072 or Glynn at 967-4264.

New And Improved

The 1986-87 Speaker's Bureau brochure is NOW available. If you wish to receive a copy, or are a member of a club which often requires guest speakers, please contact Holly at 8135 in the news bureau to get your brochure.

Coming Soon... The new combination Contact/Cornerstone publication is currently at the printer. If you wish to add your name, or names of those who would be interested in the ins and outs of PBJC, or if your address has changed, please contact the news bureau so we can put you on our mailing list.

Hightower Named Award Winner

Adjunct faculty member Billie J. Hightower has won the second place $2,000 Mary Hulitar Award in the 48th Annual Exhibition of Contemporary American Paintings sponsored by the Society of the Four Arts.

Hightower's painting, titled "Two Carnations," was one of 67 works chosen from 897 entries. Artists from all over the country enter this competition which has grown in popularity in recent years.

The winning pieces are currently on exhibit at the Society of the Four Arts Gallery in Palm Beach through Jan. 4.

Diedre Is Cover Girl Again

Diedre Hall, who is fast becoming one of our best known alumni, will be featured on the cover of the TV Guide as a cast member of Our House.

This is Diedre's second appearance on the cover of TV Guide. Her previous appearence was as a member of the cast of Days of Our Lives.

Diedre and her twin sister, Andrea, were two of the most beautiful adornments of our Central campus when they were students here in 1965-66.

state wastewater/water plant training examination. The wastewater/water plant management training is part of an Associate Degree program.

"Only seven colleges in the state of Florida are licensed to teach these wastewater/water programs," said Glen Marsteller, Chairperson of the Science/Math and Engineering Division at North. "These programs are in such demand that we have the largest classes we have seen in ten years."

A faithful and willing worker in our Continuing Education Division since 1982, Audrey Vaughn died at about 8 p.m. Monday at Doctor's Hospital. Her friends at the college knew of her serious operation for cancer in August, but had hoped for a long-term remission after her return to work on Oct. 17.

Audrey lost consciousness over the weekend while watching TV, and did not regain consciousness before her death. One of her greatest fears had been of a lingering illness and friends who mourn her passing are grateful she was spared that ordeal.

Audrey was secretary to the Dean of Continuing Education, and also served as secretary for the Institute of Government, the steering committee for the Institute of Multicultural Affairs, and the recording secretary for Region 25 of the Coordinating Council.

Audrey was a well-known and well-liked member of the college family. She had no close relatives in this area, and shared a lot of her time in college activities. A memorial service was to take place Thursday, Dec. 10, 7 p.m. at E. Earl Smith & Son in Lake Worth.

Although figures are still incomplete until after today, it is safe to say that registration for the Winter Term will show a healthy increase over the same term a year ago.

As this is written, we are showing a 4.6 percent increase in credit enrollment with (surprise) Central leading the way at 5.93 and South almost the same at 5.87 percent, North with 1.87 percent, and Glades lower at 9.05 percent -- 22 fewer students.

With Continuing Ed's non-credit included, the increase in numbers is even more dramatic, going to 12,031, an increase of 7.55 percent over last year's 11,186 at this time in the enrollment procedure.

Duncan Opens 31st Series Of Book Reviews

The 31st annual literary lecture series of book reviews by Watson B. Duncan, III, Distinguished Chairman of Arts and Letters, got underway Jan. 9 with a review of "Murrow: His Life and Times" by Ann M. Sperber.

The Murrow biography is "a book of immense historical proportions--the life and times of America's greatest broadcast journalist," Duncan said.

The lectures take place every Friday at 3 p.m. in the Woman's Club Building, 105 S. Flagler Drive, West Palm Beach. A $3 donation benefits PBJC scholarships.

The series continues through Mar. 27. The remainder of the January schedule follows:

Jan. 16--"Stranger in Two Worlds" by Jean Harris. The spellbinding story of how a woman from a privileged background wound up being tried for the murder of the famous diet doctor, Herman Tanower.

Jan. 23--"Ford: The Man and the Machine" by Robert Lacey. A provocative look at three generations of the famous family and of the industry that made their fortune.

Jan. 30--"One More Time" by Carol Burnett. A rich, touching, powerful memoir of a determined spirit who insisted on life and joy.

Overload Paychecks

The Administrative Calendar requires the submission of approved Faculty Load Assessment (FLA) computer sheets to the Vice President of Planning and Information Systems by Jan. 14, 1987.

Approved FLA's are received by the Planning and Information Systems Office before being forwarded to the Personnel Office. The Personnel Office uses the total number of load points to determine if faculty members are eligible for overload payments.

Since processing overload payments from approved FLA's is a major undertaking, it is important that it be carefully reviewed for accuracy, and that it be submitted in a timely manner.

New Dimensions Celebrates Twelfth Season

The Institute of New Dimensions, now in its 12th year and working with a new director, Theodore B.Kremsky, has already expanded its membership by 35 percent, and is now expanding geographically.

PBJC South will host the first series of lectures are scheduled for a series of eight lectures in January and February, speaking on a wide variety of topics.

Attendance at each lecture will be $2.50 to cover costs to the Institute, since the lecturer's donate their services.

Volunteers Needed For Fair

Volunteers are needed for the PBJC Booth at the South Florida Fair. The fair opens Thursday, Jan. 22 and continues through Sunday, Feb. 1.

Debra McCray, our new recruiter/counselor, will be working with Dr. Haynes to coordinate the fair activity this year, and volunteers should call her at 8054. An orientation session will be held prior to the opening, but the first step is to get in touch with Debra.

Our People Brought Joy At Christmas

The joy is in the giving, and not in the receiving.

With this thought in mind, the People Bringing Joy At Christmas committee helped 36 families this year enjoy a traditional holiday meal of turkey and all the trimmings, and 70 children celebrated Christmas by unwrapping gifts of clothing and toys.

Committee chairman Don Pearsall said more than $3,100 was raised over the course of the year through various fund raising efforts.

But after all the food and gifts had been purchased, and committee members thought they could finally take a breather, there was a last minute call for additional help.

At the all-college meeting Dec. 19, Pearsall announced that a family in Belle Glade was in desperate need. A mother and 10 children--ages 1 through 16--would have no Christmas unless we responded.

As a result, Frankie Bollon's hat, which temporarily served as a collection plate, netted nearly $200 in additional donations. Glades Director Mary Orsenigo went shopping and bought food and gifts for each family member.

Again this year, the college family demonstrated the true spirit of the season, and to each and every one, we say, simply, "thank you."

Films On Chemical Safety

Prior to the holidays, three films were shown to two groups of college personnel regarding the use and handling of potentially hazardous chemical substances. While nearly 40 personnel attended the sessions, there are certainly additional college personnel who would benefit from seeing such films.

These chemical safety films, VT 2782, may be seen at the LLRC on the Central Campus by any personnel who may have missed the opportunity to see these films earlier. ...J.M. Schneider are all at least 55 years old, and are known for their energetic performances for community groups and nursing care facilities.

The lead role, Brian Runnicles, is played by Manny Sternfeld. He has had over 30 years of broadcasting experience and has been involved with theatre since 1951. As a member of Senior Players, Sternfeld played the leading role of Patsy in "Three Men on a Horse" last season.

Francis is played by Ann Gerrig. She was a member of the Stoughton Theatre Co. in Massachusetts for over 20 years. Gerrig has worked with the Senior Players, the Delray Players, and is currently a member of the Professional Actors' Workshop.

Allee Weinpress is playing Peter. He began acting at the tender age of 52, and since joining the Senior Players, he has been seen as Nervous Sam in "The Cheaters," as Old Captain Kochtapee in "Purlie Victorious," and as Colonel Blake in "Mash."

The director, Nancy Goodwin, has had over 30 years experience as a professional writer, director, and producer for radio, TV and theatre. She has been the director of community theatres and an instructor in creative writing and drama at several colleges.

Since joining the staff at PBJC, she has enjoyed much success with her productions over the past six years.

Dr. Eissey Receives Home Builders Award

The Home Builders and Contractors Association of Palm Beach County named Dr. Eissey the 1986 Citizen of the Year-Elmer D. Hedrick Award at an installation banquet at the Breakers Hotel December 13.

The HBCA, the largest single chapter in the nation, chose to honor Dr. Eissey on the basis of his contributions to the community and the improvement of the quality of life for all Palm Beach county residents.

Dr. Eissey was selected for his participation in establishing the Performing Arts Center, his work for the Mental Health Board, and for promoting higher education through his work at PBJC.

Past recipients of the award include Paul Rogers, Alex Dreyfoos, Lake Lytal, Bob Satter, and Llwyd Eccelstone, Jr.

The award, established in 1975, was named after the founder, Elmer D. Hedrick, who was known as "Mr. Homebuilder."

Speakers Network Elects Dr. Dyer

Dr. Patricia Dyer, our Vice President of Academic Affairs, will be starting the new year off as president of the Professional Women's Speakers Network with the first meeting of the year set for tomorrow.

Established in 1981, the Speakers Network has as its principal purpose community education, which it attempts to achieve through speaking engagements to clubs, schools, and other organizations and through planned seminars which provide information on topics of public interest.

Each year, since 1982, the Network has provided one or more seminars open to the public. An on-going project has been a program of speakers making individual presentations on career information to high school classes or groups.

A third aspect of the Network's activities has been a program of individual presentatins to clubs and organizations. An information booklet on speakers and topics is available.

The new Director of Regional Coordinating Council, Rita Dougherty, was also introduced at the meeting. Dougherty works with the governor-appointed council members to assist with planning, development and monitoring of adult education and vocational training programs in Palm Beach County. Her offices are located at the Central Campus.

In other business, Jan Bussell, director of Vocational Education, gave a report on the placement/follow-up surveys which are mandated by the state. Bussell said that overall, PBJC was very successful in placing graduates of Vocational Training Programs in full-time, degree related jobs.

Social Science instructor Ed Pugh presented a plaque and illustration commemorating the city of Lake Worth as one of the first of 200 communities recognized as a Bicentennial community in honor of the 200 anniversary of the Constitution.

Pugh is chairman of the Bicentennial Commission who sought this honor for Lake Worth, and he reported on several upcoming activities that the commission and the college are planning for the anniversary.

An overview of the PBJC Foundation Grant Program for 1986/87 was given by George Matsoukas, assistant director of development. A total of $1,417,408. was raised over the year. Matsoukas explained his program and recognized those who were instrumental in raising the funds.

Dietetic Program Recognized

The American Dietetic Association has voted to continue approval status to the Dietetic Program at Palm Beach Junior College.

Ethel Fowler, R.D., director of the Dietetic Program at the college, said the Committee of the Commission on Accreditation found the course study "to be in substantial compliance with the essentials, well-planned and educationally sound."

As a result, the college will be listed in the Directory of Dietetic Programs for 1988 under Approved Dietetic Technician Programs.

Fowler says the course study at PBJC is specifically outlined to prepare the student for registration with the American Dietetic Association and for eligibility for membership in the Dietary Managers Association.

Students who graduate with an Associate of Science degree in dietetic technology are trained to fill positions in health care and educational facilities, such as hospitals, skilled nursing facilities, schools, university and industrial foodservice, residential and group care facilities, day care and community centers.

The recognition by the American Dietetic Association is given when the course study meets standards outlined by the Committee of the Commission on Accreditation. The program is completely reviewed every two years.

Innovation Research Grants

Dr. Patricia A. Dyer, Vice President of Academic Affairs, has recently received the following information and requests for proposals concerning Innovation Research Grants from Dr. R. Krishnaiyer, Associate Director of Southern Technology Applications Center.

"The Florida High Technology Innovation Research and Development Board is requesting proposals from faculty entrepreneurs based at your institution for seed capital financing. A maximum of $50,000 per winning proposal is available from the Board. A total of 30 proposals is likely to be funded during the current fiscal year."

A copy of the RFP is in George Matsoukas' office for further information. Application deadline is Jan. 30, 1987.

Dr. Krishnaiyer has urged the faculty to take advantage of this unique seed capital financing opportunity available from state government to foster economic development through the cultivation of high technology entrepreneurship.

Adjunct Faculty Paychecks

Please note that Division Chairs and the Director, Glades Center must have submitted adjunct faculty duty schedules to the Personnel Office, with other administrative approvals if necessary, by Tuesday, Jan. 13, 1987.

It is necessary for the Personnel Office to initiate the processing of more than 300 such personnel so that they can receive their first paycheck for the Winter Term on Feb. 5.

PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 6 January 19, 1987

First Time Over 13,000

Winter Term Enrollment Shows 6 Percent Increase

A gain of 6.03 percent in students at Palm Beach Junior College over year-ago figures brought total enrollment in the Winter Term to 13,127 this year, according to figures compiled by Charles Graham, registrar.

Last year at this time, total enrollment was 12,381.

This is the first Winter Term in which more than 13,000 were enrolled at the end of the registration period.

Credit enrollment increased from a year ago by 296 students, up 2.85 percent to 11,469.

Contrary to trends in recent years, PBJC Central at Lake Worth led the other campuses in enrollment gains, followed closely by PBJC South at Boca Raton. PBJC North at Palm Beach Gardens held even, while PBJC Glades in Belle Glade showed a decrease.

For several years prior to the term, the percentage gain at Central has been smaller than that at South and North.

Day students continued to outnumber evening students, but not by much--7,913 to 5,214.

Part-time students outnumbered full-time students by about 3 to 1.

Although the gains in number of class hours registered were smaller than those in numbers of students, the trend was still up, with a total overall gain in student semester hours and credit hour equivalents of 4.99 percent.

Total enrollment figures by campus were as follows. The first figure is for this year, the second for last year. The numbers include Continuing Education enrollment through the last day of Drop and Add.

PBJC Central 7,572, 7,103. PBJC North 2,555, 2,352. PBJC South 1,984, 1,947. PBJC Glades 306, 329. Mixed 712, 620.

Local Legislators Support PBJC Half-mill Referendum

The local legislative delegation gave unanimous backing to the PBJC half-mill referendum Wednesday afternoon after an appearance by Dr. Eissey.

Many of the legislators had been briefed in prior years about the need for the referendum, and Dr. Eissey encountered no opposition to the idea of attempting once again to get legislative approval to allow the people of the county to vote to help the college.

Some legislators referred to a recent memo from Jon Mills, Speaker of the House, proposing a one-year moratorium on the creation of independent taxing districts and authorization of new taxes.

The viewpoint was expressed that PBJC's bill does not create a permanent district, and does not authorize new taxes, since it merely authorizes referendum.

Dr. Eissey asked for the backing of the delegation before proceeding with the plan, and the chairman asked for an individual vote from each member. Each legislator voted to back the proposed bill.

The approval of the legislators is only the first step in a long process. Without their backing, nothing that requires legislation can be accomplished.

A Special Person

Fifteen hours a week, for the past three years, Lorraine Dye can be found working with the nursing program coordinator at PBJC North. But for the past 13 years, at least three times a week, she is in the hospital.

Lorraine has a kidney disease and must be put on dialysis until an organ donor is found.

"She is a very able worker, and a cheerful person willing to help anyone in our office," says Betty Woolfe. She describes Lorraine as a pleasure to work with in spite of her illness.

Lorraine recently graduated from Palm Beach Atlantic College with a business degree, and hopes to work full-time with PBJC when she is free from the dialysis machine.

But her freedom will depend on securing a matching donor, something that has so far proved impossible. All of this makes Lorraine's friends at the college more aware of the need for the widest possible choice of organ donors, and many have signed consent forms.

If you wish to be an organ donor, you can fill out a consent form at any driver's license office or dialysis center.

We wish Lorraine well, and hope this will be the year a donor is found.

Express Term Dates Set

A student calendar for the Winter Express Term has been released by Charles Graham, registrar.

As announced earlier by Dr. Patricia Dyer, Vice President for Academic Affairs, the dates for classes in the eight-week session will be Mar. 5 through Apr. 29.

Academic Affairs is now preparing a list of courses to be offered, and this list should be available in the near future.

Graham's calendar, published in full below, sets the beginning of the registration period on Feb. 16, and adds final examinations Apr. 30 to May 4.

Express Terms have gained steadily in popularity since they were instituted college-wide two years ago after a pilot study at PBJC North. They provide another entry opportunity for those missing Winter Term deadlines, and for anyone who wants full credit in half the time.

The Student Calendar follows:

Feb. 16-March 4 .....Registration
March 4 .....100% Refund
March 5 .....Classes begin
March 5-9, 1-3 p.m. ..... Days for correcting schedules
March 9, 1-3 p.m. .....Senior citizens
March 9 .....80% refund
April 8 .....Final day withdraw/change to audit
April 30-May 4.....Final examinations

South Florida Fair Begins Thursday

"Everything is going great!" says counselor Debra McCray, one of the chief organizers of the PBJC South Florida Fair booth. This year, fair goers will see a giant five foot teddy bear sporting a "Nobody treats you better than PBJC" button at our booth.

The teddy was donated by a local radio station, and it should attract some attention. The SGA, Phi Theta Kappa, and representatives from each campus are all coming together to work this year's booth.

Volunteers are to attend orientation on Wednesday, 2 p.m. in room CJ 105 at PBJC Central.

There will be two drawings at the PBJC booth, one for four chances at six free credit hours of tuition, and and a drawing for the PBJC teddy.

Debra and the South Florida Fair Committee would like to thank staff and faculty members who have contributed their time and effort to this event. The fair opens Thursday, Jan. 22.

PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE
PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 7 January 26, 1987

Classes At North; Campus Plan At South

Two FAU Items Approved By Trustees

Two new developments in relationships with Florida Atlantic University were approved by Palm Beach Junior College trustees at the regular meeting of the board Wednesday, Jan. 21 at PBJC Central.

The actions were by the full five-member board, despite newspaper accounts Wednesday morning that Gov. Bob Martinez had "withdrawn" the appointments of Lawrence Abramson and Elizabeth Wesley. The same article said those "withdrawn" would continue to serve until replaced and that some of those named would be reappointed.

The FAU items involved a contract for use of a classroom at PBJC North by FAU, and approval of a revised site plan for PBJC South to reflect a reduction from 40 to 25 acres.

Dr. Ottis Smith, Provost of PBJC North, said that FAU plans to offer a graduate level course in educational administration and planning through the use of computers at the North Campus.

Dr. Smith welcomed FAU to the PGA Blvd. campus, and noted the recent actions of the board in setting aside 5 acres there for a permanent FAU building after completion of the sale of the FAU property on 45th street.

Dr. Tony Tate, Vice President for Business Affairs, reviewed the history of the PBJC South campus at FAU in Boca Raton. The initial arrangement was for 10 acres on an immediate lease with 43 additional acres set aside for future use. That agreement was reached in 1980.

Since then, there have been a number of changes, and at one point, the PBJC South campus was temporarily diminished to the 10 acres already acquired. However, negotiations have now established the campus

Fair Booth Off To A Good Start

The Palm Beach Junior College booth at the South Florida Fair is drawing a lot of attention. The life-size teddy bear that greets fairgoers and his button reminds them that "nobody treats you better than PBJC."

Debra McCray and the committee have really worked hard to get this event together with less than two weeks notice. Debra wishes to thank all the volunteers and

WELCOME ABOARD

Debra McCray joins the Palm Beach Junior College Staff as the new minority Guidance Counselor/Recruiter at Central. She has extensive recruiting experience and has produced and coordinated numerous presentations on minority interests.

Before coming to PBJC, Debra was the Florida Site Coordinator for the Head Start Resource Support Center with Yes, Incorporated, in Tallahassee.

Her educational background places her in the unique position of being both a Florida Gator and a Seminole.

We are pleased to welcome Debra aboard and commend her hard work along with the committee that put together the booth at the South Florida Fair.

International Food Festival

Faculty, staff, administrators and students are invited to the annual Food Festival sponsored by the Students for International Understanding on Wednesday, Jan. 28 from 10 a.m. til 2 p.m. in the Student Activities Center.

Dishes and desserts will be prepared by PBJC international students from over 20 different countries. SIU will decorate the SAC lounge with colorful posters, streamers and flags and will wear costumes from their countries.

Students have taped hours of music from several different countries which will be played throughout the Food Fest. Other special attractions will be featured, such as a "fortune teller," who will tell your fortune for 50 cents.

Samples of food can be purchased for under $1. Money raised through the festival will be used for a campus beautification project.

For more information, contact Lori Flamer at 8182.

You Can Help

As you may have gathered from reading newspapers, or from sources here at the college, Dr. Eissey has been working hard to gain approval of the legislature this year for a half mill referendum to be held in the Fall.

He has secured the unanimous backing of the local legislative delegation, and the college already has in hand resolutions of support from more than 160 local organizations.

Dr. Eissey would like to increase that number, and at the same time to make contacts for the public phase of the millage informational drive prior to the election.

Betty Woolfe has begun the compilation of a list of organizations, starting with the obvious sources like chambers of commerce, but has discovered that these lists are far from complete, and far from accurate.

If you belong to any organization that might be interested in supporting the college -- and could perhaps give time to a speaker -- please give the name of the organization, its address, telephone number -- or the name, address and telephone number of the best person to contact to Betty Woolfe at PBJC Central at mail station 35, or telephone her at 439-8247.

This is not a difficult thing to do. Almost everyone belongs to one or two organizations outside the college, and if all of us help, we will soon have the best list of organizations in the county.

Chamber Music Concert Set For Wednesday

Palm Beach Junior College Division of Humanities will present the chamber music groups Contrasts in a recital seminar Wednesday, Jan. 28, 12:30 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Watson B. Duncan Theatre.

Contrasts features three internationally renowned artists--Esther Lamneck, Yuval Waldman, and Thomas Hrynkiw--who have performed together since their student days at the Julliard and Manhattan schools.

Named after Bela Bartok's composition entitled "Contrasts," the performers joined forces to explore the treasures of rarely performed repertoire for the unusual combination of violin or viola, piano and clarinet.

Their program will include rarely heard chamber masterpieces by Carl Reinecke and Max Bruch, and Darious Milhaud and Bela Bartok. Included as part of the recital seminar will be personal observations about the works and instrumentation by the artists.

Admission is $5 per person. Please call 439-8142 for reservations and information.

FACC Benefit

The FACC members, their families and friends, thank Nancy Goodwin and the Senior Players for bringing joy and laughter into our hearts and community with their production of "No Sex Please, We're British." It was truly a memorable theatrical experience.

Nancy Goodwin and the Senior Players have graciously donated $2,000 to the FACC cause.

We look forward to the continuous success of this truly inspired group of performers who make a positive impact on the community.

Shutterbug Show

The camera clubs of Boca Raton and West Palm Beach will be exhibiting color and black and white photographs Feb. 2-19 in the first floor gallery of the Humanities Building.

This is the last week of Jane Manus' exhibit of metal sculptures titled "Monumental Work of Powerful Patterns."

All faculty and staff are invited to enjoy the exhibits presented by various artists.

The original campus plan had included development fo 40 acres, and Tate obtained approval of the board for modifications in the campus plan to accommodate to the smaller acreage.

During discussion of an out-of-state course, a New York Fashion Seminar to be offered March 29 to April 3, Dr. Patricia Dyer, Vice President for Academic Affairs, briefly reviewed PBJC out-of-district offerings compared to those of other state community colleges.

She noted that Santa Fe had 16 such offerings last year, Broward 46, Miami-Dade 145, and St. Petersburg 24. PBJC offered only eight.

"We are very conservative in this area," Dr. Dyer said.

Among personnel items was the announcement of six retirements, all on June 30, 1987. Those planning retirement are Ruth Bradbury, 11 years; Al Fellner, 16 years; Harold Meadows, 16 years; Art Webb, 20 years; Ed Cassidy, 20 years; and Jonathan Koontz, 22 years.

Thank you for the visits, flowers, cards and other acts of kindness during my recent illness. I am still unable to return to my job in the Science Department, and am recuperating at home. I appreciate my friends at PBJC very much.

Gail Tomei and her husband, Ed, welcomed the arrival of their daughter, Megan Rachel, born Jan. 16. In addition to the usual excitement surrounding a new birth, there was an extra touch of heightened drama. When Gail visited the doctor on the morning of the 16th, he discovered that the time had indeed arrived, so much so that the doctor jumped into the car with Gail, and they sped off to the hospital together. Fortunately, all parties made it to the hospital in time, and Megan Rachel, who weighed 5 pounds, 5 oz., was born at 10:49 a.m. in Good Samaritan.

The many friends of Avel Abrams, a business and sales teacher in Continuing Education for several years, will be happy to learn that he is in improved condition after suffering a heart attack on Jan. 16. As of Monday Report deadline, family members said that Avel had been moved from the coronary care unit at JFK Hospital, and if you wish to send a card, he is now in room 240.

PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE
PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 8 February 2, 1987

Registration Begins Feb. 16

Express Term Course List Released

Ever since the first Express Term, in October, 1985, the college has slowly been increasing the number of courses offered, and the Winter Term Express Term this year is no exception.

The first Express Term offered 15 courses at Central, 15 at North, five at South and none in the Glades. The upcoming Winter Term has 19 offerings for Central, 14 for North, six for South, and four for the Glades.

The total of 43 classes offered is one more than in the Fall Express Term of 1986.

Express Term dates this winter are March 5 through April 29, but the beginning of the registration period is only two weeks away--Feb. 16.

Marketing

Marketing the Express Term is not simple. Its appeal is to a widely diverse student body, except for one very important target market--our own students.

Consequently, if we are to succeed in continuing our steady progess toward making the Express Terms a valuable part of the academic year at PBJC, we must depend on the college community--particularly the faculty--to assist us in getting in touch with the students.

You Can Help

By the time you read this, flyers with course data will available at Registrars offices on all campuses, and through the News Bureau at PBJC Central.

We would like to get a flyer in the hands of any student who is interested, or has a friend who might be interested.

By next week, we will also have a supply

Drama Festival Begins Thursday

Seven high schools have entered the 13th annual High School Drama Festival Feb. 5-7 at the Duncan Theatre.

The festival, sponsored by the Palm Beach College Players and Phi Rho Pi Speech Society, presents each school in a one-act play, or cutting from a full length play.

Public performances on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 6 and 7, include repeat performances of the best plays, plus an original one-act play and a series of of larger, cardboard posters, and we would appreciate anything anyone can do to place these posters where they can be seen.

Course Offerings

There is something for almost everyone in the course offerings for this Express Term.

For those who go for physical activity, there are two courses in golf and one in canoe camping at Central, Softball at South, and Bowling in the GLades. North doesn't have anything all that physical, but you might try Healthful Living, or maybe Public Speaking.

As usual, there are a number of courses in General Education that apply to almost all programs at the college, but there is only one course where you can eat your homework--a course in Pastry, at PBJC Central.

Word Processing I and II are available at North and Word Processing I at South. Glades has Principles of Geography and Conservation.

South has the only computer class opening at this time. Glades and Central both have Ratio and Proporting, a course needed by nurses. North is offering a very good selection of general education courses.

Appeal

The basic appeal of the Express Term is to people who failed for some reason to get enrolled for the Winter Term, and to a certain segment of the population who can not commit 16 straight weeks to a college course, but can commit for eight weeks.

Our experience so far in this new enterprise indicates that about half of the Express Term students will already be enrolled here, and the other half will be first-time students.

monologues by the PBJC Players. These performances, at 8:14 p.m., are open to the public and free of charge.

High schools taking part this year are John I. Leonard, Santaluces, Twin Lakes, Rosarian, Glades, Central, Cardinal Newman and Lake Worth.

After each play presented during the contest section of the festival, a 15 minute discussion/critique is led by a local theatre professional. This year, Roy Henderson, Artistic Director of Actor's Rep in West Palm Beach, will serve as the professional critic.

During the public performance, the Players will present THE SILENT SCRIPT, an original one-act play, and a series of monologues entitled NOBODY WATCHES DRUGGISTS.

THE SILENT SCRIPT is written and directed by theatre student Paul Prendergast and is about power--the power of the imagination and of the written word in a love relationship. The power of revenge is also an influence in THE SILENT SCRIPT.

NOBODY WATCHES DRUGGISTS somewhat summarizes one reason people choose to enter the acting profession. It is a series of clever monologues about acting and the pros and cons of having, or trying to have, an acting career.

The public is invited to attend the festival free of charge on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 6 and 7 at the traditional PBJC curtain time of 8:14 p.m.

For information about the public performances, call the Duncan Theatre box office at 439-8141.

February Book Reviews

Watson B. Duncan, III, Distinguished Chairman of Arts and Letters, will open his February series of book reviews with a review of "Dancing On My Grave" by Gelsey Kirkland Feb. 6.

The annual literary lecture series is now in its 31st season, with the reviews taking place every Friday at 3 p.m. in the Woman's Club Building, 105 S. Flagler Drive, West Palm Beach. A $3 donation benefits PBJC scholarships.

"Dancing On My Grave" is a candid and searing self-portrait of America's most dazzling ballerina--an autobiography which sends shock waves through the entire theatrical world.

Feb. 13--"Victorian Love Story: Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett" is a literary lecture by Duncan. The true story of a perfect conjugal love, it is ideal for Valentine week.

Feb. 20--"My Father, My Son" by Admiral Elmo Zumwalt, Jr. and his son, Lieutentant Elmo Zumwalt, III. This is a story of a remarkable American family that faced tragedy with courage, wisdom, humor, compassion and dignity.

Feb. 27--"The Great Getty: The Life and Loves of J. Paul Getty, Richest Man in the World" by Robert Lenzner. The book is a riveting account of an enigmatic life and its turbulent aftermath, and is absolutely chilling, like watching a cobra devour the world.

National Community College Month

February has been designated as National Community College Month by The American Association of Community and Junior Colleges and the Association of Community College Trustees.

A general report notes that Florida has the sixth highest community college enrollment in the country, with student enrollment at 222,240.

The community college system has been lauded by national leaders, such as Thomas (Tip) O'Neill, former Speaker of the House, who said:

"Fifty years ago, this country was divided between two classes: the wealthy and the poor. Today, our country is dominated by a great middle class. The biggest reason for this is education. Because of vital community colleges....millions of Americans have been given the opportunity not just to train themselves but also to become knowledgeable in the full range of human experience. Our country can be proud of this wonderful achievement. No other land in the world has made such a broad commitment to intellectual and economic opportunity."

Fitness Fun-A-Thon

First Union Bank is sponsoring the Fourth Annual Fitness Fun-A-Thon to benefit the American Lung Association Saturday, Feb. 7 at the PBJC gym. Qualified instructors from area fitness centers will lead participants in three hours of exercise.

To participate, a minimum of $25 in donations must be raised. The exercise enthusiast who collects the highest amount of donations wins a Challenge International air fare for two to Jamaica with a week's vacation at the Club Caribbean.

For more information, contact Kathy Andio at the American Lung Association, 659-7644.

Announcement

The deadline for volunteer groups and organizations to register their participation in the Sixth Annual International Festival is Friday, Feb. 6. For more information, contact John Townsend in Continuing Education, 8006.

When In Doubt, Mumble

James H. Boren, lecturer, author and noted humorist, will be on campus for a special appearance Wednesday, Feb. 11, 7-8:30 p.m. in the Allied Health Lecture Hall on Central campus.

Boren has authored When in Doubt, Mumble and Fuzzify. He is president of the "International Association of Professional Bureaucrats" and has been likened to Jonathan Winters in style.

A sample of his unique philosophy:
*Nothing is Impossible Until It is Sent to Committee
*It's Hard to Look Up to a Leader Who Keeps His Ear to the Ground
*Bureaucrats are the Only People Who Can Say Absolutely Nothing, and Mean It.
*If You Are Going to be Phoney, Be Sincere About It.

Admission to the lecture will be $5 at the door. For more information, contact John Townsend at 8006.

Position Classification Questionnaires

In view of the fact that the position classification questionnaires were sent out several days late, it will be acceptable to extend the return date. Therefore, the deadline date for receiving completed forms in the Personnel Office will be extended from Tuesday, Feb.3 to Friday, Feb. 6.

Those personnel who received the administrative/managerial form should note that their forms also need to be given to their administrative supervisors for further information before being returned to the Personnel Office by Feb. 6. ...Joseph M. Schneider

PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 9 February 9, 1987

"I Musici da Camera"

Major New Orchestra In Residence Here

A new musical organization with an unusual name and an important role was launched Monday afternoon at Palm Beach Junior College where "I Musici da Camera" will be in residence.

The 29-piece string orchestra sponsored by Sun Bank and the college will not be in competition with any exhisting musical organization in South Florida.

It will play the great repertoire of chamber music ("I Musici da Camera" translates The Chamber Music) presently not being heard in live performance here.

Thomas Tsaggaris, conductor of the new orchestra, through a special arrangement with the musicians unions, has been able to select the best string players from the entire South Florida area.

Explaining to a press conference Monday at PBJC Central, Tsaggaris said that unions are extremely interested in advancing the cause of good music in the community, and view the new professional orchestra as a definite step forward.

Sun Bank spokesmen said the bank is dedicated to the idea that "if you build your community, it will build you."

The bank has committed $30,000 for the first season as seed money.

Tsaggaris, a native New Yorker with a distinguished career as violinist and conductor in the New York metropolitan area, moved to Florida in 1980 and became the founding conductor of the Greater Palm Beach Symphony in that year.

He is founder and first violinist if I Classici, a small chamber music group also

Excitement At Central

The quiet business meeting being conducted by Dr. Howard Reynolds in his office on the west side of the gymnasium at PBJC Central was rudely interrupted Wednesday afternoon by a loud crash.

Glancing over his head, Howard saw leaves flying. Leaping up on some furniture, he saw that a large car had rammed into the side of the building.

The driver, Dorothy Eriebe, seemed dazed, so Howard called paramedics, who took her to a hospital for a check. Witnesses said the car went accross the curb and completely through a small tree before striking the building with enough force to buckle the wall behind Howard's desk.

At Monday report deadline, Security was still waiting for a report on the elderly driver's condition and on damage estimates.

Nuclear Arms Race Panel

The effect of the nuclear arms race on today's youth will be the topic of a panel discussion sponsored by the Peace Education Center and the Palm Beach Committee for Social Responsibility, Thursday, Feb. 19 in the Allied Health Lecture Hall at 12 noon.

Several faculty and students will participate in the panel. The public is invited. For more information, contact Dr. Richard Yinger, Social Science Teacher and Director of the Center, 8045.

based at PBJC Central, and is a violin instructor at Florida Atlantic University and PBJC

Tsaggaris said that smaller chamber groups (quartets, quintets, etc.) will be formed from the 29 members of the full orchestra.

Two concerts have been announced for the initial season, both at the Watson B. Duncan III Theatre at PBJC Central.

Pianist Ken Noda, playing Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 1 will be featured on Feb. 28.

The orchestra will also play works by Vivaldi, Rossini and Mozart.

The orchestra's musical director, famed cellist Giorgio Ricci, and his equally famous violinist brother, Ruggiero, will be guest soloists on March 18.

Vivaldi's "The Four Seasons" will be the featured work in this concert.

Over 1,100 fairgoers entered the contest for six semester hours of free tuition.

Many new alumni signed in and the teddy bear was a crowd pleaser.

The winners of the six semesters are : Lydia Caso of Pahokee, Jerome Brown (a current PBJC student) of Lake Worth, Linda Smith of Jupiter, Theresa Chappel of West Palm Beach and E.J. Knott of Delray Beach.

Debra wants to extend a special thanks to the volunteer staff, faculty, the black student union, student government and Phi Theta Kappa.

Express Term Registration Begins February 16

Express Term registration gets underway just one week from today, so it is definitely time to begin to talk to anyone who might benefit from it.

Flyers on 8½ by 14 paper, and larger, card stock posters with a list of courses are available for anyone who can use them. Call the News Bureau at 8076.

Flyers with dates only were ready for the beginning of the South Florida Fair, and the course flyers were there for the last three days. They proved to be one of the more popular handouts.

If you know anyone who is interested in learning Word Processing, but works during the day, there are two classes at PBJC North -- Word Processing I and II -- from 6:00 to 9:15 p.m., just at the right time of day for the working learner.

There are plenty of people who would be interested in that opportunity if they knew about it.

Black History Project

Palm Beach Junior College South will begin an oral history project focused on the black history of Delray Beach, according to Clement T. Imhoff, Social Science Instructor.

The college is interested in discovering people who have a personal knowledge of the history of the black population of this area.

"We are looking for people, or people who know someone who has some historical knowledge of the black community in Delray Beach." Imhoff said.

Imhoff is interested in preserving the history of the community through audio tapes. The information will be verified and used to assemble a more accurate account of the formation of the black society in Delray Beach.

If you have any information about the black community in the area, or know a contact person, call 338-2203 and leave a message for Clement Imhoff. He may be reached in person on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8 a.m. to 12 noon.

Institute Of Government

Dealing with Angry People or How to Keep Your Cool, is the title of a one-day seminar offered through the PBJC Institute of Government, Wednesday, Feb. 18 in Dining Room A & B at the Burt Reynolds Student Center at North.

The seminar will begin at 9 a.m. and last until 4 p.m. The fee is $40 for Florida residents and $42 for non-residents.

Students will have the opportunity to view themselves on video-tape and role-play the correct method of dealing with angry people.

Other areas that will be discussed include: recognizing different kinds of angry people, the two-step technique recommended for use with a disgruntled citizen, what can be positive about complaints, and the hirarchy of needs.

Over 400 Items

Annual Auction Feb. 25 At PBJC Central

Over 400 items--all used, some outmoded, some fairly new but not useable by the college--will be sold at absolute auction at Palm Beach Junior College Wednesday morning, Feb. 25.

The annual auction has "the largest number of of items I can remember," according to Dick Jones, purchasing director, who has arranged all of these auctions at the college.

Original prices of the items ranged from $6,274.54 for an IBM printer to $25 for a square table.

The items have become surplus for many reasons. Typical might be 12 Spirit Masters, some shopworn, but some fairly new. Recent regulations make it necessary to construct vented hoods where these are used, making it uneconomical for the college to continue to use them.

"For a small church, or some other organization just getting started, these might be effective duplicators," Jones said.

Included in the list of items are 60 Commodore micro computers, formerly used for teaching but now outmoded by technological advance. There are many other items of computer hardware--terminals, printers, disc drives.

Items vary greatly--there are 18 typewriters, two of them manual, one of them an electronic "smart" typewriter, and the others in between.

There are four electronic pianos, four uprights, two organs, and one oboe. There are chairs, desks, calculators, microphones, cameras, and a dental autoclave.

The auction begins at 9:30 a.m. at PBJC Central, near General Receiving and the Physical Plant, with inspection from 8:30 onward. PBJC employeees are encouraged to bid for any items they can use.

Sign Up For Lotus 1-2-3

Just in time for the beginning of registration for the Express Term today, approval has been granted for two new sections to be added.

Now students will have the opportunity of learning Lotus 1-2-3 by enrolling in CAP 1802, Electronic Spreadsheets 1, on Mondays, 4:15 to 6:15 p.m. or 6:30-8:30 p.m. at PBJC Central.

Central has recently acquired new hardware, and this has been the first time it has been possible to offer instruction in the popular and versatile Lotus 1-2-3 software at Central.

Preliminary indications of interest in the Express Term have been good, but now is the time to remind anyone interested that they can register for one of the eight-week courses beginning Mar. 5.

Drama Festival Winners

The Thirteenth Annual High School Drama Festival attracted the participation of nine area schools.

The best actor award went to Sean Stomski of Santaluces Community High School in one of the award winning plays, University, for his role as Marty.

John I. Leonard High School students received an award for their production of Barnum.

A play entitled Who? based on a 1960's rock concert produced by Lake Worth High School students received the third award for winning plays.

The best actress award went to Heather Martin of Cardinal Newman High School for her part as Fairy Mary in The Curious Savage.

Musical Play At Dolly Hand

The musical play Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat will be performed at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center on the Glades Campus of Palm Beach Junior College Friday, Feb. 27 at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $12 and are available through the box office.

"This is an energetic show with lots of enthusiasm," Judy Schiele said. The story is based on the biblical story of the coat of many colors.

Schiele said the staging and the costumes are colorful and the music is delightful. For more information or reservations, contact the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 996-3055, or after 7 p.m., call 996-7529.

The play is set in 1950 in the Eastern Province of South Africa. A simple setting with three actors was all that was needed to unfold a touching story of love, hate, racism and the struggle between classes.

The performance was well attended by students and several faculty and staff members. Most of the seats on the first level of the theatre were taken and several students were seated in the balcony.

The dialogue had the audience laughing, some crying, and at one point, applauding. At the play's conclusion, most people attending stood and loudly applauded the superb performance of the Actor's Rep trio. ...Holly Delmas

A Look At The College Calendar

Like the weather and the course of the common cold, the Palm Beach Junior College calendar is easy to complain about and very hard to change.

There have been lots of complaints recently, principally about having to start back to work on Friday after the New Year's Day holiday.

The complaint is easy--doing something about it would have been very, very hard, perhaps impossible, unless you wanted to break a state law, not live up to a union contract, or bypass board of trustee's directives.

Student calendars and work calendars are put together by Dr. Elisabeth Erling, Joe Schneider and Charles Graham, with input from anybody who wants to have an input.

Here are some of the major things they must consider in putting together a calendar:

State rules and regulations
* We MUST schedule the first day of class in the first three workdays after Aug. 22, Jan. 4, and May 5.

* We MUST have 210 days of instruction during the year, excluding exams, (or 220 days including exams if you want to figure that way).

Faculty contract
* All privisions for 168, 198, and 210 day contracts must be observed.

* A complicating factor in recent years has been the three-day spring break.

Trustee's directives
* Holiday schedules for 12-month personnel (including the week between Christmas and New Year) need to be integrated into the calendar.

* Modified work-week in summer months is also a complicating factor.

Specifically, then, why did we have to come back to work on Friday, Jan. 2?

Because--all of the above for the Winter Term could not have been accomplished and still start the Spring Term on May 7 (last possible day) unless we started on Jan. 2.

If you are a real optimist, you can expect mankind to make a major breakthrough some day and do something about the weather--and maybe even cure the common cold.

But a college calendar that will please everyone? Don't hold your breath.

The Cambridge Experience

For the third consecutive summer, PBJC faculty and students will have the opportunity to experience the sights and sounds of England while attending the University of Cambridge.

One may earn Florida college credits in a wide range of subjects including English art and architecture, literature and drama, British society and politics, economics, and international relations.

Enrolled students of the Cambridge Summer Institute will attend lectures delivered by Cambridge faculty. However, they will meet each week with a tutorial advisor assigned to them from a Florida college or university who will guide and counsel them on preparing a final essay for each course taken.

Florida faculty will grade the essays and forward the grades to the students' respective Florida institutions.

In addition to the academics, students will have many activities to choose from during their free time. There will be tours of the English countryside and historic sites, musical concerts, Shakespearian plays, trips to London, together with many other choices.

Students will be housed in Cambridge dormitories and be served breakfast and dinner. The approximate cost of the session, including extra spending money, is $2,500 or less per student, depending on which term is selected.

Dr. Hugh Albee will represent PBJC as the tutorial advisor this summer. Interested students and faculty should contact him at 439-8144 or 439-8142 for further information.

Tax Deferred Annuities

At the January 21, 1987 meeting of the District Board of Trustees, one more company, United Resource Insurance Services, Inc., was authorized to underwrite 403(b) tax deferred annuities for college personnel.

For those personnel unfamiliar with 403(b) annuities, this program is similar in concept with Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA's). Because of the complexity of subject it would be impossible to offer advice to college personnel as to whether or not to participate, or which is the best program for those who elect to participate. The only role the college has in this program is to allow reductions from one's salary and to remit monies to the appropriate company consistent with established procedure.

At this time, about 15 percent of college personnel who are generally in middle to higher income brackets participate with one of the companies. In the past, a few companies have had most of the enrollees. However, several companies have only recently been authorized to provide such annuities to college staff.

The following is an alphabetical listing of the college approved companies and representatives.

Equitable--Richard Linn. Franklin --Irwin Katz. Great American Reserves--Ed Parmele, Jr. John Hancock -- Paul Dodds. National Western Life -- Frank J.Brennan. Prudential -- Theresa Scanlan. Travelers -- Kenneth Suchy. United Resources--Richard Scott Variable Annuity (VALIC) -- Susanne Perez. Western National -- Donald Hover.

Anyone considering such a program should understand that funds used for this purpose, while they may represent a fine long term investment, generally cannot be withdrawn without a significant penalty before retirement and a minimum time in the program. Since the programs are not equal, obtaining comparisons before making commitments is recommended...J.M.Schneider

The committee meets at least quarterly with the Director of Personnel to ensure open communication between classified staff and the administration. Copies of the minutes of meetings are sent to the President and Vice Presidents. ...J. M. Schneider

Carol Wershoven, a member of the PBJC South communications department, and her husband John Biays of Broward Community College have just signed a contract with McGraw-Hill to publish their textbook. The book, Literature: A Working Handbook, is a combination workbook/handbook that can be used in any class in which literature is taught and writing is required. It combines definitions, analysis and sample essays with exercises designed to teach students how to work through the process of writing about literature. Literature: A Working Handbook should be available in approximately ten months.

PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE
PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 11 February 23, 1987

Board Accepts Report

Drug Education For Athletes--But No Testing

No testing--but increased drug education for athletes--was the recommendation of Hamid Faquire, athletic director, at the February meeting of college trustees Wednesday at PBJC Glades.

Low Cost Ratio For Administration

A new study of administrative costs as a percentage of total expenditures shows Palm Beach Junior College with the third lowest ratio in a list of all community colleges in the state.

PBJC trustee Willard Findling, reporting on the Feb. 5 meeting of the State Board of Community Colleges, said the report lists only Seminole and Gulf Coast with lower ratios.

"Since we are larger than these two, and have multiple campuses," Findling said, "I think we can be proud of this accomplishment."

Findling also noted that two PBJC trustees, Lawrence Abramson and Elizabeth Wesley, have had their names withdrawn by the governor, and said that other community colleges have the same problem.

"Valencia has four trustees in limbo, and the state board, itself, has four," Findling said.

Abramson and Wesley will serve until May, as will Findling, whose normal, four-year term ends then. Prior to that time, Gov. Robert Martinez is expected to announce his choice for four year terms for these three seats.

Faquire told the board the NCAA appears to be on the verge of backing off its recommendation for testing, because very few athletes are involved in drug abuse. At PBJC, he said, there are no drug abuse problems.

The statement was challenged by Dr. Philip Lichtblau, board chairman, who said that without testing there was no way such an absolute statement could be made.

Faquire explained that the basis of his statement was the thorough knowledge each coach has of the players on his team, and said he believes any significant drug abuse would be detected by a coach.

After some explanation from Dr. Melvin Haynes, vice president for student affairs, of drug education programs already in place for all students at the college, the board accepted Faquire's report.

Dr. Patricia Dyer, vice president for academic affairs, suggested that health courses which are mandatory in many programs could be changed to include a strengthened segment on drug abuse, and board members indicated approval of this idea.

The board also accepted a proposed settlement of litigation stretching back to 1980 with the Lake Worth Utilities Authority and the City of Lake Worth.

Dr. Tony Tate, vice president for business affairs, explained that the cause of the dispute, a 10 percent surcharge on utility rates, had been withdrawn by the city in 1984, but that disposition of a court

Big Band Jazz Festival Is Wednesday

The Music Department of PBJC's Division of Humanities will host its annual "Big Band Jazz Festival" Wednesday in the new Watson B. Duncan Theatre.

A non-competitive event featuring jazz ensembles from eight area high schools in Palm Beach County, the festival begins at 6 p.m. and will continue until approximately 10:30. Admission is free.

Each ensemble will play a thirty minute set with Twin Lakes High School director George Zoske opening the evening.

Other high schools participating (in order of appearance) are: Santaluces, directed by Matt Jensen; Forest Hill, directed by Dwane Earnhardt; Boca Raton under the direction of Harry Spyker; John I. Leonard directed by Ubaldo Montesino; Spanish River directed by Don Hill; Jupiter under the direction of Paul Boren; and Palm Beach Gardens directed by Wayne Miller.

The festival will conclude with a performance by PBJC's Jazz Ensemble directed by Sy Pryweller.

Festival director Pryweller says that this is a fine opportunity for the public to hear some of the outstanding jazz ensembles in the Palm Beach County schools.

"A variety of big band music is always performed and each school has the opportunity of hearing bands from other schools," Pryweller says. "Every band seems to play their best for what is usually a packed house of listeners."

A special feature of this year's festival will be the participation of professional musicians from the South Florida area who will be listening and writing helpful comments for each band's improvement.

South Campus Students Visit Legislators

Student volunteers at South Campus have begun a series of visits to state lawmakers to inform them of the accomplishments and needs of Palm Beach Junior College.

The student representatives, in groups of three, are meeting with state leaders to tell them how much they have gained from their time at PBJC and why legislative support is crucial if the college is to continue to serve the community. Initially, two dozen students of varying backgrounds, academic goals and ages have volunteered to participate in the visits.

Each student is prepared to recount their personal college success story as an example of the college's impact on the community. Each group also goes armed with fact sheets about PBJC and a list of future college plans that need legislative support.

In the next two weeks, student groups will visit State Senators Eleanor Weinstock and Don Childers and State Representatives Steve Press and Carol Hanson. Visits to other legislators are planned.

The students are South Campus members of Campus Action Political Committee (CAPC) and are working with Faculty CAPC members Clement Imhoff (chairman), Stafford Mooney, and Carol Wershoven. Their visits are designed to increase legislators' awareness of the college's need for millage funding and of the important role PBJC plays in meeting community educational needs.

As students who have experienced, first-hand, how the college can help them to succeed, they are convincing spokespersons for PBJC--its most important "product"!

Beachcomber Editor Wins National Contest

Our own Ron Dupont, editor of the Beachcomber, was first place winner in an on-the-spot news-writing contest with about 50 of the best collegiate journalists in the country last weekend in Long Beach, Calif.

Ron was attending the National Conference of the Associated Collegiate Press and College Media Advisors. Most of those attending were from university newspapers, with only a sprinkling from community colleges.

The contest occurred Friday afternoon and evening. The writers were to report on one or all of the five speakers on the afternoon program, turning in the finished story at 9 a.m. the next day.

"My experience at the Beachcomber and at the Town Crier really paid off," Ron says. "At break time, I was the first reporter up there interviewing the speakers.

"Then, after the speeches, I was the only reporter interviewing students to get their reactions."

Finally, after using the portable Beachcomber computer to do his writing, Ron got hold of the night hotel manager at 3 a.m. so he could turn in his copy typewritten. He believes it was the only typewritten copy turned in.

Although he could not stay for the judging, Ron heard by telephone Tuesday that he had won--the first community college student ever to win this contest.

"They told me I would get a plaque and a certificate, and something else," Ron said. "I hope the something else is either cash or a scholarship!"

Faculty Research Questionnaires

A project has been underway at Florida International University for some time past compiling a comprehensive database of faculty and staff research in Florida's universities and colleges.

Earlier questionnaires to complete for those researching in science and engineering were announced. At this time, Phase II questionnaires for researchers in Social Science, Law, Humanities (Including Communications), Business, Economics and Education are available in my office.

They are to be completed and forwarded directly to the STAC (Southern Technology Applications Center) Office.

ordered escrow account which had grown tc nearly $200,000 remained in dispute.

The settlement was essentially to divide the escrow account 50/50 with some modifications. Dr. Tate reported that Lake Worth commissioners had accepted the proposal. The trustees also accepted.

After considerable discussion, the board accepted with some minor modifications a plan proposed by trustee Willard Findling for insurance and a deferred annuity for the president.

Among personnel items was the planned retirement, June 30, of Kenan Foley, Program Manager for the Center for Personalized Instruction, after 21 years of service to the college.

Also noted was the resignation of Dr. Kathleen Aiello, Senior Coordinator of Continuing Education. Dr. Eissey explained that Kathy, a recent mother for the second time, had discovered upon returning after a year's maternity leave that she wished to continue a full-time career in the home.

PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE
PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Classes Begin Thursday

Express Term Enrollment Is Looking Good

Counting through last Wednesday, Express Term enrollment had reached 291 individuals enrolled for 375 class positions. Although exact comparisons are not available, enrollment at this point compares well with prior Express Terms.

Introducing Our New Trustee

A successful attorney, an assistant to the State Athletic Commission to regulate boxing, a real estate salesman, father, former theater major, business management major and graduate of Forest Hill High School, Lawrence Abramson is our newest trustee.

Abramson was appointed by former Gov. Bob Graham to complete the unfinished part of George Michaels' term. He will be serving on the board of trustees until the term expires in May. Abramson said that he does wish to be considered for a full term on the board.

"I have a strong interest in seeing that

We have already passed the total number of last year's Winter Express Term when 230 students enrolled. We still had a week to go after last Wednesday.

A breakdown by campuses for number of individuals enrolled this year shows Central 162, North 57, Glades 36 and South 36. Number of class positions break down to Central 189, North 80, Glades 63 and South 43.

The strong showing in the Glades is almost entirely due to two classes at GCI, where 27 are enrolled in each class.

It is interesting to note that 181 of the 291 students enrolled so far are students who are new to the college. If this ratio continues, it will be higher than that of prior Express Terms.

Factors which might account for the higher number of new students would include a modest, but apparently effective, advertising campaign, an unusual interest from the public at the South Florida Fair booth, and the increasing knowledge among our own faculty and staff of the availability of this entry point during the college year.

The last factor is probably the most important.

As advertised, Express Term classes will begin Mar. 5, with one small exception.

Classes scheduled for Thursday evening will not begin Mar. 5, but on the next scheduled class meeting. Since regular

Duncan Book Reviews For March

Our Distinguished Chairman of Arts and Letters, Watson B. Duncan, III, has announced the last of the 1987 season of his famed book reviews at the Women's Club on South Flagler Dr. in West Palm Beach.

Beginning Mar. 6 and every Friday through Mar. 27 at 3 p.m., Duncan will present a new book review for his 31st Annual Literary Lecture Series. A $3 donation is collected for PBJC scholarships.

The reviews are as follows:

Mar. 6 "Life Wish" by Jill Ireland. This book is an emotional roller-coaster that will have you laughing, crying, and cheering--a brave and witty account of a battle for life.

Mar. 13 "On Acting" by Laurence Olivier. This is a rare book in which a complete master of his craft explains in captivating detail what makes a great actor. An extraordinary glimpse into the mind, the soul, the heart of an actor.

Mar. 20 ""Ike: His Life and Times" by Piers Brendon. This is a revealing new biography of the man the author calls "the most enigmatic character ever to occupy the White House."

Mar. 27 "Look Homeward: A Life of Thomas Wolfe" by David H. Donald. The book is a classical portrait in which Professor Donald captures the talent and the chaos, the beauty and the squalor of Thomas Wolfe's life and work.

LATE PERSONAL The college auction last Wednesday was a great success, due to the efforts of several employees. I would like to thank Purchasing's Nancy Biskupiak and Jean Hool, and special thanks to Mary Ann Reasner. In addition, several members of Physical Plant contributed their time and hard work. They are: Bruce Boden, Frank Bollon, Louis Borgus, Bob Clapsaddle, Al George, Dan Hoffman, Tom Kemmis, Jake Kirkhart, Sam Schillage and Roy Tonge.

all aspects of the educational system are in the position to meet the needs of our growing community," Abramson stated on his application for the appointment. "The best way to insure that the standards of education are maintained is to be involved."

Abramson attended Tulane University in New Orleans, Franklin Pierce College in Rindge, New Hampshire, and Franklin Pierce Law Center in Concord, New Hampshire.

In 1985, he opened his own private law practice on Forest Hill Blvd. He is active in the Palm Beach County Bar Association, the Florida Bar Association, is a member of the New York Bar Association, and the B'nai B'rith organization.

Abramson has lived in Palm Beach County a total of 16 years, and as a proud parent, he is looking forward to watching his two children attend area schools. Daughter Emily should be ready to enroll at PBJC in 2001, and daughter Kate in 2004.

Summary of Faculty Questionnaire

The President expressed an interest in having faculty become more involved in the planning process. Consequently, a memorandum was sent to 188 unit members requesting their assistance in determining the concerns of the faculty by listing five most important issues ranked in order of priority, number one being the most important. Since the President has been and still is committed to higher salary/benefits for all personnel, faculty were asked not to include this issue as part of their response.

A total of 74 or 39 per cent of the unit members responded. The results are offered below:

Academic Calendar.

This issue was the concern of 19 respondents. Some of the comments included were:

When planning a calendar, do not end a session on Monday or start on Friday, or the last day before a holiday not being on Monday or report back on Friday.

Returning on the last day of a week is unnecessary and demoralizing.

Why come Friday when class schedule not available before the following Tuesday.

PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE
PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 13 March 9, 1987

Unaminous Vote

Senate Education Committee Passes Millage Bill

The Senate Education Committee unanimously endorsed the five-year half-mill referendum for Palm Beach Junior College in Tallahassee Wednesday.

Sen. Don Childers, who has supported bills to allow such a referendum for the past two years as a member of the local delegation, used his new position as chairman of the committee to move the bill earlier than usual for a local bill.

"I just felt it was necessary that we give all the opportunity we can to the college by getting it through the Senate as soon as possible," Childers said, "so they can work on getting it through the House."

Childers is also a member of the Senate budget committee, another key to passage of the bill.

The bill does not impose the tax. It does give the college the opportunity of asking the people of the county to vote for the levy. Funds would be used for buildings, equipment, renovations and repairs, including site improvement.

The Senate Bill, SB 86, must also be approved by the Rules, Appropriations and Finance, and Tax committees before coming to the full Senate.

A similar gauntlet must be run through the House, where Rep. Ray Liberti has filed a similar bill. Liberti has also filed a bill which would allow all 28 community colleges to hold similar elections in their districts.

Speaking at the Senate committee hearing, Clark Maxwell, executive director of the State Board of Community Colleges, predicted that other community colleges will make similar requests if the PBJC bill

Dr. Kimmel Appointed By Gov. Martinez

The article in last week's Monday Report welcoming Lawrence Abramson as a trustee managed to get in just under the wire. One day afterward, local newspapers carried stories about the appointment of Dr. Bernard Kimmel to our board by Gov. Bob Martinez.

Inquiry to the governor's office established the fact that Dr. Kimmel's appointment was to the chair occupied by Abramson, who had been appointed late last year by then Gov. Bob Graham to fill the unexpired portion of the term of George Michael, who resigned.

That term would not expire until May, but appointments late in the term of one governor are frequently overturned by the successor, particularly when the successor is in a a different political party.

As this is written, it appears that Abramson will be a voting member through the March meeting of the board, with Kimmel as an observer at that meeting. It is not known how long this arrangement will continue.

Kimmel's appointment will be welcomed by many on the staff at PBJC, who know him either as a former chairman of the school board, or in his latest public position as a member of the legislture.

As a school board member and chairman, Kimmel displayed soundness of judgment, independence of thought, the ability to absorb complex issues and get to the heart of the matter,

A Creative Approach To Motivation

Dr. Don Rapp, Professor of Human Development from Florida State University, will present an entertaining workshop on motivation Thursday, Mar. 12.

Rapp uses a combination of a juggling act and discussion to symbolize his realistic philosophy of motivation. Refreshments will be served 30 minutes before each of the workshops, which will be presented in the Food Services Center from 9:30-11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 3:30.

For more information, or to make a reservation, contact Dr. Haynes at 8050. Dr. Rapp's appearance is sponsored by SPD funds.

Photo Directories will be distributed this week. In anticipation of the usual flood of negative reactions, the news bureau would like to remind everyone that the method of reproduction saves several thousand dollars at the expense of quality. The book is meant to be useful rather than ornamental.

The following additional points need to be made.

* It is late because our one graphic artist was totally occupied with the opening of the Duncan Theatre, the President's Report and several other major projects in October-November when the photo directory should be produced.

* If you are unhappy with the photo used, call Sharon Haveard to make arrangements for a different photo. Do not call merely to complain. Do call if you are interested enough to do something about it.

* Changes in titles and positions have changed so rapidly that there will probably be errors in information. Call Sharon at 8077 if you wish a correction in future directories.

A Turning Point In Music History

The first performance of our new orchestra-in residence, I Musici de Camera , was a turning point in the history of music in this county. Sun Bank, the college, the advisors, the trustees, the director and the musicians are all to be congratulated for filling a real musical need here, and filling it magnificently.

The music Saturday evening, Feb. 28, at the Duncan Theatre, was delightful. It was a great pleasure to listen to local orchestra with professional standards high enough to allow you to relax and simply enjoy the music. It has not always been so in this area. We have paid, and paid, and paid for our lack of training of string players in public schools.

By selecting the best from a three-county area, Thomas Tsaggaris has shown us how to stop paying. I Musici da Camera, with very little rehearsal time, played music of a quality that should make us all proud.

The ensemble--the togetherness--of Tsaggaris and his 30 players was phenomenal, considering that this was their first performance. It constantly improved throughout the evening, with one exception.

When woodwinds, brass and tympani were added for the Beethoven Piano Concerto, there was a noticeable drop. A few entrances were ragged. The brass, particularly the horns, were not sounding fully at the exact moment of the attack.

Ken Noda, the young pianist, was clearly an excellent technician, and played with feeling and even a bit of passion here and there during solo passages. The concerto as a whole, however, was competent and careful rather than brilliant and daring. It appeared to be about one more rehearsal away from the level achieved by the rest of the performance.

Perhaps the lack of daring in the concerto was traceable to the placement of the piano. It was too far forward on stage and much too close to center stage. Tsaggaris had to turn almost 180 degrees to get eye contact with Noda.

Musicians are notoriously poor at staging, and this concert lacked visual appeal. Ken Noda is good looking, with a great mane of black hair which he shakes virorously, and flying fingers on the keyboard. None of this was utilized.

There was no special lighting for the soloist, no background lighting for the orchestra, no attempt to do any kind of staging for orchestral soloists or for the conductor. We have been spoiled by television--but some attempt should be made to add more visual appeal.

These small disappointments aside, this was an auspicious debut, made even more memorable by a sophisticated style of conducting which does not engage in the vigorous and often totally unnecessary arm and baton waving indulged in by prima donna conductors.

Tsaggaris sets entrances, tempo, mood, and the nature of a phrase immediately, an then, when everything is proceeding well, turns his attention elsehwere. When you have reached the level of professionalism attained by the members of this orchestra, you do not need a human metronome.

If you plan to attend the second concert of our wonderful new orchestra, be sure and get your ticket early. A totally enthusiastic audience Saturday is sure to spread the word about the quality of music I Musici da Camera is capable of producing. ...Jonathan Koontz

Hardwick-Albee Piano Duo In Concert Tuesday

Another first for the Duncan Theatre will be the Tuesday, March 10 Hardwick-Albee Piano Duo playing matching nine-foot Steinway concert grands. Starting at 8 p.m., the concert is presented by the music faculty of the Palm Beach Junior College Division of Humanities.

The program includes works especially composed for two pianos by Poulenc, Debussy, Rachmaninoff, and Stravinsky. Opening the concert will be Poulenc's "Sonate our Deux Pianos" followed by "Suite No. 2, Opus 17" by Sergei Rachmaninoff. "En Blanc et Noir pour Deux Pianos" by Claude Debussy and three movements from "Petrouchka" by Igor Stravinsky will conclude the evening.

From New York City, the Hardwick-Albee Piano Duo first began playing together at the Chautauqua Festival in upstate New York. They have continued to make concert appearances throughout the United States while pursuing individual career paths.

Cheryl Hardwick studies piano at Chatham College in Pittsburgh and also at the Juilliard School in New York. Working primarily as a composer and arranger for films, television, and the Broadway stage, she currently serves as composer and arranger for "Sesame Street" and as Music Director for "Saturday Night Live" where she also appears in the "Saturday Night Live" band playing piano and synthesizer.

Hardwick's movie score arrangements and orchestrations include "Places in the Heart," "Easy Money", "Videodrum", and "After Hours." She has acted as Music Director and arranger for many popular music artists including Bette Midler, George Benson, Lorna Luft, and Patti La Belle.

Jeananne Albee graduated from the Juilliard School where she was a full scholarship student studying with Madame Rosina Lhevinne and Martin Canin. A winner of many national competitions, including the Merriweather Post National Competition, Albee made her professional debut at age 12 with the Buffalo Philharmonic.

Among the many orchestras with which she has appeared as soloist are the Lisbon Radio Symphony, the Chautauqua and Aspen Festival Orchestras, the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra and the National Symphony in Washington, D.C. She currently performs with a variety of chamber music groups in New York City and as an accompanist for Twyla Tharp Dance Company and the New York City Ballet.

Tickets for the concert are $7 for adults and $4 for students. For more information, call the theatre box office at 439-8141. ...Sarah Shelley

Dr. Eissey was in Tallahassee last week. By the time you read this, he will have had a meeting with House Speaker Jon Mills, who will be a key figure in determining whether the bill will progress through the House.

Mills has urged a statewide moratorium on creation or expansion of special taxing districts, but it is hoped that the PBJC bill can escape this general moratorium.

Winter Express Term Is The Largest Ever

The Winter Express Term has been underway since Thursday, and once again, it is the largest ever, keeping intact a record of increase each time the Express Term has been offered.

Although a few decisions about classes still remain to be made as this is written, we have clocked in 421 students taking 539 class positions, up from the previous record in the Fall Term of 361 and 529, and much higher than the 230 and 259 of a year ago.

It appears that 16, and possibly 17 of the 19 classes offered at Central will make, eight of 14 at North, three of six at South, and four of six at Glades.

Only at Glades is this a significant portion of overall enrollment, but the total number of SSH's will add at least a small blip to our annual chart.

The most encouraging figure in the print out is the 280 new students, enrolling at PBJC for the first time.

Eternal Education-- The Price Of Survival

On page 2 of this Monday Report is a comparison between the State Board of Community Colleges' 1987/88 budget request and the same items from the proposed budget of Gov. Bob Martinez.

The total increase of $81 million versus $19 million is interesting, but the three items we have bold-faced are where the real action is for most of us.

It would be easy to get angry about this. Here is a governor who campaigned for education, and is supposed to be providing a seven percent increase for K-12 teacher salaries--who is providing us with NOTHING.

Being a bit upset may be a good idea here, but being angry would not. Here's why:

* Many governor's budgets start this way and get changed by the legislature.

* We have here the actions of a new governor, with new advisors.

* They need education about the facts of community college budgeting.

* They also need a little educating about the clout of community college voting.

Last year the state board, FACC, and we here at home did our best job ever of informing the legislature and the governor of the long-standing inequity in the funding of community colleges.

When the dust cleared, we had gained very little of our lost ground back, if any--but we had come through with more than we had been getting in recent years.

The chart on page 2 should be an alert to us. The education of governors and legislators must begin again after every election. We cannot, ever, rest on our laurels. If we try that, we will wind up on our duffs instead of our laurels.

Lobbying will be a fact of life from now on until we change our form of government. It behooves us to get good at it, and stay active at it, or consign ourselves to perpertual third class citizenship.

The state board and FACC deserve our continuing, enthusiastic support.

A word to a legislator is a good idea. If you feel moved to write a personal letter to the governor, by all means do so. Now or in the future.

Just don't get so angry at the new kid on the block that you punch him out before he gets a chance to learn the ropes.

Take it easy for the time being. Then, if he doesn't learn, let him have it!

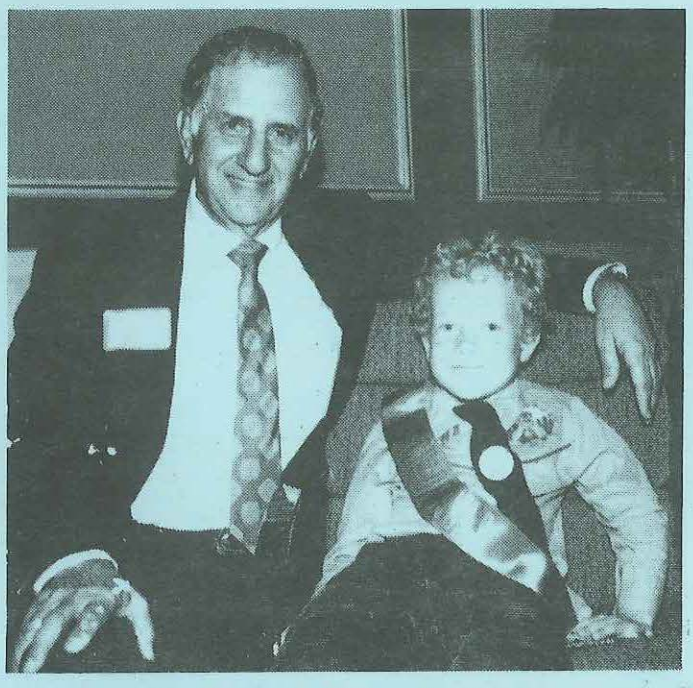
WalkAmerica Has A PBJC Connection This Year

WalkAmerica, the national March of Dimes fund raising event which raised over $33 million nationwide, has scheduled its Palm Beach County walk on April 4, beginning at 8:30 a.m. at PBJC Central.

If you would like to take a 20 kilometer stroll--or any sizeable fraction thereof--for a worthy cause through John Prince Park on a Saturday morning, this is for you. Walkers get pledges from friends for kilos walked, and then collect for March of Dimes.

If you don't like walking all that much, the March of Dimes is looking for volunteers to manthe seven checkpoints and for other purposes, and would appreciate a call at 684-0102.



Dr. Eissey And Terry Lockhart

There are all kinds of awards, including gift certificates at some checkpoints, T-shirts, an appreciation dinner for all walkers turning in $250 or more, and special awards for largest team, most money raised, largest new team, family award, and club memberships.

March of Dimes is expecting 2,000 entrants this year, and already has signed up 100 teams, 30 percent more than last year. Entry forms with all information are at 7-11 Stores, Atlantic Federal and Barnett Banks.

Dr. Eissey has already done his bit for WalkAmerica. He was host for the kick-off event and had the privilege of posing for a photo with Terry Lockhart, the poster child for Palm Beach County.

I Musici Da Camera Presents Concert Wednesday

A brother combination rarely if ever equalled in classical music history will be the guest artists for the second concert of the new chamber music orchestra, I Musici da Camera Wednesday at the Duncan Theatre.

Each of the brothers, Ruggiero and Giorgio Ricci, made his debut at an early enough age to be called a child prodigy, and continued on into a distinguished international career, Ruggiero as a violinist and Giorgio as a cellist.

Ruggiero made his debut at the age of 10 in San Francisco's Scottish Rite Hall. In a typical season, he will perform an almost equal number of solo recitals, concerti with orchestra, and recitals with the piano. He has perhaps the broadest repertoire of any living violinist.

He has recorded more of the repertoire than any other artist. In 1985 alone, his releases ranged from 12 Vivaldi Sonatos to the Barber and Menotti Concerti.

Giorgio made his Carnegie Hall debut at the age of 12 with the National Symphony. He has made solo appearances with every major orchestra in the United States and has given several Carnegie Hall recitals. He records for Stradivarius, Vox, and Heritage labels, and was solo cellist for the American Broadcasting Company Orchestra for many years.

Giorgio now resides in Boca Raton, and has agreed to be artistic consultant for I Musici da Camera.

The new orchestra-in-residence at Palm Beach Junior College is sponsored by Sun Bank and is composed of 30 professional musicians selected from all southeast Florida by Thomas Tsaggaris, conductor.

Wednesday's concert will open at 8 p.m. with Purcell's Dramatic Suite.

Giorgio Ricci will play Hayden's Cello Concerto in D Major.

Tickets for the March 18 concert are $10 for balcony seating, $15 for orchestra seating, and $30 for patron seating. PBJC students and staff members pay $5 for balcony tickets and $8 for orchestra seating.

For nearly nine years, we at PBJC have been favored with the ready smile, the energy and enthusiasm, the professional teaching skill, and the occasional fascinating glimpse into the culture of Thailand provided us by the presence on our campuses--Central and North--of Dr. Kamthorn Sukumarabandhu. These favored years came to an end Saturday, Mar. 7, when Dr. Kam died at the age of 51.

Dr. Kam had not been recovering as well as his friends had hoped following the serious coronary problems he had on Nov. 6, 1986. He would gain ground for a while, only to suffer another setback.

Those of us who knew of his condition are not surprised by his death, but we are saddened by it. It is not easy to think that a colleague so young is gone--that the happy spirit and the cheerful laughter will no longer be a part of our lives, except in memory.

It is good that he will not be forced to live a long, non-productive life in constant ill-health. Dr. Kam would have hated that.

It is best, then, that we say that long and melodious name one more time in a salute to his memory, and let him go in peace. ...Jonathan Koontz

Minority Scholarships At South

PBJC South has awarded 11 black students with the first minority academic scholarships.

The scholarship was a grant developed last summer by Dr. Harris McGirt through the Vice President of Academic Affairs, Dr. Patricia A. Dyer, with funding originating from EA/EO grant funds.

According to Dr. McGirt, the goals of the minority scholarships are threefold: to help with recruitment, retention, and academic motivation.

A committee of PBJC South faculty and students established the following criteria for scholarships: students with 2.5-2.99 GPA received $175; 3.0-3.49 received $250; and 3.5-4.0 received $325.

Personals

Dr. Art Noble, advisor to the Beachcomber, has been in Humana Hospital undergoing tests for the past few weeks. "Doc", as he is known around campus, is doing well, although they still are not certain of a release date. We wish Doc a speedy recovery and look forward to having him back on campus.

Congratulations to Herman Pride, a member of the Business faculty at PBJC North, who was selected as a contributing author to Creative Lectures, Volume I for Business Today, Fifth Edition by David J. Rachman and Michael H. Mescon. This is part of a new text book from the Business Division of Random House.

Nursing Career Day

Nursing students who will be graduating this year will have an opportunity to contact 42 prospective employers at one time Thursday afternoon in the PBJC Central cafeteria.

Betty Morgan, Nursing Program Manager, says the annual Career Day has attracted far more employers than ever before, emphasizing the shortage of nurses in the area.

Tables will be set up in the south end of the cafeteria for hospitals, clinics, HMO's and other health organizations from noon to 3:30 p.m.

"All of our nurses who want jobs will have their choice of several different positions," Morgan says.

Students who wish to train for some of the excellent jobs now available in the area still have an opportunity to apply for the Fall Term at PBJC, Morgan says.

"Because of the increased need for nurses, we will hold admissions open past their usual deadline until all possible positions have been filled," she said.

Dixieland Jazz At Duncan Theatre

The Florida Atlantic University Dixieland Band will be in concert at the Duncan Theatre tonight at 8 p.m. The FAU Dixieland Band won first place in national competition in mid-January.

After the first round of competition, which was held during the annual convention of the National Association of Jazz Educators, the member's of FAU's winning band were awarded individual monetary prizes. The group was also invited to play two concerts at the convention.

For more information about this exciting evening of jazz, please call the Duncan Theatre box office at 439-8141. Tickets will also be available at the door prior to the performance.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for full-time students and PBJC staff. All seating is general admission, and the doors will open one-half hour before curtain.

It's a boy for Lori and Marc Flamer--8 pounds, 9 ounces, and 22 3/4 inches long. (Miami Dolfans take note--a possible future draft choice?). Ryan Scott Flamer arrived Sunday, Mar. 8 at Good Samaritan, and both mother and son are now at home and doing well. There was a little more than usual interest in this event, since Lori is a full-time counselor at Central, while Marc works as a part-time evening counselor. One last note: Lori wants everyone to know that the college pool--picking the date and time of birth--unfortunately was not won by anyone here, but they did manage to keep it all in the family. Lori's step-father was declared the winner.

The paintings of Kathleen Holmes and sculpture of John Martino are now on display at the gallery in the first floor of the Humanities Building at Central. Holmes describes her paintings as "decorative and semi-abstract work, often with wit." Martino's sculptures are abstract relief sculpture and semi-abstract figures highlighted with bright colors. All staff and faculty are invited to view the works through Mar. 27.

PBJC art instructor Jim Houser will be giving a two-part lectureat the Society of the Four Arts Gallery, Mar. 28 at 3 p.m. Houser will cover the American Masters: Selections from the Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden, and Maurice Boutet de Monvel: Master of the French Picture Book. Contracts, Parking Fees, Health Insurance, Sabbaticals

Trustees Act On Many Different Subjects

PBJC Brass Ensemble In Concert Thursday

The Palm Beach Junior College Music Department, Division of Humanities, will present the PBJC Brass Ensemble in a concert Thursday, Mar. 26 at 8 p.m. The Sounds of Brass will feature 25 brass instrumentalists performing music from the 16th through the 20th century.

The concert will open with music for double brass choir by Giovanni Grabrieli.

"The sound of antiphonal music," says Sy Pryweller, conductor of the group, 'Was popular at St. Mark's Cathedral in 16th century Venice. The architecture of that church provided for a spatial orientation of the music, which resulted in a magnificent 'stereophonic' sound rarely equaled. Hopefully, our theatre will do the same."

In addition to the Gabrieli work, the group will perform Alfred Reed's Symphony for Brass and Percussion, written in 1952, and utilizing the full potential sonorities of brass and percussion instruments.

A highlight of the evening will be the first appearance of the newly organized PBJC Jazz Ensemble, conducted by premier tromobone artist Arthur Sares. The six trombones and rhythm section will perform special arrangements of several standard tunes including "Here's That Rainy Day," featuring Sares.

The public is invited to attend the concert free of charge. No reservations are needed.

The board heard reports from three faculty members who had been on sabbatical leave and granted four more leaves.

The addenda were to the Zeidler Roberts contract for architectural services. The first addendum employed the local firm of Schwab and Twitty for post construction evaluation and inspections.

The second employed Artec Consultants, Inc., of New York City, described at the meeting as "the best in the business," as acoustics and theatre consultants.

The paragraph of the 13-page contract which defines the scope of the project reads that the facility shall include the following major elements:

A multi-purpose theatre of 2,200-2,400 seats.

A flat floor multi-purpose rehearsal/performance room.

A banquet/meeting/reception room with maximum capacity of 500 to 600 sit-down diners divisible into discrete spaces.

Food and beverage preparation and service facilities commensurate with the above major elements.

Parking Fees

Student parking fees will be increased as of the beginning of the Fall Term from $5 per year to $10--or $5 for each major semester, and $5 for the Spring/Summer combined. This is the first increase in

I Musici Da Camera Repeats A Smashing Success

Although other business intervened and this reviewer was unable to attend the first half of the second and final concert of the year by I Musici da Camera, every indication was that the second concert of our orchestra-in-residence repeated the smashing success of its debut.

Ruggiero Ricci's performance of Vivaldi's The Four Seasons displayed a great violinist in familiar, colorful music backed appropriately by our orchestra of the finest strings now playing in South Florida.

For me, the high points of the performance were in the slow and soft movements, when the singing tone of Ricci's Guarnerius could be at its mellow best.

The audience, which filled almost all of the seats in the Duncan, applauded so enthusiastically that the master violinist favored them with a solo encore displaying astonishing technical proficiency.

Sun Bank is to be congratulated for backing the first two performances of this extraordinary professional musical organization. It is to be hoped that other sponsors will appear to aid the bank in continuing and expanding this most worthwhile community service.

Dr. Wattenbarger Honored

Dr. James L. Wattenbarger, director of the Institute of Higher Education at the University of Florida, and an alumnus of Palm Beach Junior College, has been selected to receive the 1987 Leadership Award from the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges.

The award will be presented at the AACJC's Annual Convention banquet April 24 in Dallas.

The Leadership Award is presented annually to an individual who has attained national prominence for outstanding accomplishments and professional contributions to the community, technical, and junior college field. Nominations come from the chief executive officers of AACJC's member institutions.

Wattenbarger has maintained an association with Florida's community colleges since graduating from PBJC in 1941. He has been active as a consultant in more than 35 states as well as Puerto Rico and Colombia.

His doctoral dissertation, completed at the University of Florida, became the basis for the master plan of the Florida community college system.

He recently completed a term on AACJC Futures Commission, a blue-ribbon panel studying the developmental history of community colleges and making recommendations for the year 2000.

Headaches: A Search For Relief

The PBJC Division of Continuing Education will present a public educational program, Headaches: A Search For Relief Thursday, March 26 from 7-9 p.m. in AH 101 at the Central Campus.

Topics covered will include Anatomy and Physiology of Headaches; Migraine and Other Headaches and Biofeedback and Behavioral Treatment of Headaches. A question and answer period will follow the presentations.

Guest speakers include Henry Pevsner, M.D., Radiologist, University of Miami; Bernard Gran, M.D., Cedars of Labanon Headache Treatment Program, Miami; Doil Montgomery, Ph.D., Director Biofeedback Treatment Center, Fort Lauderdale; and Harold Levine, Secretary of the National Headache Foundation.

For further information, call 439-8011 or 439-8006. The program is free.

Town Meeting Focuses On Crime

A town meeting conducted by Rep. Dan Mica in the Allied Health Lecture Hall at PBJC Central Friday, March 13, covered a wide range of topics including HMO's, the proposed Veterans Administration Hospital, Greenacres City zoning, the "notch" problem in social security, currency with no intrinsic value, and a "plot" to change the constitution.

Most of the time in the two-hour session, however, was spent on crime.

Mica told of going on a drug bust with Lake Worth police, and his resulting admiration for the men who are putting their lives on the line daily.

Residents were visibly disturbed. One man said "we are in a war, and we need all the help we can get."

Mica said he has consistently voted for crime prevention bills.

On the other items, Mica said:

HMO's. Purchase of IMC (Gold-Plus) by Humana has not occurred by the planned date but talks are continuing, and service has improved.

VA Hospital. Proposed location in north county is a compromise. A fight would have meant no hospital.

Greenacres zoning. A local problem which should be handled locally.

"Notch" problem. Mica has worked three years to obtain equitable payments for those born 1918-1921, and hopes to get the necessary votes this year.

Currency. In response to a speech on currency with no intrinsic value, Mica said he did not believe that this was the cause of all our problems.

Constitution "plot". There is none. There is a possibility of a constitutional convention, and it is true that a constitutional convention can not be confined to one subject. Mica has doubts about the advisability of such a convention.

parking fees in eight years, and leaves the yearly rate at less than $1 per month.

Health Insurance

Bids for health insurance were awared to Equicor/Equitable for the indemnity plan and to the Gulstream Plan for the HMO. Gulfstream was recently purchased by Equicor/Equitable.

Dental and vision insurance will also be awarded to the same firms. Certain improvements have been made in the HMO dental plan, according to Joseph Schneider, personnel director.

An open period, when employees will be able to change their type of coverage will be held next month, Schneider said. Additional information will be sent to all employees from the personnel department prior to this period.

Sabbatical Leaves

Sabbatical leave reports were given by Patrick Archer (five sculptures illustrating line, plane, mass, texture and color), Barbara Sabonis-Chafee (the first section of a textbook for Occupational Therapy Assistants) and Paul Hitchcock (a new method of color printing of photographs from England and New England).

The board also granted four sabbatical leave requests from Dr. John Phillips, James Houser, Mary Jane Still and Dennis Alber.

Evelyn White Chamber Singers Perform Saturday

The Music Department of PBJC's Division of Humanities is sponsoring the Evelyn White Chamber Singers in concert, Saturday, Mar. 28 at the Watson B. Duncan III Theatre. The performance begins at 8 p.m.

The Evelyn White Chamber Singers, who come from Washington, D.C., are a select ensemble of approximately 32 singers. Their choral music, which represents all styles and periods, has earned them an excellent reputation for performance. The group has made a special effort to publicize the choral works of Afro-American composers, including the most neglected area of art music.

The group has appeared in concerts at the National Gallery of Art; Kennedy Center; National Meeting of American Choral Directors; National Meeting of Music Teachers; Music Educators National Conference, and the Smithsonian Institute.

They have also appeared at universities and colleges and present an annual concert series in Washington, D.C.

Tickets are $7 for adults and $4 for students. For information, call the box office at 8141.

"A Most Rewarding Year" For PTK At South

Beverly Raznoff, Phi Theta Kappa advisor at PBJC South, wrote in a note to the Monday Report last week: "Our chapter has had a most rewarding year, as you can tell from these entries." It was an understatement.

The entries are for possible awards at the national convention in Dallas, which will be attended by Tracy Brown, PTK South president, and a president-elect to be named shortly.

South has entered four short stories and one essay, and will also try for the Siren-Levig Award of a scholarship to the Honors Institute, the Most Distinguished Member Award and the Gayle Wyatt Service Award recognizing the chapter with the most significant program to benefit others.

Competition for these awards is fierce at the national level, but reading through South's entries makes you want to award them instantly. A reading also makes you proud to be a part of an institution that supports students in such splendid activities.

Taken together, the entries draw a graphic picture of the many activities of the chapter in becoming friends, supporters and allies of Noreen Wiker, a young mother of four in her battle with cancer. The Monday Report will keep these entries on file and will share them with anyone who wants to read them.

Next Stop: Cambridge

David Buck, a director of the International Summer School of the University of Cambridge, England will visit Palm Beach Junior College Central on Friday, April 5.

Buck will meet with prospective students from PBJC and the community presenting a slide and photo show and question/answer session concerning the 1987 summer school program, accommodations, and activities.

There will be two sessions on April 5--one at 3:30 p.m. and again at 7:30 p.m., both in HU 112.

For further information, please contact Dr. Hugh Albee at 439-8144 or 439-8142.

A Point Of History

The question from a student in Ed Pugh's history class was not, as it turned out, an idle one.

"Do you know who did the cover on our text book?"

Glancing at the striking cover on American History: A Survey, Ed acknowledged that he just hadn't thought about that detail.

"It's my father," Kevin McConnell said.

To prove his point, Kevin brought his father's book, Assemblage: Three Dimensional Picture Making to class next day, and sure enough, some of the same elements of cover design were on both books.

At 500-62 John May Be Best

John Anderson, our softball coach for the past nine years--almost ten now--may have the best won-lost ratio in all college sports.

Tuesday, March 10, Lenny Fox, our sports information director, told John he was only eight games away from winning his 500th game.

"It so happened that we had two games against Miami Dade South that same day," John says. "So we won those two."

After that, came two victories at Dade North on Thursday, and four in Orlando on Friday, with the Pacers winning all.

The 500th win was against Edison, 7-2, and brought John's overall record at PBJC to 500 wins against 62 losses. Hamid Faquir, Athletic Director,is checking to try to find anyone with a better won-lost record, and so far, has not discovered anyone.

This year's team is one of the most exciting to watch, John says. They were 35-5 and 16-0 in conference play as of last Wednesday.

By the time you read this, they will have played two more conference games at Edison, and will be looking toward completing their conference season here on Wednesday.

Final Ballet Of Year At A Special Price

In celebration of an extremely successful season at the Watson B. Duncan III Theatre, Ballet Florida is offering a special ticket price to PBJC faculty, staff and full-time students for its final performances of the 86/87 season.

Regular ticket prices for the final performance, April 3, 8 p.m., April 4, 8 p.m., and April 5, 2 p.m., are $15, $20 and $25. The price for PBJC faculty, staff and full-time students will be $10.

The final offering of our ballet-in-residence will be a mixed bill featuring jazz from choreographer Jacques Lemay and contemporary ballet from Vincent Nebrade, choreographer of the company's sold-out performances of Firebird and Romeo and Juliet.

An allotment of tickets has already been provided to the box office at the Duncan for PBJC faculty, staff and students. Tickets are, of course, subject to availability. Ballet sell-outs are common, so early action would be indicated.

Early Childhood Club Sponsors Workshops

The Early Childhood Club is sponsoring two free Saturday workshops for parents and children aged 3-8 years. The workshops are experiential and will help both parents and children in songs, fingerplay, and other movement experiences, and in understanding art.

The workshops are open to the public and reservations can be made by calling 8046, Monday through Friday, 8 am.-3 p.m.

The first workshop will be held Saturday, April 4 at 11 a.m. in Continuing Education Room 121. The guest will be Al Rasso, the Coordinating Teacher of Child Care Services of Palm Beach County.

Rasso is a pre-school teacher, composer and writer of children's music. His first album is due to be released this summer.

The second workshop is scheduled for Saturday, April 11 at 11 a.m. in the Center for Early Learning. The guest will be Lisa Richman, a fine arts teacher with experience in children's art programs.

School For Registrars Begins in April

A school for registrars will begin in the AH Lecture Hall at PBJC Central Wednesday, April 15, 8:30 a.m., according to Ed Pugh, who arranged for the school through the office of Jackie Winchester, Supervisor of Elections.

Pugh asked for the school in preparation for several voter registration drives planned between now and the fall, when it is hoped that the legislature will have approved a referendum on a five-year, half-mill levy for PBJC.

The first of the drives will be for two weeks, beginning in the PBJC Central cafeteria Monday, April 20 through Friday, April 24. The second week begins Monday, April 27 and extends through Law Day, May 1.

Daytime hours in the cafeteria will be 8 a.m. through 2:30 p.m. daily.

Students, as well as any interested member of the faculty and staff, are encouraged to attend the school, which is free of charge.

never been done before," John says, "and that is, to win all 20 conference games."

The Pacers have already won the conference. Their nearest rival has already lost seven.

Lake City again appears to be the chief rival to the Pacers for state dominance this year, as they are almost every year. Each team has won once this year, each game won by only one run.

This is the best hitting team I have ever had," John says. "We are solid all the way down the line, and we are never out of a game.

"We were 0-5 in the bottom of the seventh against Broward, and won the game 6-5. It's exciting."

PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE
PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 17 April 6, 1987

This Year, Things Were Different

PBJC North Computer Team Is First In The State

This is the year that PBJC North computer students took first place in the Fourth Annual Community College Computer Tournament held in St. Petersburg March 26-29.

Each year, teams from around the state compete against each other for trophies and cash. Each year since the contest began, St. Petersburg Junior College has walked away with trophies, a plaque and cash prizes for each team member.

This year, things were different. Bill Moon put four volunteers together and gave them practice problems, held practice sessions, and encouraged them to work hard.

This year, John Zucco, Jaime Pereria, Scott Kansas and Kevin Bosse, representing PBJC North, beat out 16 other community colleges, and a total of 20 teams to win the prize and break a winning streak.

This year, PBJC may begin a winning streak thanks to Bill and his students.

"The fact that St. Pete had won three years in a row made the victory even sweeter," Bill said.

The contest was sponsored by St. Petersburg Junior College and the University

Teacher In Space To Visit PBJC

Susan Forte, teacher and astronaut-to-be, will be at Palm Beach Junior College April 13-15.

The college is sponsoring Susan's visit as a representative of NASA and as the Christa McAuliffe Ambassador for Education Program. She is a vocational/technical high school agriculture teacher in Pensacola.

She was selected as number 13 of over 11,000 applicants to the space program to be the next teacher in space. Forte travels throughout the state promoting the positive aspects of teaching as a career.

In honor of our guest, the North Campus is planning a cold buffet luncheon on Monday, April 13 at 12:30 in the Burt Reynolds Student Center.

The luncheon is by reservation only and you should contact Joan Holloway at 622-2440 ext. 304 with your name and number in your party by today, April 6.

On Tuesday, Susan will visit several morning classes at the South Campus before heading for Belle Glade.

As an agriculture teacher, Susan is especially interested in the rich farming industry in the western county. She will tour some of the packing plants with Mary Orsenigo, and of course, visit our Glades Campus.

BULLETIN

The Community College Presidents Council has voted unanimous support for the PBJC five-year half-mill referendum bill now due in the legislature. Although many House and Senate actions remain necessary before legislative approval, the unanimous backing of all college presidents for the bill is another very favorable signal that things are going well this year.

Sunny Is The Pied Piper Of PBJC

Although student Paul Prendergast plays the part of Peter, who becomes The Magical Pied Piper of Hamelin in the play of the same name, there are those who would argue that the real Pied Piper of PBJC is Sunny Meyer, who directs the play and created the Sunshine Playmakers, who will put it on.

In this, the sixth year of the Sunshine Playmakers, nearly 4,000 children from 14 elementary and middle schools will obediently follow PBJC's Pied Piper into the Duncan for five sold-out performances on April 9, 14, 16, 21, and 23 even before the public performance on April 25.

Unlike the bad old fairy-tale version, Sunny's 4,000 will not disappear into the depths of the Duncan, never to return. Instead, like the version selected by the Playmakers and written by Richard and Pauline Kelvin, love will triumph over revenge, and all 4,000 will go home safely to their parents.

The Playmakers' reputation in the community is so good that "we have had to set up a waiting list of schools," Sunny says.

This year's play, with a cast of 25 students and other students working behind the scenes, plus some great costumes and a timeless, magical story, can do nothing but enhance the expanding popularity.

Elementary schools sending students are Barton, Berkshire, Eisenhower, Forest Park, Highland, J. C. Mitchell, Lantana, Palm Beach Gardens, Wellington, West Riviera, Whispering Pines and Wynebrook.

Other schools are Carver Middle School and Lake Worth Christian School.

At $2 per seat, Sunny needs her sold-out houses just to break even. Nobody is getting wealthy, but then,money never was the objective. Smiles, maybe.

Student actors with a great chance to work before enthusiastic audiences, yes.

Laughter, yes. Applause, yes. Little ears, little eyes, big minds and big hearts in little bodies all getting tuned in to live theatre when what they see and hear will go with them for a lifetime. Yes. Yes!

You want to know what a good community college is all about? Take a look at what the Pied Piper is doing.

Environmentalist At Crackerbarrel Forum

Nathaniel Reed, the Advisor to Florida Governors and Assistant Secretary of the U.S. Department of the Interior under the Nixon and Ford administrations, and a noted environmentalist, will be the featured guest at the Crackerbarrel Forum, Thursday, April 9, 7:30 to 9 a.m. in the Royce Hotel.

Reed is an outspoken proponent of conserving Florida's natural resources. He will discuss a new group, "1,000 Friends of Florida" formed to use friendly persuasion and the courts to keep our municipalities environmentally in check.

All faculty and staff members are invited. For further information, call 439-8185.

On Wednesday, the 'Teacher in Space' will be speaking to Social Science classes at Central before moving on to a Lake Worth Rotary Club meeting.

Susan Forte has been described as an interesting, entertaining, informative and inspiring speaker. Make a note in your schedule to meet and greet a terrific teacher, potential astronaut, and fascinating speaker.

Open Enrollment For Health Insurance

There will be an open enrollment which will allow college personnel to change their health coverages from single to family or from the Gulfstream HMO to Equicor's indemnity and preferred provider organization (PPO) or vise versa. The open enrollment period is from April 6 through April 23. The effective date of any changes is May 1, 1987.

There are changes in benefits and premiums that college personnel should consider when making their choice for the next year. All personnel therefore are invited to attend one of the following meetings which will be conducted by representatives of the Equicor indemnity-PPO and the Gulfstream HMO.

CAMPUS	DATE	ROOM	TIME(S)
Central	April 7	Conference Room C	10:00 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Glades	April 15	TBA	1:00 p.m.

Those personnel formerly enrolled in H.I.P. Network are especially encouraged to attend one of these meetings since they will be required to complete a new enrollment card.

Paul Aho Named Award Winner

Paul Aho, painter and PBJC adjunct instructor, is the first recipient of the Hector Ubertalli Award for Achievement in the Arts.

Ubertalli was a painter who died early this year, and the award was created in his memory to recognize and encourage artists in Palm Beach County.

"I'm enthusiastic and excited," Aho said after receiving the award at a special ceremony given by NCNB National Bank. Aho said that he was delighted the award would help bring recognition to area artists and wished good luck and success to the artists who were nominated along with him.

The four other nominees included sculptor/artist Jane Manus, who has donated sculptures for exhibits and temporary loan at the Central and North campus.

Because Ubertalli was a painter, only visual artists were nominated as winners for the first year. In coming years, all of the arts will be eligible for representation.

The artistic award will be given by the Palm Beach County Council of the Arts every other year, alternating with the Robert Montgomery Medal, which honors art supporters.

Wanted: One Dynamic, Caring Teacher

PBJC's Circle K Club is seeking a faculty advisor to replace David Nixon, who has transferred to PBJC South at his own request. Duties include acting as liaison between club and school administration and other minimal assistance.

Individual must be enthusiastic and willing to spare a small fraction of their time for Circle K. Salary: a grateful, happy club and a good feeling inside. Are you willing to become involved? Please contact Hamid Faquir at 439-8068 or Robin Wood, Circle K president, 439-4671.

Personal... It has come to our attention that even if the 1987 softball team finishes the conference schedule with no losses, it will not be the first team to accomplish this remarkable feat. The first team was also from PBJC, Coach Bobbie Knowles' great 1974 team. That team went undefeated in junior college play throughout the season, losing its first junior college game in the state tournament, but coming back to win the tournament and become PBJC's first state champions.

Faculty Concerns Expressed At Coffee With Ed

The recently completed series of Coffee With Ed meetings with faculty members produced 15 questions, which Dr. Eissey has assigned to the appropriate person for response and action where possible. Following is the list for this term.

1. Books in the bookstore are being marked up as much as 60%. Students can obtain books off campus more reasonably priced than on campus.

Answer--Dr. Tony Tate. Textbooks are marked up 25% in accordance with College Policy and in keeping with NACS (National Association of College Stores) standarized textbook pricing policy and with AAP (Association of American Publishers) recommended pricing policy for College textbooks. Actual cost to the College for a textbook is 75% of list price plus freight, handling and associated charges. In addition, approximately another 10% of list price is absorbed in losses due to edition changes and non-returnables. Any instructor is welcome to see a publisher's original invoice upon request.

I agree that textbooks are too expensive and that they are increasing in price virtually every semester. However, this is not due to college bookstore pricing policies. Textbooks carry the lowest markup of any small ticket commodity on the retail market today.

It may interest the faculty to know that the AAP cites the unauthorized sale of "complimentary" or "desk" copies by instructors to used book companies and third party solicitors as the single greatest cause for high and ever-increasing prices. In 1986, the AAP has estimated that American publishers suffered over $80 million in lost revenue due to this illegal practice. This tremendous loss is translated directly into higher prices for the college bookstores and, more importantly, for students. Even now, the AAP is making a desperate appeal to over 3,000 college administrations to curb "complimentary" or "desk" copy abuse by its faculties.

2. Teacher Evaluation-Portfolio. Who are the faculty members who are presently serving on this committee? What is the portfolio portion of the evaluation? How long has this study been going on?

Answer--Dr. Patricia A. Dyer. The current Faculty Evaluation Committee: Jeanette Campbell; John Connolly; Allan Gerson; Alma Harrell; Glen Marsteller; Jim Tanner; Pat Dyer, Chair.

The portfolio is this collection:
1) faculty objectives for the year. 2) copies of the student assessment summary report (PURDUE) for the fall term. 3) syllabus and materials from one course taught during a specified term, and 4) any documentation related to service college or community which the faculty member and division chair or program manager have agreed to include in the faculty member's evaluation for the year.

This project began in the Fall of 1984 under the auspices of the University of Florida Institute of Higher Education, with Dr. Al Smith serving as consultant. During the second year, a pilot was done with 30 faculty members using the Kansas State University IDEA student assessment instrument and including a peer evaluation component of classroom materials. This year, the third, the pilot was streamlined, the peer component was eliminated, and all faculty members are taking part.

3. The marquees on our Sixth Avenue South entrance and on our Lake Worth Road entrance... Why can't the sign on the north side of the campus be changed and get rid of "Have A Happy Day" which has been up there for three years.

Answer--Dr. Melvin Haynes. Thanks for bringing the Lake Worth Road marquee to our attention. The sign is changed periodically during the year. The "Have A Happy Day" message is put there when no one requests the use of the marquee for other messages. Most persons prefer to use the Sixth Ave. marquee, because of the level of traffic. In most cases we do not have enough lettering to put the same message on both marquees. The Lake Worth marquee message will be changed. We welcome suggested messages.

4. Can we get three different people for the television commercials that we have been using. The three people are alumnus of PBJC.

Answer--Dr. Eissey. Yes, we can get different people and we are working on this.

5. When sending out invitations, why can't the day of the week as well as the date be placed on the invitation to "Coffee With Ed?"

Answer--Dr. Elisabeth Erling. The day of the week as well as the date will be placed on all future invitations.

6. (a) Why can't we have someone here on Saturday to tell people where to go who are taking Continuing Education courses? (b) Why can't the air conditioning/heat be on and regulated for Saturday classes?

Answer--Dr. Patricia Dyer. (a) Such a position has not been budgeted. Priority need decides where the budget dollars are assigned. If the priority of such a position is high enough, that could be funded instead of another position.

Answer (b) Dr. Tate. Any time Continuing Education has classes scheduled and either air conditioning or heat is needed, the air conditioning or heat is provided and a maintenance person is on duty on Saturdays. Contact with that person can be made through Security Office.

7. Why doesn't the calendar committee have us start classes on a Monday? The faculty shouldn't have to return on a Thursday or Friday. Can the faculty volunteer to work on the calendar committee?

Answer--Dr. Erling. Explanation of the calendar process has been addessed in a recent issue of the Monday Report. In addition, information concerning the complex calendar has been given to all deans with the expectation that it will be fully discussed and explored with Division Chairmen who in turn will address the issue with their faculty.

The calendar issue has been discussed at the bargaining table on several occasions and a draft of the calendar is always sent to the Union for their input several weeks prior to Board action.

8. Why are the rooms in the Allied Health Building (rooms 316, 310 and 315) allowed to have 50 students in them when the rooms are too small?

Answer--Dr. Dyer. The rooms AH 316 and 315 are not allowed to have 50 students per class. The fire code permits 49 people, including a teacher. The capacity of the room for scheduling purposes is set at 45 students.

9. When is Network going to start paying our bills and why are they so slow?

Answer--Dr. Tate. As you know, we are recommending that the College's relationship with Network be discontinued on April 1, 1987.

10. Can we have graduation in the afternoon rather than the evening?

Answer--Dr. Eissey. There is not any policy that prohibits us from having graduation in the afternoon. I am convinced that this would create a hardship on many working students, parents and relatives to attend during the working day. I believe there would be less inconvenience during the evening hours.

11. Can we schedule the courses we are going to teach in the Express Term earlier than we are presently?

Answer--Dr. Dyer. Courses to be taught during Express Term could be scheduled earlier, but available space and available faculty cannot be confirmed until after drop/add in the fall or winter terms. Earlier scheduling would lead to a higher incidence of cancellation due to lack of space or teachers.

12. Why can't we have an ample supply of textbooks instead of running out constantly. Also, why do we keep running out of literature books?

Answer--Dr. Tate. Every college bookstore in the country runs out of some titles and is ov in others. Nationally, the percentage of shortage runs 20% to 25% for institutional stores and 30% to 50% for lease operations. Due to PBJC's 3 year adoption policy, the cooperation of faculty and Division Chairmen and an excellent job by our textbook coordinator, we have managed to hold our percentage of shortage to less than 10% (well below the national average). Recovery time is 10 days or less (again better than the national average of 2 to 3 weeks.

Variables which cause shortages include, but are not limited to, increased enrollments, due to heavy last-minute registrations, drop and add, fluctuation in course popularity, (just plan freedom of choice), historical deviance, etc. We have an additional problem peculiar to PBJC in that our textbook supplies are impacted by South Campus students who are served by FAU's lease-operated bookstore.

Finally, we cannot deliberately over-order textbooks for courses as some faculty have suggested. The cost to the College would be tremendous in terms of shipping, handling and absolute material loss due to publisher-imposed penalties and limited returns policies. Not only would it be fiscally irresponsible to operate in such a manner, but there would still be shortages.

13. Why can't the faculty administer the CLAST test and get paid rather than bringing in adjuncts.

Answer--Dr. Haynes. The personnel policy governing test administration requires that administrators of standardized testing programs hold a Master's Degree in Counseling (or closely related field). Any faculty member who has a Master's Degree in Counseling (or related field) may apply to serve as a test administrator. We welcome your assistance.

14. Why are we using the Purdue evaluation instrument when many have done away with the Purdue?

Answer--Dr. Dyer. After the research in years one and two of the faculty evaluation project and evaluation of some other instruments by the committee and pilot participants, it was agreed to use the PURDUE with modifications, which have been made.

15. Can we place a notice in each classroom notifying the students that there will be no eating, smoking or drinking in class?

Answer--Dr. Tate. Thanks for the suggestion. Sample signs are being prepared at the direction of Ed Cassidy, Supervisor of Maintenance. As soon as these are formatted and approved, signs will be ordered in sufficient quantity to have one posted in each classroom.

of South Florida, and was held at the Hilton in downtown St. Pete.

The format for the tournament is standard from past years. A written examination was given with a two hour time limit. Two programming sections were given in science and math, each having a time limit of three hours.

The team strategy was to divide up the less complicated problems among each team member, and pair off to solve the tougher problems.

"They seemed to improvise a lot, and it worked," Bill said.

The winners received a large trophy, a plaque and $200 each. Best wishes and congratulations to Bill Moon and the team for breaking the record.

DECA Wins Top Awards At State

Every PBJC student member of Delta Epsilon Chi (DECA) who attended the state convention Mar. 19-22 at Jacksonville placed in some category and will be going to the National Career Development Conference in New Orleans, May 5-10.

"This is the best performance we have had since I have been advisor," said Susan Thompson. PBJC won more top awards than any other college.

"It was a college-wide teaching effort," she said. DECA students are from all campuses.

The PBJC students won three firsts, one second, three thirds, two fourths, and two fifth place awards.

Other colleges were surprised at the high scores by PBJC since many colleges require DECA students to attend a special DECA class each term.

Our chapter also received a certificate for having a 15 percent increase in membership this year.

Student winners and their categories:

Robert Wonyetye, first in Human Relations and fifth in Food Marketing; Kym DeSantis, first in Restaurant Management and second in Sales Promotion; Adella Bell, first in General Merchandising and fourth in Industrial Marketing Team Effort.

Harmen Brenninemeyer, third in Human Relations and third in General Marketing; Danielle Cosmos, third in Restaurant Management; Kris Weaver, third in Finance and Credit; and Zoi Mikovsky, fourth in Industrial Marketing Team Effort and fifth in Finance and Credit.

Budapest Brass Quintet At Duncan Wednesday

The Budapest Brass Quintet will make its second American concert tour during April with a month-long visit beginning in Florida and ending in the Northeast.

Included in the tour is a performance at the Duncan Theatre Wednesday, April 8 at 8 p.m.

Given the number of fine brass players in the world today, there are many brass quintets which come into being, yet there are very few which can boast any sort of longevity, let alone go on to win the top award at the Maurice Andre International Music Competition in Paris (1979), be contracted to record on several major international labels, and maintain a successful, ongoing ensemble. The Budapest Brass Quintet is such an ensemble.

The group was formed in 1975 by graduates of the famed "Ferenc Liszt" Academy of Music who were all principal players in Budapest's most important orchestras and prize winners at several major international competitions.

The quintet has become a favorite at concert halls throughout Europe with a repertoire that ranges from Renaissance dances through the standard brass quintet literature to modern arrangements of Joplin rags and Swiss folk songs, as well as contemporary Hungarian works.

However, it is the spectacular quality of their playing which has established the group as one of the finest ensembles in the world, and this level of performance must simply be heard to be fully appreciated.

Included in Wednesday's program will be polkas by A. Farkas, Shostakovich, and Johann Strauss, a variety of pieces including Rondeau Fanfare by Jean-Joseph Mouret and Czardas by Monti, and some contemporary brass selections.

For further information, please call 439-8141. ...Sarah Shelley

"An Impact On Florida History"

Afro-Americans In Delray: An Oral History Project

Clement Imhoff, a social science instructor at PBJC South, is working on a special history project in his spare time for the next couple of years. He is researching the history of the black community in Delray Beach.

The project was initiated last fall, but the original idea came from a former student, Jacqueline Kent. Kent and Dorothy Sutton, a writer from a local newspaper, presented Imhoff with the idea of somehow collecting and recording the fascinating history of the black community in Delray Beach.

From this idea, Imhoff initiated a grant and is now actively working on the project.

The latest resource is 72-year old historian named C. Spencer Pompey, who has traced his family back to the 19th century.

"So far, I have talked to a number of people, but I have 6 to 8 more solid leads to look into," Imhoff said. "I don't know exactly how long the research will take because I have made some unexpected -

Community College Week Is April 12 - 18

The third annual Community College Day, sponsored by the Florida Association of Community Colleges, (FACC) is set for tomorrow, April 14.

The 1987 event will be marked by a series of activities at the state capital in Tallahassee on Tuesday, and by events at Florida community and junior colleges during the week.

"This year, the annual barbecue at Tallahassee has been changed to a breakfast discussion and FACC will be distributing candy and candy dishes," said Nancy Cherry who will be attending for PBJC.

Members of the Florida legislature will attend the meeting and the community college presidents are hosting the get-together.

Several exhibits will be set up in the state capitol that represent the new and exciting programs offered at various colleges.

The State Board of Community Colleges has honored programs from each of the 28 Florida community and junior colleges.

OOPS!

Going by a calendar, checking with the catalog, we still made a mistake last week. The teacher planning day originally scheduled for April 16 has long since vanished. It became Martin Luther King day. So--there will be classes on April 16, a regular work day for everyone.

Tremendous Turnout For International Festival

"We had a tremendous turnout" at the International Festival April 3, 4, and 5 according to John Townsend, Continuing Education Coordinator, who has helped put together the festival every year since it started.

"This was the biggest and best year," John says. "We had as many people as we could handle. At times, the gym, the auditorium, and the cafeteria were full and a large crowd was outside watching the horse show."

While he did not have an official estimate of numbers, John said there were about 10,000 last year and "we were much better this year."

One thing he found very pleasing was that the festival was able to set up early on Friday thanks to the cooperation of the cafeteria, so that faculty, staff and students could take a more active role.

"The people manning the booths were very pleased," John says. "We are already receiving calls from people wanting to be sure they are included next year."

The Portuguese, Russians, Germans, Scots, and "probably others" were completely sold out before the event was over, he said.

PBJC's own charity, People Bringing Joy At Christmas, had the American booth and hot dogs, apple pie, cherry pie and other typical American food was selling well.

The same format will probably be followed next year, John says, except for an expansion of the horse show.

"People seemed to really enjoy the horse show, and the breeders are thrilled to get that much attention," he says. "I think that it will blow people's mind to find out what we have in horse breeding and training in this area."

Dr. Eissey Is Grand Marshal At WalkAmerica

Over 2,700 walkers and 300 volunteers, including Dr. Eissey as grand marshal, were responsible for raising in excess of $220,000 for the March of Dimes in WalkAmerica held at PBJC Central April 4.

The event exceeded expectations, and was an increase of 1,000 walkers and $90,000 over preious years, according to Pat Cuccurullo, Director of the Palm Beach/Martin County Division of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation.

The director listed prenatal clinics and genetic counseling as areas in which the local division is involved, calling attention to a recent $30,000 grant in Belle Glade to assure women of proper prenatal care.

Walkers started on their 20 kilometer trail (about 12 miles) through John Prince Park at about 8:30 a.m., and almost all had returned by 1 p.m.

Cuccurullo said the involvement of the college, with Dr. Eissey playing a key role, the central location in the county and the good trail through the park, were all factors in the success of the event. "In addition, our volunteers deserve a lot of credit," she said. "We are absolutely dependent on volunteers to make the program a success."

New Awards And Unusual Students Highlight North Banquet

Several new awards were given and a number of outstanding students were honored at the PBJC North 1987 Awards Banquet held last Wednesday night at the Singer Island Hilton.

Art instructor Alessandra Gieffers presented the first North Campus Art Award to Edward Wilcox.

Two students were selected to receive a science award, and one of the winners of the state computer competition, John Zucco, received the Engineering Award.

Both the Accounting and Economics award were given to the same student, Carol Shade. Later, Frank Barton added that if a Statistics Award would have been given, Carol Shade would have also won it.

Bob Williams presented the first Audio/Visual Award, and a deaf student, Phyllis Peeples, was given the I.M.T.S. award.

All in all, everyone had a good time, and Bill Moon is still beaming about his fantastic four (students) that brought home the computer trophy from the tournament last week.

Bill presented the very large trophy to Dr.Ottis Smith for safe keeping until next year's competition. Incidentally, the PBJC Foundation originally purchased and donated the trophy to the state-wide competition, and until this year, St. Petersburg Junior College had possession of the floating trophy.

PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 19 April 20, 1987

Intelligent Students and Handsome Trophies

It Was Student Night For The Trustees

It was Student Night with capital letters at the Board of Trustees meeting at PBJC North Wednesday night--a timely reminder just before graduation of what the college is all about.

There was a full board meeting, with reports on meetings, an update on PBJC North's vocational programs, an attorney general's opinion on who should sit as trustee and other interesting items, but honors and awards won by our students in state and national competitions dominated the meeting.

Monday Report readers already know about many of the honors--DECA, Ron Dupont's writing award, PBJC North computer winners, the SGA state convention, the North Awards banquet.

Elsewhere in this report they can read of the Men's Tennis Team,the South Awards, and next week they will read about North's Phi Beta Lambda--all of the above showing our students excelling.

In addition, board members heard reports about the achievements of Central's Circle K club and that the Women's Tennis team finished second in the state.

Ron Dupont, president of Central's PTK, reported on the successful effort to become the state's Communications Chapter, and the outstanding Regional News Letter they produced. He also introduced next year's Beachcomber top staff.

Many of the reports included plans for attending national conventions and competitions.

The cumulative effect of the appearance of intelligent students and handsome trophies caused Dr. Philip Lichtblau, board chairman, to comment on how great it would be if we could give a word-for-word

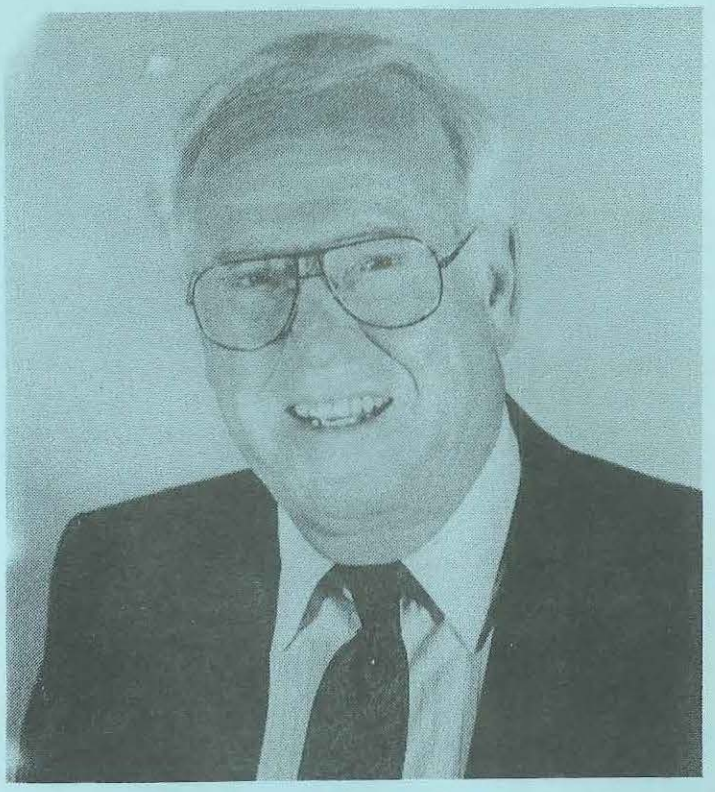
"Jim Had The Dream"--Gov. Leroy Collins

Wattenbarger To Receive Highest AACJC Award

Nearly three quarter of a million people will attend Florida's 28 community colleges in 1987. Few of them will ever know that this statewide system was the brainchild of a Palm Beach Junior College graduate, James Wattenbarger.

"Jim had the dream," said former Gov. Leroy Collins. "We were willing to share it with him." This month, America's community colleges are honoring Wattenbarger's dream with their highest national honor, the National Leadership Award.

The story starts over 30 years ago. In the mid 1950's, Gov. Collins backed a controversial plan to expand the state's five junior colleges into a mammoth system, with campus in driving distance of every citizen of the state. With the state's immense growth and the effects of the G.I. Bill, Florida's universities were bursting at the seams. Given the tidal wave of "baby boom" students, expected in the '60's, junior colleges were certainly an idea whose time had come.



Dr. James Wattenbarger

At about the same time, a young PBJC graduate, studying at the University of Florida, wrote a paper on "Public Junior Colleges in the State of Florida." This ambitious document proposed a system of 26 colleges, located strategically around the state. Few of his classmates could have guessed that this 332 page document was to be the masterplan for one of the nation's largest systems of higher education.

Who was this young man, who, in his early 30's, became the "Father of the Community College System"?

Wattenbarger graduated with honors from UF in the Spring of 1943. A promising career in education had to be postponed, however, for the war in the Pacific. For over a year, he served as an Air Force navigator. His service over India and the Marianas earned him the Air Medal and the Distinguished Flying Cross, each with two oak leaf clusters.

After returning to UF for a master's degree, he served for a year as assistant principal at P.K. Younge School while completing his doctorate.

Two-year colleges had always been a priority for Wattenbarger. Getting his start at PBJC made him "an advocate for equality of opportunity for all citizens," according to Dan Savage, Vice President of the American Association of Community/Junior Colleges (AACJC).

In 1955, when Gov. Collins needed a Director for his proposed system, he chose Wattenbarger. "In the Governor's office, we regarded him as our leader," says Collins. "He understood the pressing need. His planning was carefully conceived. His enthusiasm and labor for the program's success was unquenchable."

Over the 11 years from 1956-67, the Wattenbarger team established an average of more than

Twelfth Annual Awards Banquet Honors South Students

The Twelfth Annual Awards Banquet for the South Campus was held last Tuesday night at the Boca Raton Executive Country Club. It was an evening of teachers honoring students and students honoring teachers.

Honored guests from Florida Atlantic University attended including Dr. Karl Ijams, Dean of Students, Dr. Marilyn J. Floyd, Director Assistant for Academic Planning and Registrar Blair Thorburn.

Dr. Eissey announced that more than 350 professional organizations have signed resolutions supporting the half-mill referendum for Palm Beach Junior College.

Dr. Margaret Maney,Provost of the South Campus, spoke of the visit by Florida's Ambassador for Education, Teacher in Space Susan Forte, to the South Campus. Maney said that Forte served as an inspiration to teaching, education and America.

Dr. Robert Geraldi amused the crowd with his translation of a welcome and announcement of the Humanities Award in Italian, French, Spanish and an ancient Aztec dialect. The winner of the award for interdisciplinary studies went to Teresa Dawsey, who speaks German and Spanish and is currently taking Italian and French.

The President's Leadership Awards went to Karen Milano and alumnus of the year, Mary Moore.

two colleges per year. Eighteen of these colleges were placed in the exact location recommended in Wattenbarger's original paper.

In the 1950's, Florida education was strictly segregated. A large part of the Wattenbarger legacy, according to Collins, was devising a system that would work in an integrated future. "We knew that it (integration) was coming," says Collins, "but we wouldn't tell the legislature that we were planning colleges for blacks and whites to attend together....it would have never passed."

When college integration arrived in the 1960's, the foresight of the Wattenbarger master plan was finally revealed. Florida's dual system was able to easily merge into a single, excellent system. Florida's community colleges survived the 60's without a single college closing.

Since 1956, approximately 11 million persons have attended Florida community colleges.

The last college in the Florida system was established by the legislature in 1967. The plan was complete. The following year, Wattenbarger returned to the University of Florida to train a new generation of college leaders.

As Director of the Institute of Higher Education, Wattenbarger has trained hundreds of administrators and faculty members for universities and colleges. Five college presidents in the Florida system and college leaders from 39 states are graduates of his program.

Since returning to teaching, Wattenbarger has consulted for colleges and state systems in 35 states, Puerto Rico and Columbia, S.A. He has served as a visiting professor in Missouri, Iowa, North Carolina, Virginia, Illinois and Arizona.

In 1987, Wattenbarger continues to be a prolific researcher, writer, teacher and leader in higher education. His advice in sought by colleges throughout the nation. It is this continuing dominance in the field that led the AACJC to honor Wattenbarger with the national Leadership Award.

"He (Wattenbarger) is indeed one of the finest men and public officials I have every known and worked with," said Gov. Collins in a recent interview. America's 1,000 community colleges would seem to agree. They will present him with their highest national award at the AACJC Annual Convention on April 24 in Dallas, Texas.

PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE
PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 20 April 27, 1987

Twice The Normal Number

Round Up In The Park Will Honor Retirees

The fourth annual Roundup In The Park honoring faculty/administration retirees is scheduled for May 5, 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., at the Mound Circle Picnic Area, and eight people, about twice the normal number, will be honored.

All the retirees this year--and there are 17 and maybe one or two more before August in the entire college--will be receiving the early retirement incentive made possible by the board of trustees for the first time this year.

Most of those retiring will not only be taking their first opportunity to collect the fourth of a year's salary incentive, they will be taking their only opportunity.

After this year, the incentive program will only apply to those who have not reached normal retirement years.

Only two retirees this year are an early retirement in the sense of being too young for normal retirement.

But many--the best guess would be about one half--of those retiring will have been motivated by the incentive. It may not be early, but it is earlier than it would have been without the extra pay.

The idea of the early retirement incentive program is that retirees are generally at or near the top end of the salary schedule, and their replacements will generally be at or near the bottom.

The program here is modeled after successful programs at other community colleges. Experience has shown that the extra payments offset the immediate favorable impact on the size of payrolls, but that in the second and subsequent years, there is considerable payroll relief.

All Sports Banquet Honors Student Athletes

The All Sports Banquet at PBJC Central Tuesday was an evening filled with awards both for academic and athletic accomplishments.

Hamid Faquir, athletic director, announced that 75 percent of his athletes hold a 2.5 GPA or better.

Golfer Brad Dean and tennis player Beate Ellmerer were honored as the top scholar athletes. Dean, voted Most Valuable Player on the golf team, has a GPA of 3.71 and Ellmerer, a student from Austria, has an average of 3.84.

Golf coach Jim Simon said his team is currently ranked fourth in the nation, and will be going to the state tournament in two weeks.

Coach Jonathan Klorfein announced Elizabeth Gibson, with an 11-6 record, as the most valuable player on the women's tennis team. In men's tennis, state champion

Reminder

The modified work week begins May 4, and if the 7:30 a.m. starting time disturbs you, don't despair. The Monday-Thursday schedule leaves Friday free to catch up on sleep or just enjoy the Florida sunshine. Personnel has already sent information to all college employees, but as a reminder, the schedule for 35 hour personnel is 7:30-4:45, and 40 hour personnel, 7:30-6. We resume our regular schedule Aug. 10.

PBJC North Places First In State Business Competition

Palm Beach Junior College North placed first at the recent Phi Beta Lambda State Competit[illegible].

Jeff Dadamo, a member of the North Campus, placed first in Economics at the State Competition of Phi Beta Lambda in Orlando April 11. Jeff will be competing in national competition in Anaheim, California on July 5.

Ron Gottlieb placed first in the Accounting competition.

Lisa Heasley received a Who's Who award for being District 5 Vice President for the State of Florida and also Southern Region secretary.

Joan Holloway, the advisor, also received an award for 20 years of dedication to Business Education students.

There were almost 400 students from 50 colleges attending the competition in Orlando.

Marine Biology Course Sails Again

One of our most unusual courses, a three-credit course in Marine Biology aboard the RV/Bellows or the RV/Suncoaster at Long Key, Fla., will be offered between terms, June 17-23, this summer.

Our first such course, completed earlier this year, was a memorable learning experience for all who took part, according to Dr. Carol Butler, who is supervising the course for the college.

The Florida Institute of Oceanography's research vessels based at Seaworld's Marine Science Conservation Center provide the laboratory for the lecture/lab course.

Undersea habitats, resident organisms, Florida marine topics and marine ecosystems will be studied as students collect and study marine organisms and their relationship to Florida's seacoast.

Registration fee for the course is $73. Transportation and lodging are furnished. Meals can be obtained for an additional $55. Additional information may be obtained from Dr. Butler, 439-8142.

Stephane Simian was also voted Most Valuable Player. The team will be traveling to Tyler, Texas on May 24 to compete in the national tournament.

The Lady Pacers, women's softball team, will also be going to the nationals this week in Hanceville, Alabama April 29 through May 5. Softball coach John Anderson announced his most valuable player, as chosen by other team members: Maria Santiago. He earlier said that Santiago is "the best first base player in the state."

Dr. Paul Dasher, who is retiring after this term, was presented with a gift certificate for computer software from the athletic department. Dasher accepted saying, "Thank you. I had a lot of fun, but I'm what a burned out athlete looks like. I had always wanted to be a professional baseball player."

Randy Gailey, in his first season as baseball coach for PBJC, congratulated his team for beating Miami Dade with a score of 10-8 just before attending the banquet. The baseball te[illegible] will now go to the state play offs in Winter Haven.

One of Gailey's players, Gary Gouldthread, has overcome some serious health problems and was given a standing ovation when he received the award for Most Valuable Player.

New Basketball Coach Named

Scott Pospichal has been selected from approximately 60 applicants to be the new PBJC basketball coach and coordinator of student activities at the Central Campus effective July 1. He comes from Polk Community College in Winter Haven with a fairly impressive coaching history, and was highly recommended by the Polk president.

Pospichal, 26, played on the National Championship team at Florida Southern College in 1981. He was a part-time assistant coach at the University of North Carolina in Charlotte for three years, and before arriving at Polk, he coached at Auburndale High School in Auburndale, Fla.

Pospichal indicated that Flip Peauler, an assistant coach at East Tennessee State, will be his new assistant coach for the Pacers.

Offsetting what may be a sizeable financial gain is the possible loss of valuable experience.

Fortunately for PBJC, this impact is not concentrated in one place, but is scattered throughout many college operations. An exception to this is physical plant, where several key people must be replaced.

The number of retirees this year is perhaps a bit smaller than was anticipated. The board has reserved the right to keep the incentive program at 10 percent of employees, but this limit has never been threatened. The final number will be very close to five percent of the total number of full-time employees.

Robert Wigen, past SGA and FJCSGA president, hosted the banquet and awards presentation.

OTA Program Receives Accreditation

The Occupational Therapy Assistant Program at Palm Beach Junior College has received a certificate of approval from the national accreditation agency, the American Occupational Therapy Association.

The approval came after an on-site inspection, and it was judged that another on-site inspection would not be necessary for seven years.

Palm Beach Junior College was one of the early entrants into education for Occupational Therapy, beginning its program in 1970. Accreditation has been constant since 1972. Occupational Therapy is now the fastest growing profession in the United States, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Occupational Therapy Assistants are part of a team dedicated to helping the whole person toward the highest possible level of independence, physically, mentally and socially.

Traditional occupational therapy skills include such skills as muscle testing and strengthening, splinting, dressing, feeding and self-care techniques, arts and crafts and special recreation for the aged and handicapped.

Graduates And Families Star

Commencement Applause Is Long And Enthusiastic

The applause was long and enthusiastic, and many people stood when William Fox, one of the youngest 76-year-olds you have ever seen, walked across stage to receive his A.A. Degree from Dr. Eissey.

There was an equally sustained and enthusiastic burst when Dennis Patrick Shea expertly guided his wheelchair through the aisles, just as he had done through the corridors of PBJC while earning his degree.

These were the two graduates Tuesday night at the West Palm Beach Municipal Auditorium whose story was known to the audience.

If they had known about Sheryl Horton, whose three children are dying from a genetic disorder. Or the 60 plus year old grandmother. Or the two sisters, two years apart in age, who are graduating

Retirees Honored At Roundup In The Park

One hundred sixty-two years of service to Palm Beach Junior College were represented by eight retiring faculty members at the annual Roundup in the Park held last Wednesday at John Prince Park.

Faculty and staff shared barbecued ribs, recollections of PBJC, plans for vacations, and dreams of the future.

Dolly and Homer Hand attended the festivities. Dr. Eissey opened the ceremony by updating everyone on the millage campaign. He stated that 415 community organizations representing 83,000 individual people have signed resolutions supporting our millage.

Eissey said the voting date is set for Sept. 29, and the millage is a single issue referendum. The campaign is being funded entirely by private funds.

A total of 17 retirees are leaving PBJC. Eissey said they have an average age of 66 years and the cost to the college for their early retirement and benefits is $315,360. Individually, the range for benefits goes from $4,000 to $9,200. The accumulated unused sick leave pay ranges from $261 to $17,620.

The retirees honored at the picnic were: Frank Barton, Math instructor from the North Campus--19 years; Dr. Mary Bosworth, Assistant Department Chairman of Communications and Professor in

Sports Scoop--Wait Til Next Year

Our baseball, softball and golf teams each went to state tournaments and somehow lost the momentum between near the top and the best.

The Pacer baseball team traveled to Winter Haven and lost to Chipola Junior College at Chain O' Lakes Stadium. Considering Coach Randy Gailey's first year with the college and the tough breaks the team members have had, they have many reasons to be proud to have even been in the Florida Junior College Baseball Tournament. They closed out the season with a 36-16 record.

The Lady Pacers barely missed the boat at their state championships. They lost and finished with an impressive season of 45-11.

The golf team finished third in the state at Ponce de Leon Country Club in St. Augustine.

Take heart. The men's tennis team--also the state champion tennis team--will be off to Tyler, Texas May 24 to compete in the national tennis tournament. "It's not over til it's over."

at the same time.

They probably would have shaken the concrete rafters again.

As it were, there were yells, and cheers, and even a horn blast from family members and friends who knew the individual stories of some 300 graduates out of a class of 481 who attended the ceremonies.

As usual, more than 100 cameramen, almost all of them family members making a record of a memorable event, were swarming all over the auditorium.

PBJC graduations belong to the graduates and their families. Most of the rest of us are support cast.

Another leading player Tuesday night was Clark Maxwell, Executive Director of the State Community College Board, the commencement speaker.

He reminded the graduates of how our ideas about education and who should be educated have changed since the days when only men entering the professions of law, medicine and the clergy were thought worthy to be educated in college.

Possession of a degree still gives a person an advantage, he said. With the advantage comes an obligation to be of service to the community.

Unusual moments:

*First appearance of the trustees in caps and gowns--most unusual and colorful ones in the school colors.

*Frank Adams presenting the diploma to his daughter Karen Cecelia.

*Jeanette Sanders performing the same ceremony for her daughter, Angela Joy.

Pennies From Heaven

Graduates standing in line waiting to go into the auditorium Tuesday evening were approached by fellow students holding out handfuls of pennies and asked to take one and hand it to Dr. Eissey when he gave them their diploma.

It sounded like a harmless, fun sort of a thing to do--and it did take Dr. Eissey completely by surprise.

"I almost broke out laughing two or three times," he told the audience after the ceremony had been completed.

The collection included more than 200 pennies and a few nickels, dimes and quarters.

The Monday Report could not discover who started the caper and what its basic meaning was.

It could easily have had something to do with the fact that Dr. Eissey had given a millage talk to the graduates at the rehearsal Tuesday morning, stressing the fact that millage would only cost pennies a day.

It was not intended to supplement Dr. Eissey's salary after a joke was made earlier in the meeting by Dr. Lichtblau, because the distribution of coins came before the joke.

Dr. Eissey has not yet announced what the intends to do with his unexpected bonanza.

First Bargaining Session Is May 19

The first bargaining session of this year between Palm Beach Junior College and the United Faculty of PBJC, a union of teachers, librarians and counselors, will be held Tuesday, May 19, 3 p.m., in the Parks and Recreation Building in John Prince Park.

The current contract expires June 30.

Chief negotiator for the union will be Jim Aldridge. The college negotiator will be Jesse Hogg.

the Center for Personal Instruction--20 years; Dr. Paul Dasher, Division Chair of Science and Engineering--21 years; Kenan Foley, Program Manager of CPI--21 years; Dr. Arnold Freedman, Social Science instructor--23 years; Jonathan Koontz, Director of Information Services (editor and publisher of the Monday Report)--22 years; Byron Krumm, Dental Health instructor--21 years; and Bernard Painter, Glades Business instructor since August 1972, 15 years.

Frank Barton was not able to attend as he was off enjoying his high school reunion. Dr. Mary Bosworth said,"I'm sure I will be back on campus, as there are too many things going on to keep me away."

Dr. Dasher said that his sick leave will just about earn him and his wife about 33 days on Wakiki Beach, and that is where he is going. Kenan Foley plans to move to the Georgia mountains. He said, "It has been my privilege to work at Palm Beach Junior College over the years."

Dr. Freedman did not attend, but Dr. Eissey said that he knew Freedman was going to the Islands, and he had mentioned to Dr. Eissey that "if Hart could do it, so could he."

Jonathan Koontz said that his job has "used very ounce of energy I have, and every bit of God given talents I had." Koontz encouraged the faculty to pull together because together, "you can do anything."

Byron Krumm said, "There is no nicer bunch of people or more dedicated group of professionals than at PBJC." Bernard Painter did not attend the barbecue.

Dr. Eissey closed the ceremony by mentioning the site and the progress of the Performing Arts Center. He also talked about the academic achievements of students at each campus.

PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE
PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 24 23 May 18, 1987

Credit Student Increase of 5.32%

Spring Term Enrollment Sets New Record

Palm Beach Junior College enrollment increased to its highest point ever in a Spring Term, climbing 5.32 percent in credit enrollment over last year, reaching 5,086 as opposed to last year's 4,829.

This is the seventh consecutive term in which enrollment at the community college has increased.

PBJC Central led other campuses in both numbers and percentages when 183 more students brought the total number at the campus west of Lake Worth to 2,732, a gain of 7.18 over the year.

Continuing a campus increase that goes back more than ten years, PBJC South at Boca Raton enrolled 1,012 students, a 6.64 percent gain over a year ago.

PBJC North at Palm Beach Gardens enrolled 1,139 students, an increase of 2.71 percent over a year ago.

PBJC Glades dropped 28 students from a year ago to a total of 105 students for the Spring Term, a decrease of 21 percent.

The Spring Term is a six-week term ending June 17. It is followed immediately by another six-week term, the Summer Term, which begins June 22 and continues through July 29.

The increase in student semester hours was even more impressive than in the numbers of credit students. For the college as a whole, SSH's increased 6.45 percent, in roughly the same distribution as student numbers, except that PBJC South showed a very large increase of 13.5 percent.

The total enrollment, including non-credit students, was 6,415, an increase of 138 students for a 2.2 percent increase.

President's Scholars Recognized At Awards Ceremony Tuesday

Sixty-eight scholars from 16 area high schools will become Palm Beach Junior College President's Scholars in a brief ceremony Tuesday, May 19, 7 p.m., at the Student Activity Center at PBJC Central.

Each of the scholars will receive free tuition at PBJC for the next two years if good work is maintained--a scholarship potentially worth $1,519 to each student, or a total of $103,292.

To get on the list of those eligible to become a President's Scholar, a student must be in the upper 10 percent of his graduating class with a grade point average of at least 3.0.

The largest delegation of President's Scholars this year will be from John I. Leonard, with 15, and Lake Worth, with 10. These are the two high schools nearest PBJC Central.

Other high schools are: Twin Lakes, 8; Santaluces, 7; Palm Beach Gardens, 7; Forest Hill, 4; Jupiter, 3; Glades Central, 2; Clewiston, 2; Atlantic, 2; Suncoast, 2; Lake Worth Christian, 2; and one each for Cardinal Newman, King's Academy, Christian Day, and Spanish River.

The President's Scholars Program was initiated by Dr. Eissey on May 20, 1980, and was an immediate success, not only with the scholars and their families, but with the faculty and staff at PBJC.

Dental Hygienists Score 100 Percent On Nationals

National board examinations for Dental Hygienists have been passed by every student from Palm Beach Junior College, according to department chairman Dr. James Flatley.

"We were very pleased to learn that all 30 PBJC dental students in this year's class passed the examination, and that 18 of the students scored above the national average of 85," Dr. Flatley said.

A passing score on the national boards is required before a dental hygiene student can take state board examinations necessary for licensure, Dr. Flatley explained.

PBJC's Dental Hygiene program is approved by the Florida State Board of Dentistry and is accredited by the American Dental Association.

Human Resource Information System Revised

The revised Human Resource Information System is scheduled for implementation July 1, 1987. All personnel concerned with Grant funded and part-time positions should insure that new or continuing positions have been approved and funded prior to hiring.

The new payroll system has no overrides for new or unfunded positions. When adding a grant position, verbal approval is not sufficient. The position has to be approved in the budget and funds encumbered prior to hiring. Questions should be referred to Dorothy Rajcoomar at 8022.

All part-time positions must also be approved and funded in the new year's budget. Payroll can no longer override and make payments to unfunded positions. If you have part-time positions, you should be sure that they have been approved and funded for the 1987-88 fiscal year, even if the position has been in existence for many years. Please call Payroll at 802

The Philip D. Lewis Center

North's Business/Industry Technology Center Bid Awarded

Palm Beach Junior College trustees awarded a bid of $3,751,000 for the new vocational/technical building at PBJC North Wednesday, and immediately named it the Philip D. Lewis Center for Business/Industry Technology.

The Lewis Center will be built by Mouw Associates, who specified a contract length of 550 days. Barring delays, the two-story building would be ready for occupancy in the Winter Term, 1989.

Senator Lewis, whose career in the Florida Senate included many honors and was capped by two years as president, is "a great friend to education in Florida and to Palm Beach Junior College," according to Dr. Eissey.

In discussion prior to a unanimous vote approving the name, trustees pointed out that Lewis has continued to work for education following his retirement from the Senate, serving on the Post Secondary Education Planning Commission which has charted the course for both community colleges and universities, and on the state Community College Board.

"I don't know of any other individual who has worked so hard and so effectively for education on a voluntary basis," said trustee Willard Findling.

The trustees approved a budget for 1987-88 with $26,115,947 available in the current fund group and plans to expend $25,131,506, leaving a budgeted fund

The scholars were welcomed by Dr. Philip O. Lichtblau, board chairman for the college, and by Dr. R. Camille Dorman, Assistant Superintendent of Instruction for the Palm Beach County School Board.

Dr. Eissey challenged the scholars to explore a "friendly college," and to make the most of their opportunity.

The scholars are in the upper ten percent of their graduating class with at least a 3.0 grade point average.

DECA Students Win At National Competition

Palm Beach Junior College Delta Epsilon Chi Chapter, a division of the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA), returned from their National Career Development Conference in New Orleans.

Seven students and advisors from the college were among 90 Florida students selected to participate in the conference designed to help develop future business leaders. It was held at the New Orleans Hyatt, with competition in the Super Dome, May 5-10, and over 1,800 DECA members and advisors attended.

The following students placed in the top 10 in the nation in their area:

Kym DeSantis, Sales Promotion Plan; Kris Weaver, Finance and Credit; and Robert Wonyetye, Management Decision Making: Human Relations.

The following students also participated in their areas:

Adella Bell, General Merchandising; Zoi Mikovsky, Finance and Credit; Danielle Cosmos, Full Service Restaurant Marketing; and Harmen Brenninkmeijer, General Merchandising.

Delta Epsilon Chi is the only national student organization operating through the nation's schools to attract young people to careers in marketing, merchandising and management. Its purposes are to develop a respect for education which will contribute to occupational competence, and to promote understanding in appreciation for the responsibilities of citizenship in our free, competitive enterprise system.

The purpose of the National Career Development Conference is to provide worthwhile activities to assist students in career development as they prepare to be marketing and distribution leaders of tomorrow. ...Susan Thompson

Collective Bargaining Underway

Collective bargaining got underway last Tuesday with a presentation of a list of changes in the current contract desired by the union.

There were 11 suggested changes, including one on compensation, which called for a 10.3 percent across the board increase. Jim Aldridge, negotiating for the union, said this item is subject to what the legislature actually provides in the way of increased funding.

Other changes included a bid for a two-year contract with re-openers on economic matters, a joint committee to arrange the academic calendar and other proposals similar to those put forward in previous years. Most, however, were newly offered this year.

The two-hour session consisted largely of an exploration of each proposal, with no decisions being reached.

Jesse Hogg, negotiating for the administration, said the college will have proposals of its own at the next meeting, which was set for Wednesday, 3 p.m., at John F. Kennedy Hospital in Conference Room 3.

PBJC Players Present Summer Musical

Run away to the carnival beginning June 4 as the Palm Beach Junior College Players, in association with the music department, present the delightful musical "Carnival" at the Duncan Theatre.

Directed by Frank Leahy, "Carnival" will feature many of the talented PBJC theatre students. "Carnival" is the perfect musical for our students and audience," states Leahy, who has had the experience of directing the same musical at the college--twenty years ago.

"The charm of the poignant musical about a young waif who runs away to join the carnival, is ageless. The score and lyrics are memorable and the show itself is a great challenge to our students who must recreate a carnival atmosphere on stage," Leahy continues.

"Carnival" will open at the theatre on Thursday, June 4. Performance dates are Friday, June 5, Saturday, June 6, 8 p.m., with a matinee on Sunday, June 7 at 2 p.m.

Performances the following weekend are Thursday, June 11, Friday, June 12, and Saturday, June 13 at 8 p.m. with a Sunday matinee on June 14 at 2 p.m. Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for children, and group discounts are available. balance of $984,441.

In explaining the budget, Dr. Eissey said that actual expenditures are about 93 percent of the budget, so that the estimated fund balance will be approximately $1.7 million.

Findling questioned the wisdom of fund balances lower than the recommended limit. Dr. Eissey agreed, but said balances are low because of the desire by the trustees and the administration to keep salary levels as high as possible.

The budget contained no general raises, but did allow for increments for those employees not at the top of their salary schedule.

It is based on the current level of funding, and will be amended when legislative funding for 87-88 becomes available. Dr. Eissey reported that the situation in Tallahassee is changing daily, and that one plan now alive would subtract from regular funding sources the exact amount estimated to be brought in from the lottery.

In the meeting at PBJC South, the board took several actions connected with the host campus.

* Approved plans for two more portable classrooms to try to keep pace with growth in students at the campus.

* Approved educational specifications for an Academic Lab Building at South.

* Approved preliminary plans for phase II of the classroom building and final plans for parking lot striping and lighting.

* Heard a report from Dr. Harris McGirt that the state has honored the "Have One On Us" campaign at South.

In another major action, the board approved educational specificiations for the Performing Arts Center, a 58-page document disclosing many details about the $30 million dollar center.

PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE
PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Now We Can Really Go To Work

Legislature Approves Millage Referendum

A three-year trail with more twists and turns than a two-lane road snaking over a hump back in the Carolinas has ended in victory--we have won the right to ask the people of the county to help the college with a half mill for the next five years. Now we can really go to work.

You have read very little in the Monday Report about the battle to get the legislature to agree to give us the right to engage in this simple act of democracy at work. There were two reasons for this omission.

The first is that the local media, the daily newspapers in particular, have done an excellent job. (Ray Huard's story reproduced in part from the 5/30 Post on page 2 is an example.)

The second is that you almost had to have a daily deadline to follow the story. In some instances we were up, and down, and back up again in one day, or one morning.

At last month's trustee meeting, Dr. Eissey gave a hopeful report on the progress of the bill through the legislature, and thanked everyone--legislature, business leaders, community groups, faculty and staff--for their support.

Dr. Philip Lichtblau, board chairman, said that in this matter, the president was being too modest.

"If this goes through and is successful, one man will be primarily responsible, and that is Dr. Eissey," he said.

Both men were right.

Congratulations over, it is now time to put into practice the plans already made to get information to the people about our special millage election.

A vital part of the plans that will

Reputation Growing In Water/Wastewater

Palm Beach Junior College has been honored by the Department of Environmental Resources by being chosen to author a training manual for use by the Wastewater operator training facilities in the State of Florida.

The manual will include course outlines, training objectives, lists of educational resources, educational specifications for facilities, and suggested course timelines.

The authors of the manual are Nancy Bentum and Lee Kraft, both of whom are members of the Water/Wastewater Advisory Committee, employed at local wastewater processing facilities and adjunct instructers for PBJC. For their efforts in writing the 188 page manual, the Department of Education has provided Nancy and Lee with a vocational grant for $1,200.

As the result of Nancy's and Lee's efforts and the efforts of the other members of the PBJC Water/Wastewater Advisory Committee, PBJC has gained a reputation in the state of Florida for its innovative Water/Wastewater training program.

This recognition has placed PBJC in the envied position of serving as a consultant for the training programs at other state training centers.

The impact is that PBJC is consulted for statewide curriculum content, licensing examination topics, facility specifications, and educational resources.

be put into effect is the active participation of faculty, staff, students and alumni through campus millage committees.

Volunteers will be needed for such things as speaking, telephoning, stuffing envelopes, and other campaign-type activities.

To avoid complacency, and the expectation that our leader can do it all, just remind yourself that there are many new taxes in the news these days, and it could well be that we will be facing a public that is hostile to the idea of any more taxes by the time we can get the election day scheduled.

We are strong with the public and the community. They like us. The question will be whether they like us more than they hate the idea of a new tax, no matter how small and temporary it is.

We will all need to work. To volunteer, please call John Schmiederer at Central, Florence Duda at South, Allan Gerson at North, and Mary Orsenigo at Glades. Please don't delay. It is later than you think.

Another immediate step would be to volunteer information about organizations and groups that would welcome an informational appearance by the college. Please call Betty Woolfe at Central, 439-8245. The appearances need to be scheduled now.

We learned in 1980 that hard work and planning pay off. Let's do it again.

PBJC wins 2-year battle for right to seek tax hike

By RAY HUARD
Palm Beach Post Staff Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Palm Beach Junior College Friday won a two-year fight with the Legislature for the right to ask county voters to raise property taxes to expand and renovate the college.

"I have chills all over me, my chills have chills," said PBJC President Ed Eissey. "What a relief."

The House by a unanimous vote approved a PBJC referendum that will ask county voters to raise annual property taxes for five years by 50 cents per $1,000 of appraised property value.

✓ House approves countywide health-care taxing district 3B

The Senate has approved the bill; it now goes to Gov. Bob Martinez.

PBJC lobbyist Pat Myers was so elated by the vote that she dashed from the House gallery, ran up to Reps. Frank Messersmith, R-Lake Worth, and Ray Liberti, D-West Palm Beach, in the capital rotunda and kissed them.

"I never worked on something so hard in my whole life," Myers said.

Eissey said he will push for a special referendum Sept. 29 on the tax plan so the money could be collected on the 1988 tax bills.

Eissey said leaders of 441 county organizations already have signed petitions supporting the plan, which he said should give it an edge going into the referendum.

"We feel as though we have a good shot at it," Eissey said.

The tax would raise an estimated $75 million over five years.

"Our first priority is classrooms and updating equipment we have that Christo-

An Authors Celebration

A veteran newspaperman, the editor of Bar Sinister Press, a retired RCA businessman turned writer, a romance writer and judge of the Orange County (California) Writing Contest--these were the diverse literary types that mixed with the crowd of 130 persons attending the First Authors Luncheon at PBJC North Library.

The authors were Ives Cary, Vincent Miranda, Nick Nixon and Sydney Clary, but 13 other writers were equally honored for their literary accomplishments.

Two radio talk show hosts shared their writing experiences with the guests: Linda Marx Cole of WJNO and Terry Garrity of WPBR.

Alice Zacherl, LLRC Director, moderated the program that was highlighted by writer Edith Delatush who told the audience to "write for enjoyment."

She admonished those in attendance to "sit down and do it. There are so many people here with stories in their heads just waiting to be put on paper."

Representing the LLRC Advisory Committee, Frederick Krantz spoke of the library's role in community involvement.

In grand style, Dr. Eissey awarded 12 beautiful door prizes, including a pair of diamond earrings and a large framed print by a noted Alaskan artist.

Underwriting for the Authors Luncheon was provided by Centel Cable, Harris 3M Company, Max Davis Associates, and Omni Interiors.

Zacherl said, "We feel we had an exceptional response. It was a celebration of creative energy that we hope to repeat next year in an even better way."

Advisory Boards Meet At Glades

Two advisory board meetings were held last Thursday at Palm Beach Junior College Glades, according to campus director, Mary Orsenigo.

The newly formed Glades Campus Advisory Board held its second meeting at 8:45 a.m., and the Minority Advisory Board, which has been in operation for some time, met at 7p.m.

Both boards were concerned with planning for the Fall Term. The Glades campus remains open through the Spring Term and opens again prior to the beginning of the Fall Term.

Collective Bargaining Continues

For the first time since collective bargaining began at the college in 1975, negotiators have agreed to a two-year contract. If current negotiations are successful, the contract will run from June 30, 1987 to June 30, 1989, with reopeners on salary.

A multi-year contract has been sought by the United Faculty for several years. Administration negotiators said the "maturing relationship" between the union and the college, and a contract that requires fewer changes each year prompted their agreement.

Negotiations continued through the third session Wednesday, with progress on almost all non-economic matters. A fourth session is scheduled for Tuesday, 3 p.m., at the Parks and Recreation Center in John Prince Park.

Camp Junior College Starts Fifth Season June 22

The 40 or so youngsters, nine to 13 years of age, invading the halls and rooms of PBJC Central for the next six weeks, will be attending Camp Junior College, which starts its fifth consecutive successful season a week from today.

If you haven't gotten your child enrolled in one or both of the two three-week sessions, you need to move very rapidly, according to Jennifer McCormick, who is Continuing Education coordinator for the camp.

"There are only a couple of places left in each session," she said last Wednesday. "We have a limit of 40."

Sessions are coordinated with the college week, meeting Monday through Thursday, 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. The cost is $75 per three week session. The program is entirely supported through fees.

From a quarter to a third of the campers each year have been children of faculty and staff members. All campers utilize many different campus facilities, and become aware of the college as a friendly place.

A PBJC teacher not on duty at this time is normally hired as camp director, and PBJC students are used as camp counselors. This year, Rusty Smith, son of PBJC South's Noel Smith, will be one of the counselors. For more information, call 439-8014.

The meeting date of the Board of Trustees in June has been changed to tomorrow, Tuesday, June 16, 7:30 p.m., in Conference C at PBJC Central. The board has voted to dispense with the July meeting, so the next regular meeting will be in August.

Collective Bargaining Resumes June 25

Collective bargaining in the 1987/88 round has gone so well that teams for PBJC and the United Faculty will take a week off while the administration gets accurate information about funding from Tallahassee.

The main event has been scheduled Thursday, June 25, 3:30 p.m. in the Parks and Recreation Building in John Prince Park. Salaries and other economic matters will be discussed at that time.

If you were expecting a slugfest, don't come. You'll be disappointed.

Both sides are adopting a problem-solving approach, and are giving evidence of the essential trust it takes to make an agreement. As a result, all but one or two items have been successfully negotiated.

As of this writing, even though the legislature had adjourned, news about community college funding has been so poorly reported that we know almost nothing about this vital, 70 percent of our funding for next year.

Glades Campus Receives $500 Scholarship

Back in April, the Glades Campus cooperated with the Belle Glade Lions Club by co-sponsoring the Harvest Queen Contest as part of the Black Gold Jubilee, and recently the Lions Club showed its appreciation.

The club presented Mary Orsenigo, campus director, with a $500 scholarship for a Glades student. The scholarship funds are already in the PBJC Foundation, and will be available for use in the Fall Term.

Way To Go, Toby!

Dr. Patricia Dyer, vice president of academic affairs, recently received the following letter from a student, and we thought the readers of the Monday Report would be interested in this as well. The letter follows.

"Recently I attended a seminar on establishing a consulting business by a local company specializing in consulting and training. The fee for this four hour course was more than double the amount I paid for the Entrepreneur Class directed by Toby Chabon.

The contrast between these two programs was so great that it has prompted me to write to you commending PBJC's program. Since completing the course last Fall, I have established my business and have several clients in the Palm Beach area.

The content of Ms. Chabon's class was most inclusive and outstanding in its delivery and presentation. I really cannot say enough good things about it. I recommend the course to all who mention their interest in starting their own business.

Please convey my thanks and appreciation to Ms. Chabon and the instructors for their outstanding work."

Groundbreaking Set For Philip D. Lewis Center

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the Philip D. Lewis Center for Business/Industry Technology at Palm Beach Junior College North at 10 a.m. on June 22 will be attended by more than 90 invited guests and by others from the college and the general public.

"This is more than just a groundbreaking for a vital building," said Dr. Ottis Smith, PBJC North Provost. "We are honoring a great legislator, and a friend of business, industry, and education."

Business, industry, education, and political leaders from the county and state are planning to attend.

Lewis was president of the senate at the time PBJC was seeking to expand its service to the people in the northern part of the county.

"Without his help, we could not have been able to develop our North Campus," Dr. Smith said.

Ceremonies will take place near sheltered walkways adjacent to the Burt Reynolds Student Center. Parking is nearby.

Smith described the program as a series of short speeches from persons representing business, industry, faculty, students, and administration, including trustees.

There will be a reception following the actual groundbreaking part of the ceremonies.

An Important Announcement About The Equicor Dental Plan

The Personnel Office has received important clarifying information for all employees covered by the Equicor Indemnity Dental Plan.

BEFORE beginning any dental work likely to cost more than $200 (except for emergency work), such employees and their dentists are required to fill out a Dental Claim Form and check off the box indicating "Dentist's Pre-Treatment Estimate."

Equicor will then send you a pre-determination of allowances so that you will know exactly what they will cover in the proposed treatment.

Alternate methods of dental treatment can vary widely in cost, and pre-determination of allowances is the only way you can know how much Equicor will pay on a proposed course of treatment costing more than $200.

The Personnel Department will be happy to share any information they have on this process.

Trustees Arrange Earlier Pay Increases

With trustee approval Tuesday night, Dr. Eissey cleared the way for action to raise salaries and implement part or all of the Cody Report effective on July 1, if possible.

Six Percent Plus Cody Report

Just before deadline, the announcement from Dr. Eissey printed in bold face below was received for inclusion in this issue.

The Monday Report has learned that reliable information from the state arrived even earlier than anticipated, and that only the basic decision announced below has been made. However, there are many details yet to be worked out about specific instances.

There will, no doubt, be many questions about specific instances, but inquiries now will only impede the process. Wait a week and more complete information will be available. The announcement follows:

Dr. Eissey has announced that a general increase of 6 percent will be granted to classified, professional and administrative personnel for the 1987-88 year. He also stated that certain college personnel would receive additional increases when the Cody Report salary changes are implemented.

An offer will be extended to full time faculty at the collective bargaining meeting which will be held on Thursday, June 25.

Further information will be forthcoming from the Administration next week.

. . . Joseph M. Schneider

Dr. Eissey said the college will be learning sometime this week how much state funding will be available next year and will offer an economic package to union negotiators on June 25.

The Cody Report, a pay and classification study, has just been received, and costs of recommended changes are being calculated.

Since the board's next regular meeting is scheduled for Aug. 19, Dr. Eissey sought and received permission to act in time for the July 1 change of the fiscal year.

The first item of business for the board Tuesday was an annual organization. The board's choice was to continue Dr. Philip Lichtblau as chairman and Mrs. Homer Hand as vice chairman. Time and place of meetings remains the same as this year.

Dr. Bernard Kimmel replaced Lawrence M. Abramson as the result of state cabinet action earlier on the same day, and the presence of two medical doctors on the board was noted in a humorous way by Dr. Lichtblau.

The chairman threatened to grant Dr. Eissey a year's sabbatical and get the doctors to hire him as a lobbyist for the upcoming special legislative session on malpractice insurance.

Among personnel items noted by Dr. Eissey was the employment of Sheila Bertino as Director, College Relations and Marketing, a new title and shift of emphasis for the position formerly called Director of Information Services.

Bertino has been an employee of the county

Keeping Good Community Relations

Last May, Dr. Dyer sent the Monday Report a copy of a letter from Lawrence Liss, Director of the Palm Beach Academic Games League, expressing "heartfelt thanks" of 1,777 elementary, middle, and senior high students for the use of the facilities in the Allied Health Building for the 1986-87 school year. We think some of the facts in the last part of that letter are interesting:

"Forty-one of our League All-Stars competed in the National Academic Games Olympics in late April and won several awards, including four national championships. In addition, Bradd Weinberg of Forest Hill High School, was named the outstanding senior player in the nation this Spring.

We are very appreciative of your hospitality. Please give our hearty thanks to the Allied Health Building personnel, who are very pleasant and cooperative. We look forward to continuing cooperation in the future."

Performing Arts Center Schematics Approved

Some new information about the Performing Arts Center was revealed by H. Spencer Graves, Construction Manager, as he explained phase one schematics to the trustees Tuesday night. The board approved the schematics and sent them to Tallahassee for state department review.

Graves explained that the plans are still in process of evolving, and that further changes probably will be made.

The site plan shows a triangular shaped property, with the main entrance from Sixth Avenue South, immediately east of our baseball and softball fields. The northern point of the triangle is some distance north of the Physical Plant Building.

The Center buildings will be close to Lake Osborne, at the apex of the triangle, with some realignment of roads and running paths around the lake to make this possible.

Graves said the buildings will cover about two acres. Much of the rest of the 15-acre site will be taken up with parking for 1,000 cars, all to the west of the buildings.

The schematics of the auditorium show a traditional, tiered auditorium with 1,000 seats in the orchestra, and 2,214 seats overall. The additional seating will be in three tiers in an area at the back of the auditorium.

The banquet room is divisible, but when configured at its largest, will have space for 500 sit-down diners.

A multi-purpose rehearsal hall, offices and other work spaces are behind the stage area.

A basement level underneath the stage will have an orchestra pit and room for all mechanical operations.

Graves said the schematics evolved after consultation with all parties involved and incorporate suggestions from many different sources.

Philip D. Lewis Center Groundbreaking Today

Dignitaries, business leaders, political figures and representatives of the college will honor Senator Philip D. Lewis at the official groundbreaking of the new business/industry technology building this morning at the North Campus.

"The building was named for Senator Lewis because he was one of the driving forces behind the securement of the land and the obtaining of funds to build the North Campus," said Dean of Instruction Dan Terhune.

Guests and speakers for the ceremony include Dr. Eissey; Clerk Maxwell, Executive Director of the Florida Community College Board; representatives of the District Board of Trustees; representatives of business, education and government; and Senator Lewis himself.

Terhune added that approximately 300 guests are expected and recommends that those attending should arrive at 9:30 a.m. and park at the southeast parking lot near the Burt Reynolds Student Services Center.

There will be a reception following the ceremony in the Burt Reynolds Student Services Center.

PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE
PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 28 June 29, 1987

Plus Increased Accrued Sick Leave

Faculty Is Offered An Eight Percent Increase

The administration offered the United Faculty an eight percent across the board raise Thursday afternoon. Union spokesmen said they could "work within" that figure while considering the rest of their economic package.

The college offer is non-retroactive, and will not go into effect until agreement has been reached on the entire contract.

With both sides indicating they are close to an agreement, another meeting has been set for 3:30 today at the Parks and Recreation Building in John Prince Park.

The eight percent increase was actually the second economic offer made Thursday.

The administration offered to include United Faculty in a proposed new board rule that will allow an increase in accrued sick leave pay upon termination made possible by a new law passed on the last day of the legislative session.

The union was quick to accept the offer.

The new rule, to be effective Jan. 1, will add 2.5 percent per year to the 50 percent now available at 10 years, beginning with the 11th year and rising to 100 percent at 30 years. The new law was permissive, not mandatory, and requires board action to be put into effect.

The eight percent raise will be added to minimums and maximums of each academic rank, to increments, to overload rates, and to the amounts paid program managers.

The offer also includes a $1 per hour raise to payment for non-credit courses, which now range from $15 to $19 per hour, according to rank.

Increments will be granted to those eligible, but not beyond the maximum for any range.

A salary schedule of the new offer shows

Summer Term Scores 12 Percent Increase

Palm Beach Junior College continued to increase in student population and number of courses taken in the Summer Term--the eighth straight term which increased over year-ago figures.

The increase in total students from 4,183 last year to 4,689 this year was a significant 12.1 percent increase in headcount. The increase in student semester hours from 13,209.7 to 14,931.1, a 13.07 percent increase, was even more impressive, since funding from the state is based on student semester hours.

The summer term, which got underway June 22, is a six-week term ending July 29. It is the smallest term of the year, traditionally about half of the enrollment for the summer term, which is about half the enrollment for either of the two full terms, Fall and Winter.

Altogether, in the course of a full year, the college generally serves some 36,000 different students.

As had been true in earlier terms this year, PBJC Central, the largest campus, led the increase, gaining 288 credit students for an 18.08 percent increase. PBJC North gained 67 students for an 8.06 percent increase. PBJC South gained 65 students for an 8.63 percent increase. PBJC Glades does not open for the Summer Term.

Dr. Eissey cited the increases as one

IBM And Galsky Dental Lab Honored At Awards Banquet

IBM was selected from the large business category and Galsky Dental Laboratory, Inc., was selected in the small business category as the 1987 winners of the PBJC Business/Community Partnership Awards.

Over 200 business leaders, friends and representatives of the college gathered at the Breakers Hotel Friday, June 19 to honor eight large businesses and four smaller businesses that have contributed to the college in many ways.

Each nominee was honored in appreciation of their exemplary support for students through scholarships, through service on advisory committees, advocacy and in-service programs for the faculty, and through donations of funds, materials and equipment.

This year, the college received donations of robots, computers, $15,000 in value of trees for landscaping, baseball facilities, $5,000 cash for the PBJC Special Projects Fund, the start up costs for the resident orchestra, I Musici Da Camera, dental scholarships, athletic equipment, and much appreciated cash donations.

Congressman Dan Mica was the keynote speaker at the awards dinner. He spoke to the crowd about the issues of the day in Congress, told a few amusing stories, and praised the business leaders for being involved in education.

"People rich or poor should have the opportunity to attend a community college, and get a much needed educational experience," Mica said. "You have young people at Palm Beach Junior College who may be the leaders of tomorrow."

The finalists for large businesses included: Barnett Bank, First American Bank, Florida Power and Light Company, Jonathan's Landing, Motorola, Inc., and Sun Bank/South Florida.

The small business category included: Atlantis Country Club, Colee and Company, Inc., and Florida Precision Graphics Corporation.

Millage Committee Seeks Donations

Although the millage election date, Oct. 13, may seem a long way away, the college urgently needs voluntary donations from any friend of the college to pay for campaign expenses.

The laws governing campaigns are exact, and all expenditures must go through the Committee for PBJC Millage. None of these funds can come from our regular budget in any way. None of these funds can come from our regular Foundation funds, even funds which have been donated with no strings attached.

Although every effort is being made to utilize the least-expensive methods possible for getting the millage information to the public, some expenditures are absolutely necessary.

The Committee for PBJC Millage is prepared to accept donations of $10 or more for the specific purpose of campaign expenses for the millage election. Donations are tax deductible in exactly the same way other campaign donations are deducted.

The millage election is the most exciting financial opportunity in the college's history. Donations are urgently needed now if we are to get our message across to the public.

The PBJC Foundation has information about the Committee for PBJC Millage, and will transmit funds to the committee. However, checks should be made out to the Committee for PBJC Millage. Additional information may be obtained at 439-8072.

North Breaks Ground For Philip D. Lewis Center

An overflow crowd, perhaps 100 or so more than could be seated, attended the ground breaking of the new vocational/technical building at PBJC North last Monday.

Among those in attendance were some of the real leaders of the community and the state--mayors, county commissioners, legislators, including two former Senate presidents, the chairman and the executive director of the state community college board and many others.

Ground was being broken for an important building--38,000 square feet on two floors, about $4 million for the building and another million for equipment for labs for some important new programs--but that is not what brought the people there.

It was a nice, sunshine-filled day--but that is not what brought them out.

There were some good speakers--a dozen of them, as a matter of fact--but that is not why everybody was there.

There was a reception after the groundbreaking, with a nice buffet--but they were not there for the food.

What brought the people out, and prompted the speeches about a good, informed, effective man was the name given the new building by the board of trustees--the Philip D. Lewis Center for Business/Industry Technology.

Speaker after speaker said the college "could not have chosen a better person" to name the center for, and Dr. Eissey said our good friend, Phil, had honored us by accepting the designation.

Bishop Thomas V. Daily, in the opening prayer, set the tone, mentioning a "good and gentle man," and the "lives of those who have a radiance of virtue."

Mrs. Homer Hand, speaking for the trustees, spoke of Phil's effectiveness, both as a legislator and as a private citizen, and said his effectiveness was based on both information and personal integrity, themes returned to again and again by other speakers.

Clark Maxwell, executive director of the state board of community colleges, said the Center name was especially approriate, but that almost any educational building and many in other areas of the state life, might have been named for the former president of the Senate.

Senator Lewis responded by talking about the importance of his support from family, friends and church. He graciously accepted a resolution from the board.

After the speechmaking, a multi-shovel brigade actually broke ground, several times, on the site where the building will stand.

One of the shovels, the small silver one in the midst of the larger golds, has taken part in every ground breaking ever held at PBJC. Its next job will be at PBJC South.

Nanny Training Offered Fall Term

A new component in one of our courses in Child Development will offer "Nanny" training beginning in the Fall Term, according to Celeste Beck, Division Chairman.

The "Nanny" training will be conducted partly as an in-home training program, with placement for the students being provided by Reimer Employment Agency of Palm Beach.

The demand for quality child care is increasing at all levels of society, both in single-parent homes, and in homes where both parents are working.

The college has already pioneered in this area in the Child Development Associates program, and the new arrangement is a part of the continuing effort by the college to meet the educational needs of the community, Beck said.

the range for senior instructor on a 198 day contract (the category in which more teachers fit than any other) to go from $23,082 to $34,833. This compares to the current $20,800 to $31,681.

The smallest range, an instructor on 168 days, will be $18,744 to $25,188. The largest, full professor on 12 months, will be $30,261 to $45,784. The extreme ranges are seldom used.

A number of minor economic matters remain unsettled.

The union does not favor a college proposal to reward up to 10 percent of the faculty for excellence in teaching with a $1,000 one-time payment.

It would prefer to use those funds to increase the college offer to pay one-half of the cost of academic regailia to picking up the entire cost.

At Thursday's meeting, Jim Aldridge, union negotiator, sought to tie those two items together with a union proposal to allow exemplary performance to substitute for required semester hours of coursework. The initial response was not favorable.

As in all of the four previous sessions this year, considerable progress was made in finding solutions for problems that could have barred a contract.

Dr Eissey has previously announced a six percent increase for all non-union personnel at the college, plus implementation of the Cody Report, a compensation study by an outside firm of consultants. If fully implemented, the report will cost approximately two percent of that part of the payroll.

It is still a bit premature to answer questions about the Cody Report and its recommendations. Individual inquiries to Personnel are not encouraged at this time.

When information is available--and it is hoped that this will be later on this week--the Personnel office will inform those who are involved in writing.

With the change of the fiscal year here, and with the many changes in payroll status for everyone, both Payroll and Personnel are swamped with work. Individual inquiries at this point will merely slow down the process.

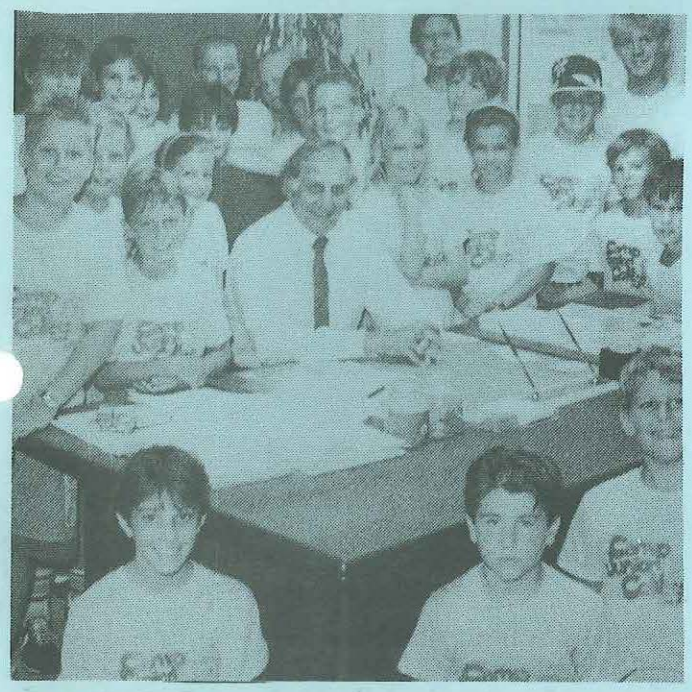
First Two Year Contract

Union Accepts College Offer

Negotiations between Palm Beach Junior College and the United Faculty of PBJC ended at 4:30 p.m. Monday afternoon with handshakes and smiles all around. The first two-year contract in the history of the college seems a virtual certainty.



Dr. Eissey is pictured with the Camp Junior College kids on his birthday, June 23. Talk about an open door policy!

All that remains is ratification by the unit membership and by the board of trustees, and no problems are foreseen.

The union accepted the college offer of an eight percent across the board raise, and accepted a last-hour proposal from the college to withdraw its excellence in teaching award proposal and to pay full cost of academic regalia for teachers on continuing contract.

The union withdrew its proposal for exemplary performance to be counted in advancement in rank.

A potentially sticky problem involving insurance payments was postponed until compensation reopeners, scheduled for next year.

As it has in the past, the college offered to make the agreement effective July 1, even though it is obvious that ratification cannot be fully accomplished by that time.

The current round of negotiations ended as it began in an atmosphere of friendship and cooperation with a dollop of trust added from time to time.

Both sides seemed intent on listening thoroughly before reacting, and understanding the concerns of the other side, even if a negative reply had to be given.

Not one of the six sessions was wasted. Problems which might have resulted in weeks of haggling in prior years melted quickly before a constant attitude of problem solving fueled by good will.

designed purely as an internal line of communication to all employees, mostly announcing events and reporting on them.

After launching, Dr. Eissey allowed me to develop the Monday Report, for the most part, on my own--and in my own style.

The result has been that the Monday Report is now widely read throughout the state. We have been able to maintain credibility and authority with a minimum of educationalese and bureaucratic mumble.

An even more important result for me, personally, has been the opportunity to develop my own writing skills. The best of my Monday Report writing--some of the obits for instance--holds up well on repeated readings, and may even be of some permanent value.

If it is, it will be because I truly admired, respected, and loved those I wrote about--and that feeling came through the words.

Salary Increases Effective July 20

During the next two weeks, a major conversion is being made from one personnel/payroll system to another. The first paychecks will be issued on the new system on July 20, 1987. The system conversion is a major undertaking which will result in a considerable amount of overtime being worked by the Personnel and Payroll Office.

Consequently, individual telephone calls to Personnel or Payroll on such items as the Cody Report are discouraged. However, college personnel should be aware of several changes.

On the July 20 paycheck, Personnel expects to implement the six percent across-the-board increase, plus Cody Report changes when applicable, for all classified, professional and administrative personnel. At the same time, the eight percent across-the-board increase to 12-month full-time faculty is also expected to be implemented.

By July 20, Personnel is planning to issue correspondence to all 12-month employees indicating their new salaries.

In addition to the salary, and in some cases reclassifications, a change is being made in the deductions for medical/dental and vision insurance. Beginning with the July 20 paycheck, there will be semi-monthly rather than monthly deductions for insurance premiums.

If there are any questions after receiving salary information, employees may call Personnel for clarification.

A new course titled English Speakers of Other Languages will be offered to international and foreign students, according to John Schmiederer, Dean of Instruction at PBJC Central.

"Many students that have difficulty in regular classes and are not native American English speaking students are only having problems with the language, not the coursework," Schmiederer said.

ESOL will be offered beginning in the upcoming Fall Term. For more information, contact John Schmiederer at 439-8211.

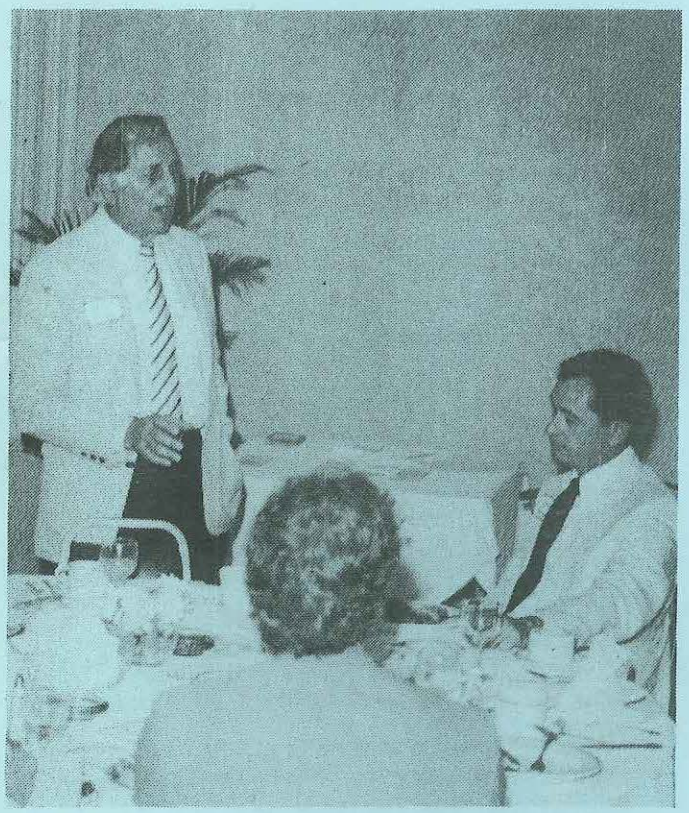
Business Leaders Support PBJC Millage

Business leaders from the north end of the county gathered Tuesday morning at MacArthurs Vineyard in Palm Beach Gardens for a Blue Ribbon Breakfast. The meeting, hosted by Dr. Ottis Smith and the PBJC North Campus and sponsored by the Foundation, focused on community support for the College's temporary, five-year, half-mill levy.



Dr. Eissey seeks support for millage at Blue Ribbon Breakfast.

"The funds from the proposed millage will be used only for needed construction, maintenance, renovations and equipment. It is not to be used for salaries," Dr. Eissey said.

He presented the capital improvements needed at all four campuses. The list included the permanent buildings at South Campus.

"State funds for PBJC have not matched the growth in Palm Beach County and the College receives no county funds," Dr. Eissey said. "The local half-mill levy will provide the needed monies to update the four campuses."

Those business leaders present at the breakfast asked how they might help the College in its millage efforts. Dr. Eissey told the group to encourage their employees to register to vote and to go to the polls on October 13. They were also asked to distribute millage information to their employees through company newsletters, paycheck stuffers and posters.

"Barnett Bank will provide telephone lines for after-hour use by College volunteers," Jay Crews said. "We will also contact our 1100 employees."

"Florida Power and Light will post PBJC millage posters on company bulletin boards," said Gary Forney. "We will carry the millage information in our newsletters, too."

Other key community leaders voicing their support were Marion Lewis, State Representative from District 81; Morris Tobias, Bob Keating, John McRoberts, Cy Smith, Gordon Gaster, Dick Gruenwald, Dan Calloway, Spencer Webster, Josh Murray, Chinesta Skipper and Elvin Richardson.

PBJC Honors State Legislators

Palm Beach Junior College officials held an appreciation dinner for the Palm Beach County Legislators on Wednesday, July 15 at the Central Campus. Dr. Eissey used the occasion to praise the legislators for continued support of the College.

Mrs. Homer J. Hand, representing the District Board of Trustees for PBJC, thanked the legislators for understanding the needs of the College.

"These monies are vital to programs that serve our senior citizens, parents, low-income residents, youth, and the disadvantage," he said as he focused on PBJC's Community Instructional Services Funds.

JTPA Grant Awarded To North Campus

During a Tuesday Press Conference, Palm Beach Junior College officials announced that the North Campus has received second-year funding for the Dislocated Workers Program. The funds are in the form of a Title III Grant under the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA).

The JTPA Grant will provide $70,000 in matching funds. The College, in turn, provides instructional and clerical staff, classroom facilities, job placement personnel, and other related services for training dislocated workers.

The program, offered for the first time last year, was very successful. This year, the grant was awarded directly to PBJC North by the State Department of Labor.

Claudia Lambert, who completed the program last year, said, "This is a dream come true." She completed the class in only five weeks. "On the same week I finished training, I was hired by Florida Power and Light through Kelly Services," she added.

Students attend the training program free of charge. Upon completion of the program, the student is placed in a job, and receives individual career counseling during the training and on-the-job.

PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 36 August 24, 1987

Burt Reynolds Student Center Dedicated

The North Campus Student Center was officially dedicated in honor of Burt Reynolds, last Saturday. The ceremony was held to honor Reynolds, a former PBJC student who has continued to contribute his talents and resources to Palm Beach County.

Dr. Philip O. Lichtblau, Board of Trustees Chairman, called Reynolds one of Palm Beach County's favorite sons. "Even with his great successes, Burt has remembered his home," said Lichtblau.

Reynolds was introduced by Dr. Eissey, who referred to Burt as one of Hollywood's all-time box office favorites. Eissey called The Longest Yard and Deliverance favorite films.

"We are proud to say that Burt attended PBJC," said Eissey. "He was enrolled in classes under the direction of Watson B. Duncan."

New Board Member Honored At Reception

During a reception held Wednesday night, Dr. Bernard Kimmel was honored as the newest confirmed member of the Board of Trustees. College officials and staff, media representatives, and other Board members were present to meet Dr. Kimmel.

Also present were the two new appointees to the Board. John C. Sansbury and Don Reed have been appointed by Governor Martinez. They must still be confirmed before they are officially members of the Board.

Following the reception, the regular monthly Board Meeting convened. Dr. Eissey welcomed the existing Board members and the two appointees. He also thanked Board members, Willard Findling and Mrs. Elisabeth Wesley, for their dedicated service to Palm Beach Junior College.

Other preliminary items included the introduction of several new administrative staff and faculty. The Board viewed the Millage Slide Show and were briefed on the promotional plans for the election.

As part of the agenda, the voting members of the Board repealed the required fingerprinting of new employees. In the past, prints were kept at the police department and were seldom checked. In addition, fingerprinting is not common in the Community College System.

The Board confirmed the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the District Board of Trustees and the United

Classified Staff Enjoys Coffee With Ed

The classified staff were treated to coffee and doughnut holes last Tuesday in the gymnasium during a brief presentation on the upcoming Millage election.

Dr. Eissey welcomed the staff and introduced a slide show that will be shown throughout the community in the coming weeks to raise public awareness of the Millage issue.

"Our goal is to ask every single person associated with our organization to get three other people to vote yes. We must get that vote on October 13," Eissey said. He also spoke of the improvements that are planned for each campus that will affect the staff. "There is only one issue on the ballot on October 13, and that issue is yours," he added.

Eissey stressed that each staff member must consider the campaign a number one priority until 7 p.m. on October 13. "I am personally and professionally committed to improve your lot, as well as your working conditions and to make your lives better at Palm Beach Junior College," Eissey said in closing.

The informational tabloids that are used to promote the campaign were distributed at the meeting. If anyone wishes more tabloids, palm cards, "good investment" stickers or envelope-size cards for recruiting "YES" votes, or if you wish to volunteer to make phone calls, stuff envelopes or label mailers, please contact Betty Woolfe's office at 8247.

Faculty of Palm Beach Junior College.

Fees were updated for the use of the Watson B. Duncan, III Theatre. An overall charge was approved to replace the past fee structure.

The term for Trustees was changed. Terms will now end on June 30 of the year of expiration rather than on May 31.

Salary increases were confirmed by the Board. Faculty received an eight percent increase. Administrative and classified employees received six percent plus changes recommended in the Cody Report.

The meeting was concluded with a reminder that the next Board meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, September 22, 1987.

Present at the Trustees meeting were Dr. Philip O. Lichtblau, Board Chairman; Dr. Bernard Kimmel; John C. Sansbury; Mrs. Dolly Hand, Vice Chairman; and Don Reed.

"Reynolds has remembered his beginnings and has shared his good fortune with the local community," Eissey commented. "By naming our student center in your honor, we are saying we are very proud of a local boy who made good, and thank you for remembering us and sharing your success."

In accepting the honor, Burt was at a loss for words. He gave much credit for his successful acting career to his former acting teacher, Watson B. Duncan, III.

"I went to PBJC when it was located in Lake Park," he reflected. "The College consisted of one building and a church. Watson taught the literature classes."

"Watson is the finest teacher in the United States," Burt commented. "He was successful in teaching me that there was more to my life than just athletics."

According to Reynolds, he was asked by Watson to audition for the College play. He did try out and got the part. As a result of his performance, Burt received an award that allowed him to go to Hyde Park, New York. There he worked with many professional actors.

"It was a magical time for me," Burt said. "Watson pushed me and he provided the moral support I needed."

I have kept all of Watson's letters of encouragement," Reynolds revealed. "Mr. Watson B. Duncan, III has become one of my most cherished treasures."

Following the ceremony, those persons attending mingled with Burt, and posed for pictures. It was a special event for Burt Reynolds as well as the College.

PBJC Faculty Member Is Working To Save Scrub In Boca

Adjunct Central Campus Biology instructor Dan Boyer has been in the newspapers lately for his work with the Coalition for Wilderness Islands.

The environmentalist group was originally formed by Stella Ross to save a large area of scrub land near Yamato Road. Boyer has been working to save some scrub land that is now being threatened by developers in the South County area.

"The scrub land habitat is a home for many near extinct plants and animals such as the scrub jay and some types of lizards and flowering plants," Boyer said. He has been taking public officials on walking tours of the endangered land to show them the unique animal and plant life that is vital to the ecology in the area.

Boyer says that 99% of Palm Beach County's scrub land has been lost since 1900, and the land that is in question is part of an "irreplaceable ecosystem."

Currently, Boyer is also a consultant to the Treasure Coast Planning Council and other local environmentalist groups.

Condominium Operations and Laws

In response to a new law mandated by Governor Bob Martinez, Palm Beach Junior College North will offer a specialized course for managers of homeowner's associations. The law now requires managers of condominiums, co-operatives, mobile home parks, time-sharing properties and planned urban developments to be licensed by the state.

"The law is effective as of October 1, 1987, and all managers are required to have already passed the state examination by October of 1988," said Dr. Herbert Minot, instructor of the course. Minot said that managers may only obtain certification through the state and the course is specifically designed to prepare the student for the test.

Condominium Operations and Laws will be offered on Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, beginning September 12 and concluding October 24. The fee is $24 for Florida residents.

For further information, contact the North Campus Continuing Education Office at 622-2440.

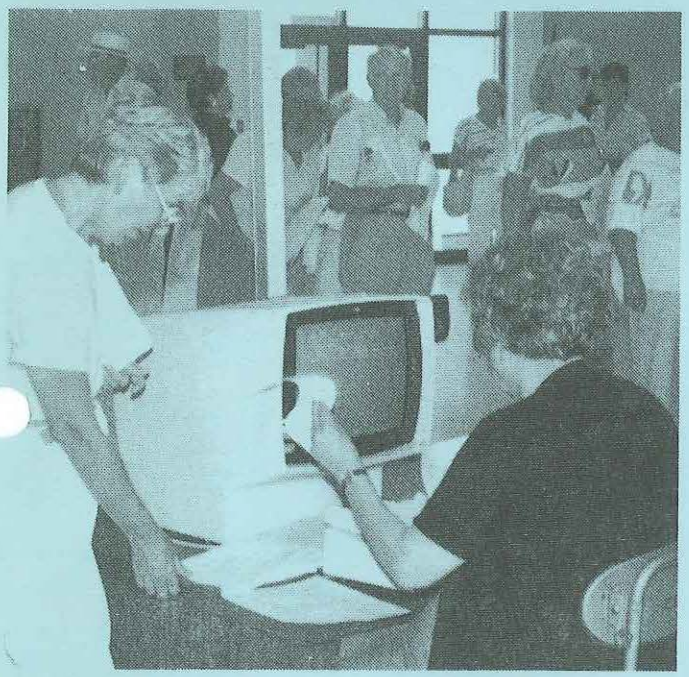
Ed Pugh Re-creates History On 800 Mile Trek

While many of us were relaxing and enjoying our vacations this summer, Ed Pugh was tracing an 800 mile route taken by colonists 200 years ago, and taken by Pugh in 1937.



He was 20 years old and a student at Marietta College in Ohio when he was recruited by the federal government to follow an 800-mile trek in the dead of winter along the trail taken by colonists to the Northwest Territory.

In 1937, the government wanted to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Northwest Ordinance by sponsoring a re-creation of the colonists journey to claim their land north of the Ohio River and west of New York.

Sixteen of the original 35 men who made the trip 50 years ago, and a few friends and relatives, retraced the same trail this summer.

enthusiasm of the people. Many people remembered our journey from 50 years ago, and they were eager to share old photographs and memories from the 1937 trip," Pugh said.

The purpose of the trip, according to Pugh, is not only to mark the 200th anniversary of the Northwest Ordinance, but also to encourage local governments to mark the Northwest Corridor with historical markers.

"The Northwest Ordinance is considered one of the most important documents in American history. The most important ones are the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, and then next is the Northwest Ordinance," Pugh added.

The Ordinance granted the colonists many freedoms that would later be guaranteed by the Bill of Rights. These rights included trial by jury and freedom of religion. In fact, the ordinance went one step further than the Constitution by outlawing slavery in the territory.

In 1937, the hikers recreated the original journey of the 48 pioneers as closely as possible, following a trail documented in the journal of Revolutionary War General, Rufus Putnam. It took the hikers seven weeks to walk the first 650 miles, following a covered wagon and staying at towns along the way. This year's journey by the 1937 veterans and some of their family members was altered only slightly.

Pugh, who organized the summer adventure, said the 1937 walkers have had reunions over the years. "My hope is that a National Corridor will be created as a result of the effort to publicize the importance of the Northwest Ordinance."

Largest Attendance In Recent Years At President's Reception

The Annual President's Reception, held on September 25th, was attended by 200 people. Dr. Eissey hosted the event and introduced new faculty and their spouses to the College Trustees, PBJC Foundation Members, Advisory Committee Members, faculty, and administrative staff.

Dr. Eissey speaks to the audience at the South Blue Ribbon Breakfast.

This was the largest group to attend the event in recent years. It has been a tradition for over 30 years.

The Reception was held in the Hospitality Management Dining Room on Central Campus with food prepared and served by students in the Hospitality Management Program.

"We appreciate the efforts of Celeste Beck, Monroe Gualtney, and students in the program," said Dr. Elisabeth Erling.

"We are very proud of the excellent service provided by the students in making the Reception special," complimented Dr. Eissey.

Among the Trustees present were Dolly Hand, Willard Findling, Dr. Bernard Kimmel, and newly-appointed member John C. Sansbury.

Blue Ribbon Breakfast For South

Dr. Eissey spoke to a large group of community leaders, business people, FAU administrators, and College faculty and staff on Tuesday, Sept. 29, at a Blue Ribbon Breakfast. The meeting was to assemble PBJC supporters for South Campus and to remind them of the importance of each "YES" vote on October 13.

Dr. Maney opened the program by speaking on the past development of South Campus and the projected future enrollment figures.

After Dr. Maney introduced the College President, Dr. Eissey warned the audience that he was about to deliver sermon number one, and many may have to hear it a second or third time before October 13. The message was to VOTE YES!

Dr. Bernard Kimmel, newest Board Member, introduces himself at the President's Reception.

PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE
PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 43 October 12, 1987

Vote Tuesday, October 13!

As faculty and staff members of Palm Beach Junior College, you may be aware of the truly wonderful things our College provides for the citizens of Palm Beach County.

I am sure that we can all take pride in the fact that for over 54 years, PBJC has been serving the people of our community by providing post-high school educational services.

On Tuesday, October 13th, we are asking for the support of our College family for the temporary, five-year, half-mill special election.

As a former student of PBJC, and as President of this institution, I would like to ask each of you to vote and to remind your friends and family to vote YES on October 13th.

The funds from this issue will be used to benefit our students and you, the staff and faculty, by providing needed classroom space, renovation of current facilities, needed building repairs, and updated equipment.

This special election is the result of a three-year effort by PBJC supporters who successfully gained approval from the state legislature to hold the election. This effort was made because representatives of the College felt certain that the students, faculty, staff and the citizens of Palm Beach County will support their community college.

At this time, it is each individual's responsibility to go beyond speaking and planning to support our College, and to actually go to the polls and take action by voting yes.

Numerous programs and planned course studies for our students may depend on your action. Support PBJC on Tuesday, VOTE YES!

United Way Campaign Underway

This year, we have a goal of raising $15,000 for our contribution to the United Way. This is an obtainable goal in that almost one half is already committed through payroll deductions set up last year.

But we still need your help to reach that goal. Last year, 138 of our 530 employees contributed. This year, we would like to have all 545 employees contribute something, even if it is only $1 per week. Even $50 per year would not hurt one of us, but just think of the good it would do for those served by the 55 agencies served by United Way.

One concern expressed over the past years has been "How do I know where my money goes?" First, let me tell you that 91% of every dollar contributed reached the agencies participating through United Way.

Secondly, but perhaps more significant, you, the employee, have the opportunity to designate the receiving agency or organization, even if it is not one of the 55 participating agencies. Just write the name of the agency or organization on your pledge card and they will receive your contribution. (It could be your church, neighborhood non-profit club, etc.)

Pledge cards will be mailed out Tuesday, October 13. Please don't put it aside. Fill it out now! Mail your completed pledge card to John Townsend at mail station #12. If you need payroll deduction forms or additional information, call Townsend at 8013.

Brain Bowl

Brain Bowl question time is here again. Palm Beach Junior College has a new Brain Bowl Coach, Dr. Sandi Richmond, since Allen Hamlin has become a Program Leader.

Sandi needs from YOU, or 60 of you, 60 questions in suitable format for use in the Brain Bowl competition. She cannot write them herself nor even see them, according to the rules of the Brain Bowl.

The guidelines and sample questions are three pages long, so a meeting is scheduled for Friday, October 16, 1:00 p.m., Conference Room C, with Sandi and our new Activities Coordinator, Scott Pospichal, to review the guidelines on question format and content area. Tell your Dean of Instruction that you are willing to participate and plan to attend this meeting.

Time is always short. Sandi needs 60 questions completed and returned to the Office of the Vice President of Academic Affairs no later than October 30, 1987.

PBJC MONDAY REPORT:

Volume IX, Number 44 October 19, 1987

Voters Reject PBJC Referendum

Official returns from the PBJC referendum show that the College was defeated by a three-to-one ratio. Of the 50,543 persons who voted in the Tuesday Election, 13,329 were in favor of the half-mill levy.

Voter turnout was low for the special election. Only 13.3 percent of the 381,125 registered voters in Palm Beach County went to the polls on Tuesday.

The defeat was a shock to supporters of the referendum. Only one week before the election, all indications from community leaders were that PBJC would win the election.

A multitude of last-minute roadblocks cropped up with the public announcement that the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Union Local 323 was working against the PBJC Issue. They, along with the Florida Trades Council, the Coalition to Save Middle Income America, the AFL-CIO and the Palm Beach County Chapter of Senior Citizens, banned together to defeat the issue.

These groups focused on the "No Tax Vote" in the community. They built upon existing concerns regarding the State Services Tax and the recent increases in county and municipal taxes. The opposing groups circulated much misinformation about the PBJC millage.

In addition, Hurricane Floyd positioned itself near South Florida during Monday, the day before the election. The impending threat of a major storm interrupted PBJC's volunteer effort to mobilize supporters to vote on Tuesday. The winds and rain may have also affected the low voter turnout.

Over 300 supporters were present Tuesday evening at the Airport Hilton to receive election returns. As the night progressed, the possibility of defeat became evident.

Dear Friends of Palm Beach Junior College:

The Board of Trustees of Palm Beach Junior College wishes to thank everyone who supported the College during the recent referendum. We recognize and appreciate the many efforts made on behalf of PBJC by community leaders, friends of the College, faculty, and staff.

The Board especially commends Dr. Edward M. Eissey, President of Palm Beach Junior College. It is through his vision and his untiring efforts during the past three years that PBJC was sustained in the campaign to improve educational opportunities for Palm Beach County residents. We are very proud of the leadership Dr. Eissey has provided as Chief Executive Officer of the College.

Dr. Philip O. Lichtblau, Chairman

Around 10 p.m., Dr. Eissey summarized the results in saying, "The real losers of this election are the students and the residents of Palm Beach County. I am sorry for our students who will not have the needed classrooms and equipment. The children and grandchildren of our residents will feel the effects of fewer educational opportunities."

In conceding the defeat, Dr. Eissey vowed to continue to search for ways to fund the immense need for new construction and renovation of classrooms as well as for new instructional equipment.

like to highlight two extraordinary, non-staff volunteers.

Louise Morgan, who has been involved with the College through the Institute of New Dimensions, (IND), contributed 64-1/2 hours of her time to the mundane mass mailing efforts.

At 80 years old, Louise truly worked "beyond the call of duty" according to Betty Woolfe. "She worked steadily for six hours a day, for about three weeks. We were happy to have her!" Woolfe said.

Right along with Louise was another IND representative, Mary Boylan. Mary worked with Louise doing the required folding, mailing, inserting tabloids, bagging and sorting of approximately 125,000 pieces of mail. Mary contributed 74 hours of her time toward millage marketing.

To these volunteers and hundreds of others, THANK YOU! Your work was noticed and was very appreciated. PBJC is fortunate to have volunteers who are willing to do more than their share, and enjoy doing it.

Information Available On Educators Liability Protection

The Personnel Office has received literature from the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges (AACJC) regarding an educators professional liability protection plan which allows coverage up to $1,000,000.

While this program is not being specifically sponsored by Palm Beach Junior College, it is possible that certain college personnel may have an interest in purchasing such liability insurance. If you are interested, the Personnel Office has the literature available for your review.

North Campus Rally A Fun Day For All

The Student Activity Committee and the Intramurals Program at PBJC North sponsored a rally for students and faculty on October 7.

The participants were treated to an outdoor picnic and an opportunity to play flag football, volleyball, tug-of-war and softball against PBJC faculty members.

Dr. Ottis Smith reported that the faculty team allowed the students a victory of 12-to-8 in the softball game, and his team placed second best of six tug-of-war teams.

The events took place at the Jack Nicklaus Athletic Field near the RCA Buildings in Palm Beach Gardens. Each semester, the North Campus faculty supports the student/staff event.

Currently, Broward, Palm Beach, Martin, Indian River, St. Lucie and Okeechobee Counties offer services through the Small Business Development Centers. The SBDC headquarters are at Florida Atlantic University in Boca Raton.

"My objective at this point is to make the small business men and women in the community aware of the resources that Palm Beach Junior College offers," said Harvey.

PBJC Guest Speaks To Glades Students

Approximately 250 students from PBJC, Pahokee Junior-Senior High School, and Glades Central High School attended a motivational lecture at the Glades Campus on Tuesday, October 20.

Dr. Israel Tribble, a representative of the Florida Endowment of Higher Education and Executive Director of the McKnight Program in Higher Education in Florida, was the speaker and guest of the College.

His motivational presentation titled, "Students: Where They Start, Not Where They End Up," encouraged students to take responsibility for their own lives.

"He basically encouraged the students not to wait for things to happen in their lives. He warned them that life wasn't easy, but people at PBJC can help them get ahead," Mary Orsenigo said of the program.

Debra McCray escorted Dr. Tribble to the Glades and later to the Central Campus for an additional meeting with counselors and faculty.

"Dr. Tribble spoke to a number of students at Glades, then talked to students in the lounge area, before coming to speak at Central. We really got a full day of good advice from him!" McCray said.

Glades First Golf Tournament A Big Smash!

The PBJC Glades Golf Tournament was heralded a big success by Mary Orsenigo, Director of the Glades Center.

"A total of $1,400 was raised for scholarships through the sale of hole sponsorships. We are very pleased that the community came out to support us!" Orsenigo said.

The pro at the Belle Glade Golf Course divided up the players by their individual skills. The balanced teams made the competition pretty close.

The first place team scored 61. Team members included Jessie Lee Stuart Porter, Buddy Frank and PBJC's Mary Fraiser-Burke.

Other PBJC golfers also faired well. Julio Rive and his team placed third with a score of 63. Bob Moss' team placed fourth, while Jim Tanner's team placed fifth. Chuck Graham's team was sixth.

Jim Tanner said everyone seemed to have a really good time and the weather was beautiful. "After the tournament, it was announced that approximately $1,400 was raised. That is great news for Glades students!" Tanner added.

Orsenigo said that with the help of the Glades Golf Course, they are planning to make this an annual tournament.

October Board Of Trustees Meeting

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees was held on Wednesday, October 28, 1987. Board members heard a report from Trustee Willard Findling regarding the Association of Community College Trustees 18th Annual Convention in Orlando.

Hamid Faquir, Director of Athletics, gave an update of the current athletic programs. Special emphasis was given to he academic support provided to each student athlete. The importance of winning in the classroom is the major goal of the academic support.

Athletic staff meet with the instructors of the athletes on a regular basis to monitor progress. Students must attend several supervised study halls each week. Tutoring is provided to those who need extra academic attention. All athletes participate on teams that compete academically. Members of the winning team receive sweatsuits as a reward for their academic achievements.

Dr. Eissey complimented the program. He said, "This reinforces the idea that school is first and all other activites come second."

"I don't think I've seen anything nicer," commented Dr. Philip Lichtblau, Board Chairman.

IMTS Program At North Praised

The Individualized Manpower Training System (IMTS) Laboratory at PBJC North was recently reviewed by the Division of Vocational, Adult and Community Education (DVACE).

In the report, the DVACE Specialist made several favvorable observations. In the comment section of the report, the over-all program, the volunteers, the personnel, the facilities, and the organization of the computerized employability skills program were noted as being major strengths in the IMTS program.

Joan Holcomb, Supervisor of the IMTS Lab at North, said that the program was selected as an exemplary program in the State of Florida. "The lab will be studied as a model. Information on how the lab functions will be sent to Washington, DC for study," Holcomb said.

The IMTS Program is designed for the adult student who has a high school diploma. Students are first given diagnostic tests. A learning program is then prepared for them. With the combined use of a variety of resources and tutoring by lab volunteers, the individual receives personalized instruction.

In addition to basic academic instruction, an employability skills program is available. The lessons provide information on job hunting, resume writing, and interviewing.

Many organizations utilize the IMTS Lab for supervisory training. After an employee is promoted, he or she may come to the lab to brush up on skills related to managing personnel, job attitude and human relations.

Volunteers are an essential part of the IMTS Lab. "Many of our volunteers have been working with the lab for several years. They are hard-working and a devoted group. We are fortunate," Holcomb said.

Great American Smokeout

Ever feel like quitting? November 19 is the day for quitters. The 11th annual nationwide Great American Smokeout, sponsored by the American Cancer Society, is Thursday, November 19.

Smoking employees and students at PBJC are encouraged to participate in this nationwide event by setting aside their habit for 24 hours. Non-smoking friends, fellow students, and co-workers are encouraged to offer support and understanding.

The cafeteria will again sell cold turkey sandwiches to help celebrate this event.

SGA is also participating in this event by setting up booths on campus to distribute survival kits to students who want to quit smoking.

If you wish to adopt-a-smoker or just wish to quit yourself, call the Student Health Services for adoption kits or more information on the Smokeout.

Five-Mile Run A Winner

Approximately 300 persons registered for the Fifth Annual Five-Mile Run that was held on Halloween, Saturday, October 31.

With the help of volunteers and many PBJC staff members, the run was described as a terrific success by George Matsoukas, Coordinator of the Run.

The participants included a mother and child running duo, a runner who was in the area from Tallahassee, and several professionals and business people from the community.

"The run is very beneficial to the College because it draws many kinds of people to the campus that might not otherwise visit PBJC," Matsoukas pointed out.

PBJC's own John Connolly of the Communications Department placed 74th of 251 runners with a time of 35.19.3.

The first woman over the finish line, Jane Millspaugh, received a weekend for two at the PGA Sheraton Resort. Her time was 30.56.5.

The overall male finisher was Patrick O'Grady who timed in at 25.38.2. He received a weekend for two at the Airport Hilton.

A total of $3,000 was raised for the PBJC Campus Beautification and Environmental Enhancement program.

Matsoukas wishes to thank all those who volunteered their efforts for the Run. Among those who were involved were the County Parks Department, PBJC's Physical Plant, and over 30 College staff members.

In addition, volunteers were provided by the Red Cross, the Palm Beach Amateur Radio Council, First American Bank, Phi Theta Kappa and Lake Worth High School.

As in the past, the Run is sponsored by First American Bank and Palm Beach Junior College.

Contributors included All Brands; Aqua-Pure Spring Water, Inc.; Dr. & Mrs. Mary Beall; Cushman Fruit Company; Lake Worth Herald; Matter & Company; and the McDonald's Corporation.

The deadline for information for the Monday Report is Wednesday, 12 noon.

South PTK Members Reach Out

Phi Theta Kappa (PTK) members at South Campus recently became involved in an Outreach Program to help students at Boca Raton High School. The students, who are currently enrolled in a drop out prevention program, are being tutored by 16 members of PTK who have volunteered one hour a week of their time.

According to PTK President Colleen Barbee, several PTK members experienced problems themselves while in high school, and through their volunteer efforts, they are trying to encourage the Boca students to turn their lives around, both personally and academically.

In February, PTK plans an Awards Banquet, and every student who participated in the program will be honored with an award.

Correction-Glades Golf Tournament Yields $4,100

On rare occasion, the Monday Report staff makes an error. The good news--the error is in favor of the Scholarship funds from the First Glades Golf Tournament.

Last week, the Monday Report stated incorrectly that $1,400 was raised, when the funds actually totaled $4,100. This means an extra $2,700 was overlooked. We apologize to the Glades family, and we are proud of their fund raising success.

Terminal Sick Leave Payment Extended

At its last meeting, the Board of Trustees amended Rule 6Hx-18-5.03, Sick Leave, to extend our terminal sick leave program as of January 1, 1988.

The two changes in sick leave payment allow budgeted full-time personnel to receive the following payments at the time of termination.

1. Those personnel with at least three years of full-time college service, but less than six years will now receive 40 percent of their unused sick leave at the time of termination. (There will be no change for personnel with six-to-nine years of college service who will continue to receive 45 percent of their unused sick leave at the time of termination.)

2. Full-time personnel, after the completion of nine years of service, will continue to receive the 50 percent terminal sick leave payment they received in the past plus 2.5 percent for each additional year of college service up to a maximum of 100 percent.

Payment for terminal sick leave is not contingent upon the reason for termination, unless an employee is discharged for cause. Therefore, terminal sick leave payments will be made both for resignations and retirements.

If further information is requested on this subject, please feel free to contact the Director of Personnel.

FACC Recognizes Senior Players

The PBJC Senior Players have been selected by the Florida Association of Community Colleges as regional winners of the Excellence in Lifelong Learning Award.

On Thursday, November 19, the Senior Players will compete against other regional winners. They will present short dramatic skits, or "skitlets," at the competition in Orlando.

The Continuing Education-sponsored group is known throughout Palm Beach County for their performances of skitlets in retirement residences. They give a major production in January of each year. The Senior Players also tape dramatizations for the blind.

The Players initially were an extension of the Institute of New Dimensions, and the group was the brainchild of the current instructor/director, Nancy Goodwin.

Besides preparing for the FACC state competition, Nancy is working with her group on the major production in January. The play, "Room Service," will be performed in the Watson B. Duncan, III Theatre, January 14-17.

For tickets to "Room Service," contact the Box Office at 8141. Meanwhile, good luck, Senior Players!

Pacesetters Making Strides Toward Expo '88

The PBJC performing group, Pacesetters, have been selected to represent the Southeastern United States at World Expo'88 in Australia.

The Pacesetters are the only collegiate group chosen from the Southeast to perform at the International Expo next summer. The students will be named good-will ambassadors from the state, and they will present the Florida flag to the Australian government during a ceremony.

The World Expo '88 will be celebrated from April to October 1988 with the theme, "Leisure in the Age of Technology."

The Pacesetters will begin performing in Brisbane, Australia on July 25, 1988. They are also planning to perform in Cairnes, New Zealand and Melbourne.

The vocal and show group will be performing for two weeks of the six-month celebration in Australia. Two of the songs that they have chosen are "Stand Up for America" and "F-L-A (Florida Sings)." Both of the songs were written by the Director, Pat Adams-Johnson, and the songs were featured in the cassette and video tape used as an audition tape.

In preparation for the trip, the students are working on several fund-raising events. A total of $75,000 will be needed to defray traveling costs for the 25-member group, the Director, and chaperones.

The first few months of the fund-raising efforts have yielded $16,500.

Money has been collected through car wash marathons and from special Pacesetter performances. Many private businesses and friends of the College have also made tax-free contributions to the Pacesetter trip.

Tuesday Luncheons A Tasty Lesson

PBJC students of the Hospitality Training, Dining Room Management, and Dietetic Programs learn through the Tuesday Luncheons, and guests enjoy the benefits of their classwork.

Each Luncheon is a laboratory setting in which students of Principles of Quantity Food Production practice concepts learned from the course. This term, an average of 129 visitors were served during Tuesday Luncheons held in the Hospitality Management Dining Room.

The course is designed to offer practical experience in the handling of tools, materials and equipment. The properties and composition of foods are also covered in the preparation of the meals.

Monroe T. Gualtney, Hospitality Management Instructor, said, "The emphasis in the Fall classes is on quantity in kitchen training for hospital and institutional style preparation and service."

Students of the Dining Room Management Course, under the direction of Senior Instructor Julio Rive, provide the service for the Luncheons. The course is outlined as a study of the basic elements of dining room service.

The Tuesday Luncheons are an ideal place for the server requirement to be filled. They are instructed in American service and buffet setup and service.

The final Tuesday Luncheon will be held on December 1. A delicious seafood buffet is planned for the last lunch. All faculty and staff are welcome to attend. The price is $3.50 for the special buffet.

Pacer Becomes USF Brahman Bull

PBJC basketball player, Willie Brown, the starting guard for the Pacers, signed a letter-of-intent on November 12 to play basketball at the University of South Florida next fall. The USF mascot is the Brahman Bull.

"This is a great start for the program," said Pacers' Coach Scott Pospichal.

"We are rebuilding our basketball program. Having our first player sign with a Division I school has really helped us in our goal," Pospichal added.

General Marine Biology

General Marine Biology, one of PBJC's most unusual and interesting courses, will be offered Spring Break of 1988, aboard the RV/Bellows or RV/Suncoaster at Long Key, Florida.

The three-hour credit course is scheduled for Winter Term, March 1-6, according to Dr. Carol Butler, who coordinates the course for the College.

The lecture/laboratory course includes the study of habitats, resident organisms, Florida marine topics, as well as marine ecosystems. The field experiences will introduce advanced scientific instrumentation aboard the Florida Institute of Oceanography's research vessels at Sea World's Marine Science Conservation Center.

In addition, students will collect marine organisms and study their relationships with Florida's seacoast.

The fee for General Marine Biology is $73.50 plus text. Transportation and lodging are furnished, but meals are an additional $55. Application deadline is December 15.

For more information, please contact Dr. Butler at 439-8132 or 585-7337 from 4-9 p.m.

FACC Recognizes Student Services

Dr. Harris McGirt will be presenting a program he helped develop called "Have One On Us" to the Exemplary Practice Award Committee of the FACC Student Development Commission.

This unique program allowed anyone with a coupon to attend two class meetings at PBJC South to see if they wanted to enroll in classes. It is an exemplary recruiting idea and works well at our South Campus.

Dr. McGirt's program is the FACC regional winner. He is in competition for the statewide award.
